SANSKRIT GRAMMAR FOR STUDENTS

A SANSKRIT GRAMMAR FOR STUDENTS

BY ARTHUR A. MACDONELL

M.A., Ph.D., LL.D. (Edin.), D.O.L. (Calcutta); late Boden Professor of Sanskrit in the University of Oxford; Hon. Fellow of Corpus Christi College; Fellow of the British Academy

THIRD EDITION

PREFACE TO THIRD EDITION

In preparing a new edition of this grammar I have found misprints requiring correction to be few and insignificant. The alterations that seemed necessary are nearly all concerned with facilitating the use of the book for students. One of these is the indication of the relevant number of chapter and paragraph on the inside top corner of each page. Since the grammar is intended to supply a complete account of Classical Sanskrit, many paragraphs may be omitted till a later stage of study. I therefore here append a list of those which are essential for absolute beginners and thus constitute a virtual primer of Classical Sanskrit.

I: 1-7, 8-12, 13. II: 16-22, 27, 30-34, 36 A. B., 37, 38, 40, 42-44, 45, 1. 2, 52-55, 65, 67. III: 70, 71, 73, 74, 77, 85, 87, 90, 1, 97, 100, 101 D (p. 63), 103, 1, 2, 109-111, 120. IV: 121-128, 131, 132 (only Pres. Par., pp. 92, 98), 135, 136, 138, 1 (only  $\sqrt{tud}$ , Par.), 141 a (only Par.), 143, 1 (only Par.), 147 (only Par.), 148 (only  $ad\bar{a}m$ ), 151 (only Par.), 154 (only Pres.), 156, 160, 1, 2, 162, 163, 167, 168, 169, 172, 175.

When the student has gone through these paragraphs he will be quite prepared to begin reading. Any new grammatical forms he now meets with he will be able to find explained in the paragraphs that have been passed over. In this way he will understand, with the aid of a vocabulary, every word in the first canto of the Story of Nala within the course of a month, and know all the grammar necessary for reading easy Sanskrit texts.

Since the appearance of the second edition of this work (1911) my Vedic Grammar for Students was published (1916). Though this new book seemed at first sight to make Appendix III superfluous in the present work (pp. 236-44), I decided to retain it as presenting Vedic grammar in an abridged form and rendering it easier for absolute beginners to master.

PREFACE TO SECOND EDITION

THE original form of the present work was my abridgement (1886) of Max Müller's Sanskrit Grammar (2nd ed., 1870). That abridgement was the outcome of what I had found by experience, both as a learner and a teacher, to be unessential in an elementary grammar. It was also partly due to my conviction that the existing Sanskrit grammars, being too much dominated by the system of Pāṇini, rendered Sanskrit unnecessarily hard to learn. The introductory sketch of the history of Sanskrit grammar prefixed to the present volume will, I think, sufficiently show that the native Indian system is incompatible with the practical methods of teaching and learning in the West.

In the first edition of this grammar, published in 1901, the earlier book was transformed into an entirely new work. Though, on the whole, considerably enlarged it showed many omissions. For I made it my guiding principle to leave out all matter that is found exclusively in Vedic literature or in the Hindu grammarians, the aim I had in view being to describe only such grammatical forms as are to be met with in the actual literature of post-Vedic Sanskrit. The student of Sanskrit grammar would thus not be burdened with matter which could never be of any practical use to him. Hence I refrained from employing, even in a paradigm, any word not to be found in the literature; though for the sake of completeness I here often gave inflected forms represented only by other words of the same type. The purpose of the book, then, was not to supply a mass of forms and rules mainly useful for answering examination questions more or less mechanically, but to provide the student with the full grammatical equipment necessary for reading any Sanskrit text with ease and exactness.

The present edition has undergone a thorough revision aided by the experience of ten more years' teaching and by the suggestions of pupils and others who have used the first edition. The improvements chiefly consist of additions, which have increased the size of the book by twenty-four pages.

An entirely new portion of the grammar are the three sections comprised in pages 159-168. The first (182) deals with nominal stem formation, giving an account of the primary and secondary suffixes, and thus furnishing the student with a more complete insight into the structure of Sanskrit words than the first edition supplied. In connexion with these suffixes a survey (183) of the rules of gender is added. The third new section (184) describes the formation of verbal compounds. The most noticeable case of expansion is otherwise to be found in the rules about the treatment of final dental n in Sandhi: these now give a complete account (36, 40) of the changes undergone by that letter. In the accidence a few new paradigms have been introduced, such as grāvan (90, 4), and additional forms have been given, as in the difficult s-aorist of dah, where (144.5) even middle forms, though not occurring in that verb, are supplied as a model for other verbs presenting similar difficulties of euphonic combination. Other improvements are intended to facilitate the use of the grammar. Thus in the list of verbs (Appendix I) abbreviations have been added to indicate the various forms which beginners have otherwise often found difficulty in identifying. Again, the Sanskrit Index has been made both fuller and more explanatory (see e.g. prākṛta). A decidedly practical improvement is the substitution of a brief synopsis of the subject-matter for an elaborate table of contents at the beginning, and the addition of a General Index at the end. All these extensions and changes will, I feel sure, be found to have considerably increased the practical value of the grammar both in matter and form.

As in the first edition, the book is transliterated throughout, excepting the list of verbs (Appendix I) and the syntactical examples at the end (180; 190-218). The system of transliteration remains the same, being that which is now most generally adopted in the West. This system includes the use of r (to be pronounced with a syllabic value, as the r in French chambre) to represent the weak grade of the syllables ar and ra.

The improvements appearing in this edition are largely due to the suggestions of former pupils or of friends. The gentlemen to whom I owe thanks for their advice are-Prof. E. J. Rapson; Dr. James Morison; Mr. M. L. Puri, B.A., of Exeter College; Mr. Horace Hart, M.A., Controller of the University Press: and especially Mr. T. E. Moir, I.C.S., of Wadham College, as well as Dr. F. W. Thomas, Librarian of the India Office. Mr. J. C. Pembrev. Hon. M.A., Oriental Reader of the University Press, has read with his usual care the proofs of this edition, which is separated by no less an interval than sixty-four years from the first Sanskrit Grammar which he (together with his father) corrected for the press, that of Prof. H. H. Wilson, in 1847. To Dr. A. B. Keith I am indebted for reading the proofs of this as well as of all the other books I have published since 1900. I must take this opportunity of thanking him not only for having read the proofs of the whole of my Vedic Grammar, but also for having passed several sheets of that work through the press for me during my absence in India between September, 1907, and April, 1908.

INTRODUCTION

BRIEF HISTORY OF SANSKRIT GRAMMAR

THE first impulse to the study of grammar in India was given by the religious motive of preserving intact the sacred Vedic texts, the efficacy of which was believed to require attention to every letter. Thus, aided by the great transparency of the Sanskrit language, the ancient Indian grammarians had by the fifth century B.C. arrived at scientific results unequalled by any other nation of antiquity. It is, for instance, their distinctive achievement to have recognized that words for the most part consist on the one hand of roots, and on the other of affixes, which, when compounded with the former, modify the radical sense in various ways.

The oldest grammar that has been preserved is Pāṇini's. It already represents a fully developed system, its author standing at the end of a long line of predecessors, of whom no fewer than sixty-four are mentioned, and the purely grammatical works of all of whom, owing to the excellence and comprehensiveness of his work, have entirely perished.

Pāṇini is considerably later than Yāska (probably about 500 B.C.), whom he mentions, and between whom and himself a good number of important grammarians intervene. On the other hand, Pāṇini is much older than his interpreter Patañjali, who probably dates from the latter hulf of the second century B.C., the two being separated by another eminent grammarian, Kātyāyana. Pāṇini himself uses the word yavanānī, which Kātyāyana explains as 'writing of the Yavanas' (i.e. Iāones or Greeks). Now it is not at all likely that the Indians should have become acquainted with Greek writing before the invasion of Alexander in 327 B.C. But the natives of the extreme north-west, of whom Pāṇini in all probability was one, would naturally have become acquainted with it soon after that date. They must, however, have grown familiar with it before a grammarian would make a rule as to how to form from Yavana, 'Greek,' a derivative form meaning 'Greek writing'. It seems therefore hardly possible to place Pāṇini earlier than about 300 B.C.

Pāṇini's grammar consists of nearly 4,000 rules divided into eight chapters. Being composed with the utmost imaginable brevity, each Sūtra or aphorism usually consists of only two or three words, and the whole work, if printed continuously in medium-sized Devanāgarī type, would not occupy more than about thirty-five pages of the present volume. And yet this grammar describes the entire Sanskrit language in all the details of its structure, with a completeness which has never been equalled clsewhere. It is at once the shortest and fullest grammar in the world.

In his endeavour to give an exhaustive survey of the bhāṣā or classical Sanskrit with a view to correct usage, Pāṇini went on to include within the scope of his grammar the language of the sacred texts, which was no longer quite intelligible. He accordingly gives hundreds of rules about the Veda, but without completeness. His account of the Vedic language, taken as a whole, thus shows many gaps, important matters being often omitted, while trifles are noticed. In this part of his work Pāṇini shows a decided incapacity to master his subject-matter, attributing to the Veda the most unbounded grammatical license, especially in interchanging or dropping inflections.

The grammar of Pāṇini is a śabdānuśāsana, or 'Trentise on Words', the fundamental principle of which is, that all nouns are derived from verbs. Starting with the simplest elements into which words can be analysed, root, affix and termination, Pāṇini shows how nominal and verbal stems are formed from roots and complete words from stems. He at the same time indicates the functions which words acquire by the addition of formative elements and by being compounded with other words. It is a peculiarity of Pāṇini's word-formation, that he recognizes derivation by suffixes only. Thus when a verbal root like bhid, 'to pierce,' is used in the nominal sense of 'piercer', he has recourse to the highly artificial expedient of assuming an imaginary suffix, for which a blank is substituted!

Yāska records that the universality of Sākaṭāyana's principle of nouns being derived from verbs was contested by Gārgya, who objected to the forced etymologies resulting from a general application of this principle. Gārgya maintained that if aśva, 'horse,' for instance, were derived from aś, 'to travel,' not only would everything that travels be called aśva, and everything be named after all its activities, but states of being (bhāva) would be antecedent to things (which are presupposed by those states).

Pāṇini makes a concession to Gārgya's objection by excluding all words the derivation of which is difficult owing to their form or meaning, as aśva, 'horse,' go, 'cow,' and purusa, 'man.' Primary nouns of this kind had been collected before Pāṇini's time in a special list, in which they were often forcibly derived from verbal roots by means of a number of special suffixes. The first of these suffixes being u, technically called un, the whole list of these formations received the name of unādi ('beginning with un'). Pāṇini refers to all such words as ready-made stems, the formation of which does not concern him.

The Uṇādi list which Pāṇini had before him survives, in a somewhat modified form, as the Uṇādi Sūtra with the commentary (dating probably from the thirteenth century A.D.) of Ujjvaladatta. In its extant shape this Sūtra contains some late words, such as dīnāra (Lat. denarius), a noun which cannot have come into use in India much before 100 A.D.

The proper object of Pāṇini's grammar being derivation, he does not deal with phonetics as such, but only incidentally as affecting word-formation, or the combination of words in a sentence. He therefore does not give general rules of phonetic change, but since his analyses, unlike those of the Uṇādi Sūtra, move within the bounds of probability and are generally correct, being in many cases confirmed by comparative philology, he actually did discover several phonetic laws. The most important of these was the interchange of vowels with their strong grades guna and widdhi (cp. 17), which Grimm called ablaut, and which comparative grammar traces to the original Indo-European language. The other great phonetic discoveries of the Indians had already been made by Pāṇini's predecessors, the authors of the original Prātiśākhyas, the phonetic treatises of the Vedic schools.

Pāṇini also treats of the accents of words in derivation and in the sentence, but with syntax in our sense he does not deal, perhaps owing to the simplicity of the sentence in Sanskrit. The general plan of Pānini's work is as follows: Book i. contains the technical terms of the grammar and its rules of interpretation; ii. deals with nouns in composition and case relations; iii. teaches how suffixes are to be attached to verbal roots; iv. and v. explain the same process with regard to nominal stems; vi. and vii. describe the accent and phonetic changes in the formation of words, while viii. treats of words in a sentence. This general plan is, however, constantly interrupted by single rules or by a series of rules, which were added by the author as a result of progressive grammatical studies, or transferred from their natural context to their present position in order to economize words.

In formulating his rules, Pāṇini makes it his aim to express them in as abstract and general a way as possible. In this he occasionally goes so far as to state a general rule for a single case; while, on the other hand, he sometimes fails to collect a number of related phenomena under a single head.

In carrying out the principle of extreme conciseness dominating his grammar, Pāṇini resorts to various devices, such as ellipse of the verb, the use of the cases in a special technical sense, and the employment of heading rules (adhikāra) which must be supplied with a number of subordinate rules that follow. By such means a whole rule can often be expressed by a single word. Thus the ablative dhātoḥ, literally 'after a root', not only means 'to a root the following suffixes are attached', but is also an adhikāra extending its influence (anuvrti) over some 540 subsequent aphorisms.

The principle of brevity is, moreover, notably applied in the invention of technical terms. Those of Pāṇini's terms which are real words, whether they describe the phenomenon, as sam-āsa, 'compound,' or express a category by an example, as dvi-gu ('two-cow'), 'numeral compound,' are probably all borrowed from predecessors. But most of his technical terms are arbitrary groups of letters resembling algebraic symbols. Only a few of these are abbreviations of actual words, as it, 'indicatory letter,' from iti, 'thus.' Most of them are the result of great deliberation, being chiefly composed of letters rarely occurring in the language. Thus the letter l was taken as a symbol of the personal endings of the verb; combined with a cerebral t it refers to a primary tense or mood, but combined with a guttural n it denotes a secondary tense or mood. Thus lat, lit, lut, let, lot, mean present, perfect, imperfect, agrist, and potential.

Pāṇini's grammar begins with the alphabet arranged on scientific principles. To several of its letters is attached an it or anubandha (indicatory letter), by means of which can be formed convenient contractions (called pratyāhāra) designating different groups of letters. The vowels are arranged thus: a i u-n, r !-k, e o-n, ai au-c. By means of the indicatory letter at the end of the group, all the simple vowels can be expressed by ak, the simple vowels together with the diphthongs by ac. As the last letter in Sanskrit is h, written ha-l, the entire alphabet is expressed by the symbol al (much as if we were to express it by az). Indicatory letters are also attached to suffixes, roots, and words in order to point to certain rules as applicable to them, thus aiding the memory as well as promoting brevity.

Pāṇini's work has two appendixes, to which it refers. One of these is the Dhātu-pāṭha, or 'List of Verbal Roots', arranged according to conjugational classes, the mode of inflexion being expressed by accents and indicatory letters. A striking fact about this collection is that of its 2,000 roots (many of which are, however, merely variants of one form) only about 800 have yet been found in Sanskrit literature, while it omits about fifty Vedic verbs. The second appendix is the Gaṇa-pāṭha, or 'List of Wordgroups'. Pāṇini gives rules applicable to the whole of a group by referring to its first word. This collection, which contains many words occurring in Vedic works only, has been less well preserved than the Dhātu-pāṭha. The Gaṇas were metrically arranged in the Gaṇa-ratna-mahodadhi, or 'Ocean of the Gems of Word-groups', a work composed by Vardhamāna in 1140 A.D.

Pāṇini's work very early acquired a canonical value, and has continued, for at least 2,000 years, to be the standard of usage and the foundation of grammatical studies in Sanskrit. On account of the frequent obscurity of a work which sacrifices every consideration to brevity, attempts soon began to be made to explain it, and, with the advance of grammatical knowledge, to correct and supplement its rules. Among the earliest attempts of this kind was the formulation, by unknown authors, of rules of interpretation (paribhāṣā), which Pāṇini was supposed to have followed in his grammar, and which are mentioned by his successor Kātyāyana. A collection of such rules was made in the eighteenth century by Nāgoji-bhaṭṭa in his Paribhāṣendu-śekhara, or 'Moon-crest of Interpretative Rules'.

Next we have the Varttikas, or 'notes' (from vrtti, 'explanation'), of Kātyāyana, on 1,245, or nearly one-third, of Pāṇini's aphorisms. That grammarian belonged to the Deccan, and probably lived in the third century B.C. When Kātyāyana's criticism shows him to differ from Pāṇini, an oversight on the part of the latter is usually to be assumed; but in estimating the extent of such oversights, one should not leave out of account the fact that Kātyāyana lived both later and in a part of India far removed from that of Pāṇini. Other grammarians made similar notes on Pāṇini both before and after Kātyāyana; subsequent to the latter's time are the numerous grammatical Kārikās or comments in metrical form.

All this critical work was collected by Patañjali in his extensive Mahābhāṣya, or 'Great Commentary', with many supplementary notes of his own. His discussions take the form of a kind of dialogue, and deal with 1,713 rules of Pāṇini. Patañjali's work probably dates, as has been said, from the latter half of the second century B.C. The Mahābhāṣya in its turn was commented upon in the seventh century by Bhartrhari in his Vākyapadāya, or 'Treatise on the Words in a Sentence', which is concerned with the philosophy of grammar, and by Kaiyaṭa probably in the thirteenth century.

About 650 A.D. was composed another commentary on Pāṇini, the Kāśikā Vṛṭṭi, or 'Benares Commentary', the first five looks being the work of Jayāditya, the last three of Vāmana. Based on a deteriorated text of Pāṇini, it contains some errors, but has the merit of conciseness and lucidity. Though much shorter than the Mahābhāṣya, it is particularly valuable as the oldest commentary on Pāṇini that explains every Sūtra. The examples that it gives in illustration are, as a rule, derived from older interpreters. Such borrowing was a usual practice; even Paṭāṇili speaks of stock examples as mūrdhābhiṣikta, or 'consecrated' (lit. 'sprinkled on the head').

In the fifteenth century Ramacandra endeavoured in his Prakriyā-kaumudī, or 'Moonlight of Method', to make l'anini's grammar more intelligible by rearranging its matter in a more practical way. The Siddhānta-kaumudī, or 'Moonlight of Settled Conclusions', in which Bhaṭṭoji in the seventeenth century disposed Pāṇini's Sūtras in a more natural order, had a similar aim. An abridgement of this work, entitled Laghu-(siddhānta-) kaumudī, or 'Short Moonlight (of Settled Conclusions)', by Varadarāja, is commonly employed as a useful introduction to the native system of grammar. A belief in the infallibility of Pāṇini, which still prevails among the Pandits, has often led the abovenamed interpreters, from Patañjali onwards, to give forced explanations of Panini's rules.

Other later grammarians, not belonging to the school of Pānini, are on the whole of little importance. While adducing hardly any new material, they are much less complete than Panini, since they omit whole sections, such as rules about Vedic forms and the accent. Introducing no new points of view, they aim solely at inventing technical devices, or at presenting their subject in a more lucid and popular form. Among these non-Paninian grammarians may be mentioned the names of Candra 1, who flourished about,650 A. n.3; the pseudo-Sākatāyana, who was posterior to the Kāśikā Vrtti; and the most important of them, Hemacandra (twelfth century). The Kātantra by Sarva-varman (of uncertain date), whose terminology has striking affinities with older works, especially the Pratisakhvas, seems to have been the most influential of these later grammars. It served as a model for the standard Pali grammar of Kaccavana, and the native grammars of the Dravidians and Tibetans. Vopadeva's Mugdha-bodha, or 'Enlightenment of the Ignorant', a very technical work dating from the thirteenth century, has been, down to the present day, the Sanskrit grammar chiefly used in Bengal. Lastly, we have the Sarasvatī Sūtra, or 'Aphorisms of the Barasvatī Grammar', by an unknown author, a work distinguished by lucidity as well as conciseness.

There are, besides, a few works dealing with special departments of the subject, which form contributions of some importance to our knowledge of Sauskrit grammar. The Phit Sūtra of

Santanava, composed later than the Mahabhasya, but at a time when there was still a living knowledge of the ancient accent, gives rules for the accentuation of nouns, not according to the analytical method of Panini, but with reference to the finished word. As Panini does not determine the gender of individual words, though he treats of feminine suffixes and does not ignore differences of gender in general, some value attaches to works dealing with the subject as a whole, especially to Hemacandra's Linganusasana, or 'Treatise on Gender'.

The first Sanskrit grammar ever written by a European was composed by the German missionary Heinrich Roth, a native of Augsburg, who died at Agra in 1668, as Superior of the Jesuit College in that city. This work was never published, but the manuscript is still preserved at Rome. There is, however, in Kircher's China Illustrata (Amsterdam, 1667), pp. 162-63, a contribution by Roth, which contains an account of the Sanskrit alphabet with five tables in Devanagari characters (undoubtedly the earliest specimens of that script to be found in any book printed in Europe) 1.

The first printed European Sanskrit grammar was that of Paulinus a Sancto Bartholomaeo, written in Latin and published at Rome in 1790. This work was based partly on the MS. material left by a German Jesuit missionary named Hanxleden, who died in 1732. The first scientific grammar aiming at completeness was that of Colebrooke, published in 1805. It was followed by that of Carey in 1806. The former work was based on Pāṇini, the latter on Vopadeva. The earliest Sanskrit grammar written on European principles, and therefore of most influence on the study of Sanskrit at the beginning of the last century, was that of Wilkins (1808). The most notable among his successors have been Bopp, Benfey, and Whitney. Bopp's grammar was important owing no less to its lucidity than to its philological method. Benfey was the first to combine with the traditional material of Pāṇini a treatment of the peculiarities of the Vedic and the Epic dialects. He also largely used the aid of comparative philology for the explanation of Sanskrit forms. The American scholar Whitney was the first to attempt an historical grammar of Sanskrit by treating the Vedic language more fully, and explaining from it the development of classical Sanskrit. The first grammar treating Sanskrit entirely from the comparative point of view is the excellent work of Prof. J. Wackernagel, of which, however, only the first volume, dealing with phonology (1896), and the first part of the second volume (1905) treating of compounds, have yet appeared.

The best known of the Sanskrit grammars used in this country during the latter half of the nineteenth century are those of Monier-Williams and Max Müller. Both of these contain much matter derived from the native system that is of no practical utility, but rather an impediment, to the student of literary Sanskrit. All such matter has been eliminated in the present work, not from any prejudice against the Indian grammarians, but solely with the intention of facilitating the study of the subject by supplying only such grammatical data of the actual language as have been noted by scholars down to the present time. Vedic forms have also been excluded, but in order to furnish English and Indian students with the minimum material necessary for beginning to read works written in the older language, a brief outline of Vedic Grammar is given in Appendix III. My recently published Vedic Grammar being too elaborate for elementary students, I hope to bring out, as a parallel to the present work, a simplified Vedic Grammar, including syntax, which will afford beginners the same help in the study of Vedic literature as this grammar does in that of Sanskrit.

Though the accent is never marked in classical Sanskrit, I have, owing to its philological importance, indicated it here in transliterated words as far as it can be ascertained from Vedic texts. A short account of the Vedic accent itself will be found in Appendix III.

CHAPTER I

THE ALPHABET

- I. Sanskrit (from sam-skrta, 'elaborated') is that later phase of the literary language of ancient India which is described in the grammar of Pāṇini. In phonology it is practically identical with the earlier Vedic language. In accidence it has become different from the dialect of the Vedas by a process, not of growth, but of decay; a large number of older forms, including the whole subjunctive mood and all the many infinitives save one, having entirely disappeared. The chief modifications are in the vocabulary, which, while it has lost much of its old material, has been greatly extended by the accession of new words and new meanings. The difference, on the whole, between the Vedic and the Sanskrit language may be taken to be much about the same as that between Homeric and Attic Greek.
- 2. From the Vedic language are descended the popular dialects called Prākrit ('derived from the fundament,' i.e. from Sanskrit, thence 'vulgar'). The oldest extant forms of these are preserved in King Aśoka's rock inscriptions of the third century B. c., one of them, under the name of Pāli, becoming the sacred literary language of the Southern Buddhists. From the ancient Prākrits, preserved in inscriptions, in entire literary works, and in parts of Sanskrit plays, are descended most of the dialects of modern India, Panjābī, Sindhī, Gujarātī, Marāthī, Hindī (which, with an admixture of Arabic and Persian, is called Urdű or Hindűstäni Bihári, and Bengäli. The Dravidian dialects of Southern India Telugu, Tamil, Canarese, Malayalam, though non-Aryan, are full of Sanskrit words, and their literatures are dominated by Sanskrit models.

- 3. A form of Semitic writing was introduced into the north west of India by way of Mesopotamia, probably about 700 B.c The earliest Indian adaptation of this script, known from coins and inscriptions of the third century B.C., is called Brāhmī or writing of Brahma.' Though written from left to right it bears clear traces of having once been written from right to left. From the helium are descended all the later Indian scripts. The most important of these is the Nagarī ('urban writing,' or perhaps writing of the Nagara Brahmins' of Gujarat) or Deva-nagari ( day writing of the gods,' a term of late but obscure origin), which assumed its characteristic shape about the middle of the child contary A.D. Sanskrit is most commonly written in Deva-Northern India, but other modern Indian characters, Bengair or Oriya, are also employed in their respective while in the non-Aryan south the Dravidian scripts are regularly used.
- The Devenigari alphabet consists of forty-eight letters, the process and thirty-five consonants (including the pure least and thirty-five consonants (including the pure least and the spirant called Visarga). These arrangements of the sphabet in the table facing p. 1 is that adopted by the grammerians, and being thoroughly scientific, has been scholars as the lexicographical order least distinguises.

Views cause beginners much difficulty in finding note on their alphabetical order will ,

- 5. The vowels are written differently according as they are tial or follow a consonant. They are—
  - (a) Simple vowels:

(b) Diphthongs:

bably be useful. The unchangeable Anusvāra (before a semivowel, ilant, or § h: cp. 42 B I) has precedence of every other consonant: ce संबर samvara, संग्रंथ samsaya precede सक sa-ka. The mgeable Anusvāra (10; 42 B 2) occupies the place of the nasal into ich it might be changed. Thus संग sam-ga would be found beside sanga. Similarly the unchangeable Visarga (before a hard tural or labial) has precedence of every other consonant. Thus range antahkarana and अन्तः पुर antahpura follow अन्त anta precede अन्तक anta-ka. But the changeable Visarga (before ibilant) occupies the place of the sibilant into which it might be nged. Thus अन्तः antahstha would appear where sastha might be written.

There is no sign for medial (or final) &, as this vowel is considered be inherent in every consonant;—e.g. •• ka.

Medial or final I is written before the consonant after which it is nounced;—e.g. The ki. Originally both I and I were written as res to the left and the right respectively above the consonant; but the sake of clear distinction were later prolonged with a vertical mward stroke, the one on the left, the other on the right.

Though based, in nearly all cases, on at and au respectively, e and o at present, and have been since at least 300 B.C., pronounced like simple long vowels ē and ō in most European languages.

Though etymologically representating at and au, at and au are at tent, and have been since at least 300 B.C., pronounced as at and au. The medial forms of the vowels are in combination with consonants;—

क् k, written as follows: क ka, का kā, कि ki, की kī, कु ku,

6. The following table contains a complete classification (known to Pāṇini) of all the sounds of the Devanāgarī alphabet according to the organs of speech employed in their articulation.

	Hard (tenues).	Hard aspirates.	Soft (media).	Boft aspirates	(Soft) nasals,	(Soft) semi- vowels.	Hard spirants.	Vowels Short, Long. Dipt

- <sup>1</sup> The palatals, being largely derived from original gutturals under the influence of palatal vowels, were transliterated by Max Müller with italicized gutturals.
- <sup>2</sup> This term is a translation of the old native Sanskrit word murdhanya, 'produced in the head' (murdhan), i.e. on the roof or highest point of the mouth, which is nearest the upper part of the head. This class of sounds has also often been called linguals (since Bopp). They are as a rule derived from original dentals under the influence of a neighbouring cerebral s or r sound.
- <sup>5</sup> Th is not a semivowel, but the soft breathing corresponding to the guttural vowel W a, which, unlike the other simple vowels, has no semivowel of its own. It is identical with the second half of the soft aspirates g-h, &c.
- * \hat{h} (Visarga) the hard breathing, corresponding to the second half of the hard aspirates k-h, &c., is regularly used at the end of a word is pause for s or r, and before hard gutturals and labials. In the latter case modifications of it called Jihvāmūlīya ('formed at the root of the tongue'), a guttural spirant (=Germ. ch), and Upadhmānīya ('onbreathing'), the bilabial spirant f, were formerly employed, but have become obsolete. They were both written \times.
  - * It is important to note that in the above table only the letters in

- 7. Anusvāra ('after-sound'), the unmodified nasal following a vowel and differing from the nasals given in column 5, is written with a dot above the letter which it follows;—e.g. in kam. Before I it is sometimes written v;—e.g. in kam. Its proper place was originally before the sibilants and I h, whence its use extended. From Anusvāra is sometimes distinguished Anunāsika ('accompanied by a nasal'), the nasalized vowel.
- 8. In writing the Devanagari alphabet, the distinctive portion of each letter is written first, then the perpendicular, and lastly the horizontal line 1;—e.g. c, d, d ta.
- 9. Consonants to be pronounced without any vowel after them, are marked below with a stroke slanting from left to right, called Virāma ('stop'). Thus ak must be written 34.

The only marks of punctuation are the sign | at the end of a half-verse or sentence, and the sign | at the end of a verse or paragraph.

The elision of \( a\) at the beginning of a word is marked in European editions with the sign \( \) called Avagraha ('separation');—e.g. \( \) A\( \) U te 'pi for \( \) A\( \) U te api.

An abbreviation is indicated by the sign o; thus गतम् gatam, ेतन (ga)-tena.

io. When the five masals are followed by consonants of their own class within a word, they are often, to save trouble, incorrectly replaced by the sign for Anusvāra:—e.g. श्रंकित aṃkita for खङ्कित aṅkita; कंपित kaṃpita for कम्पित kaṃpita. In the same way final म m at the end of a sentence is often wrongly written with Anusvāra; thus अहं ahaṃ for अहम् aham. In both cases the pronunciation remains unaffected by the substitution.

columns 1, 2, and 7 are hard (surd, voiceless), while all the rest are soft (sonant, voiced).

- II. If a consonant is followed immediately by one or more consonants they are all written in a group;—e.g. we atka; wartsnya. The general principle followed in the formation of these conjunct consonants, is to drop the perpendicular and horizontal lines except in the last letter. Most of these combinations, with the exception of those transliterated with thick type in the subjoined list, may be recognized without difficulty.
- 12. The following are the most noticeable modifications of simple consonants when written in conjunction with others:—
  - The component parts are indistinguishable in ল or ল jua= ল + ল; and in ল or ল kṣa=ল+ ল.
  - 2. A horizontal line is sometimes substituted for the distinctive portion of  $\pi$  t and for the loop of  $\pi$  k:—e.g.  $\pi$  tta =  $\pi$  +  $\pi$ :  $\pi$  kta =  $\pi$ + $\pi$ .
  - 3. At s is often written A when followed by a consonant or by the vowels u or ;—e.g. A sca, A su, A sī.
  - 4. Tr following a consonant is written with a short oblique stroke from right to left at the foot of the letter;—e.g. Trans. Z dra, Z stra, Z ntrya.
    - र r preceding a consonant or the vowel ऋ r is written with placed at the top of the letter before which it is to be sounded;—e.g. असे arka, वर्ष varsma; निद्धितः nirrtili. This sign for र is placed to the right of any other marks at the top of the same letter;—e.g. असे इ arkendu.

14. The numerical figures in Sanskrit are-

9	ą	3	8	4	Ę	O	=	e	0
r	2	à	4	5	6	7	8	9	0

These figures were borrowed from the Indians by the Arabs, who introduced them into Europe.

Pronunciation.

- 15. The following rules should be noted:-
- L. The vowels are pronounced as in Italian. The short wa, however, has rather the sound of the so-called neutral vowel in English, like the u in 'but.' It had this sound (in Sanskrit serryta, 'closed') at least as early as 300 B.C.
  - a. The expiration of the consonants should be heard distinctly.

    The weak ha 'ink-horn'; W=t-h in 'pot-house';

    H=d-h in 'loghouse'; W=d-h in 'hobbouse';

    H=b-h in 'Hobbouse.'
  - The guitant w h has the second of ng in 'king.'
  - The paintals We and Wi have the sound of ch in 'church,'

- 5. The cerebrals are pronounced similarly to the so-called dentals t, d, n in English, the tongue being, however, turned rather further back against the roof of the mouth.
- 6. The dentals in Sanskrit are at the present day pronounced as inter-dentals, being produced by bringing the tip of the tongue against the very edge of the front teeth. In the days of the ancient Indian phoneticians they were pronounced as post-dentals, being produced at the back of the upper front teeth.
- 7. The dental A s sounds like s in 'sin,' the cerebral A s like sh in 'shun'; while the palatal A s is produced midway between the two, being the sibilant pronounced in the same place as the spirant in the German 'ich.'
- 8. The Visarga, being a final hard breathing, is in India generally pronounced as a hard h, followed by a short echo of the preceding vowel.
- 9. The Anusvāra, being a pure nasal unmodified by any stop, is sounded like n in the French 'bon.'
- io. Since about the beginning of our era Sanskrit has been pronounced with a stress accent (instead of the earlier musical accent) much in the same way as Latin. Thus the stress is laid on a long penultimate (Kālidása), on the antepenultimate when followed by a short syllable (Himálaya), and on the fourth from the end when two short syllables follow (kárayati).

CHAPTER II

RULES OF SANDHI OR EUPHONIC COMBINATION OF LETTERS

16. In Sanskrit every sentence is treated as one unbroken chain of syllables. The coalescence of final and initial letters is called Sandhi ('putting together'). The rules of Sandhi are basedchiefly on the avoidance of hiatus and on assimilation.

The absence of Sandhi is in many cases sufficient to mark the stops which in other languages have to be marked by punctuation.

Though both are based on the same phonetic principles, it is essential, in order to avoid confusion, to distinguish external Bandhi, which determines the changes of final and initial letters of words, from internal Bandhi, which applies to the final letters of verbal roots and nominal stems when followed by certain suffixes or terminations.

a. The rules of external Sandhi apply, with few exceptions (which are survivals of an earlier stage of external Sandhi), to words forming compounds, and to the final letters of nominal stems before the Pada or middle case-endings and bhyām, that bhis, and bhyas, su (71), or before secondary (182, 2) suffixes beginning with any consonant except uy.

A. External Sandhi. Classification of Vowels.

17. Vowels are divided into-

A. 1. Simple vowels: Wa, Wi & i, Li, Li, Su, Sū; Wr, Rī; Wl.

2. Guna vowels: Wa; Ue; Wo; War; We al.

3- Vṛddbi vowels: आह: ऐक्षं; औक्षा; आर् बार्

- a. Guṇa ('secondary form') is the strengthening of the simple vowels by a preceding wa (which leaves wa itself unchanged); Vṛddhi ('increase') is the further strengthening of Guṇa vowels by means of another wa a 1.
- B. I. Vowels which are liable to be changed into semivowels: \(\vec{\text{i}}\); \(\vec{\text{v}}\) u, \(\vec{\text{v}}\) \(\vec{\text{v}}\); \(\vec{\text{v}}\) u, \(\vec{\text{v}}\) \(\vec{\text{v}}\); \(\vec{\text{v}}\) u, \(\vec{\text{v}}\) \(\vec{\text{v}}\); \(\vec{\text{v}}\) i or \(\vec{\text{v}}\) i): \(\vec{liquid}\) vowels.
  - 2. Those which are not: \ a, \ \ \ \ \ \ \ \ \ \.

Combination of Final and Initial Vowels.

18. If the same simple vowel (short or long) occurs at the end and beginning of words, the result is a long vowel;—e.g. सा अपि देवते sā api īkṣate becomes सापीचते sāpīkṣate; बिंतु उदेति kiṃtu udeti becomes बिंतुदेति kiṃtūdeti; कर्तृ अध्य kartṛ rju becomes वर्तुज् 'kartṛ'ju.

19. Wa and W &-

- a. coalesce with a following simple liquid vowel to Guṇa;—e.g. तव रुद्ध: tava indrah=तवेद्ध: tavendrah; सा उत्का sā uktvā = सीत्का soktvā; सा ऋखिः sā ṛddhiḥ = सर्विः sarddhih.
- b. coalesce with Guna vowels to Vrddhi;—e.g. तव एवं tava eva = तवैव tavaiva; सा श्रीषधिः sā oṣadhiḥ = सीषधिः sauṣadhiḥ.
- c. are absorbed by Viddhi vowels;—e.g. सा श्रीत्सुक्ववती sā autsukyavatī=सीत्सुक्ववती sautsukyavatī.

- 20. A simple liquid vowel followed by any other vowel or by a diphthong is changed into its semivowel;—e.g. द्धि सन dadh i atra = दधन dadhy atra; कर्न उत kartr uta = कर्नत kartr uta; मधु रव madhu iva = मध्यिन madhv iva; नदी अर्थम् nadī artham = नवर्थम् nadyartham.
  - 21. The Guna vowels U e and A o-
  - a. remain unchanged before च a, which is elided: ते सपि te api=तेऽपि te 'pi; सो सपि so api=सोऽपि so 'pi.
  - b. become wa (through अय ay and अव av, which drop the semivowel) before every other vowel (or diphthong): सर्वे इंड sakhe iha=सर्व इंड sakha iha; प्रभो एडि prabho ehi= प्रभ एडि prabha ehi.
- 22. The Vriddhi vowels ऐ ai and श्री au respectively become श्र ā (through श्राय इंप्र) and श्राव इंप्र (the semivowel not being dropped in this case) before every vowel (or diphthong): श्रिय श्रयं áriyai arthah=श्रिया श्रयं: áriyā arthah; ती इति tau iti= वावित tāv iti.
- a. The (secondary) histus occasioned by the dropping of z y and z v in the above three cases (21 b and 22) remains.

Irregular Vowel Sandhi.

- 28. Vindshi instead of Guna results from the contraction of a proposition ending in u a or आ ā with a verb beginning कार्क प १५-०६. उप स्वति upa reati=उपार्वति upārsati;
- the proposition I pre with the perfect participle passive Sic
- with an initial vowel;—e.g. w sord a seed, 'he wested' (from sq ud, 'wet').

Absence of Vowel Sandhi.

- 24. Interjectional particles consisting of or ending in vowels, such as आ ā, इ i, उ u, ह he, आहो aho, are not liable to Sandhi: इ रह i indra, 'O Indra'; आ एवम् ā evam, 'is it so indeed?' अहो अपेहि aho apehi, 'Oh, go away.'
- 25. The vowels  $\{\bar{\mathbf{t}}, \bar{\mathbf{s}}, \bar{\mathbf{u}}, \bar{\mathbf{v}}, \mathbf{e}, \text{ when dual terminations, nominal or verbal, remain unchanged before vowels (<math>\bar{\mathbf{u}}$  a not being elided after this dual  $\bar{\mathbf{u}}$  e); they are called Pragrhya ('separate'). The final of  $\bar{\mathbf{u}}$  amī, a nom. plural (of the pronoun  $\bar{\mathbf{u}}$  asau, 112), is treated in the same way.
- E.g. वाची इसी kavī imau, 'these two poets'; साधू इसी sādhū imau, 'these two merchants'; विद्ये इसे vidye ime, 'these two sciences'; याचेते अर्थम् yācete artham, 'they two ask for money'; असी अश्वा: amī aśvāḥ, 'those horses.'
- 26. In the Epics, the law-books, and other works not strictly conforming to the classical standard, vowel Sandhi is seldom applied between the first and second line (Pāda) of a hemistich.

Combination of Final and Initial Consonants.

27. The rules of Sandhi are only applicable after the final consonant of a word has been reduced to one of the eight allowable (actually occurring) consonants at the end of a word in pausā, viz.:

The thirty-four consonants given in the table (6) are reduced to these eight, as follows:

A final must be hard and unaspirated, the palatals (including 呵 ś) and 夏 h are replaced by 頁 k or 之 t (河 ň by 憂 h), 嗄 s by 廴 t, 禹 s and ్ r by Visarga, while 硕 n, 짙 y, 禹 l, and 즉 v do not occur. Thus the second, third, and fourth columns, as well as the second line (the palatals), disappear entirely, leaving only four tenues in the first, three nasals in the fifth, and Visarga alone in the sixth and seventh.

28. No word may end in more than one consonant, except when Tr precedes a final क् k, द t, त t, प p, which is radical (or substituted for a radical) and not a suffix. In the case of all other combinations the final letter or letters must be dropped till only one, in the form allowable as a final, remains. Thus अवस्त bhavant-s becomes अवन् bhavan, 'being'; अविभित्ते abibhar-t= अविभ: abibhah, 'he carried' (त t is a suffix; र r must become Visarga); but अर्क् प्रेष, 'strength' (क k substituted for radical अ j); असार्ट amart, 'he wiped,' from मुज mrj (ट t substituted for radical अ j).

Classification of Consonants.

29. Place or organ of articulation.

- The throat, the palate, the roof of the month, the teeth, the lips, and the nose are called the places or organs of articulation.
- 2. By contact between the tongue and the four places—throat, palate, roof, teeth—the guttural, palatal, cerebral, and dental consonants are formed. Labial consonants are formed by contact between the lips.
- 3. In forming the nasals of the five classes, the breath partially passes through the nose while the tongue or the lips are in the position for articulating the corresponding tenuis. The real Anusvāra is formed in the nose only, while the tongue is in the position for forming the particular vowel which the Anusvāra accompanies.

- 4. The semivowels ☑ y, ጚ r, ເ l, ব v are palatal, cerebral, dental, and labial respectively. They are described by the old Indian grammarians as produced by partial or imperfect contact of the tongue with the organ of articulation. ব l often interchanges with or is derived from ጚ r.
- 5. The three sibilants are hard spirants produced by partial contact of the tongue with the palate, roof, and teeth respectively. Sanskrit has not preserved any of the corresponding soft sibilants (English z, French j).
- 6. § h and : h are respectively soft and hard spirants produced without any contact, and articulated in the position of the vowel which precedes or follows: § h, corresponding to the second half of the soft aspirates g-h, j-h, d-h, b-h, from which it is in fact derived, occurs only before soft letters. Visarga, corresponding to the second half of the hard aspirates (k-h, &c.), occurs only after vowels and before certain hard consonants. In India Visarga is usually articulated as a hard h, followed by a very short echo of the preceding vowel;—e.g. জ: kah=kah<sup>n</sup>, m[a: kavih=kavih<sup>i</sup>;

30. Quality of consonants.

Consonants are-

- 1. either hard (surd, voiceless): columns 1. 2, 7 in the table, p. 4;
- or soft (souant, voiced): all the rest (columns 3, 4, 5, 6) and Anusvāra (besides all the vowels and diphthongs).
- 2. either aspirated: columns 2, 4, 7, besides \( \) h (in 6); or unaspirated: all the rest.

Hence the change of  $\mathbf{a}$  c to  $\mathbf{a}$  k is a change of place (palatal to guttural), and that of  $\mathbf{a}$  c to  $\mathbf{a}$  is a change of quality (hard to soft); while the change of  $\mathbf{a}$  c to  $\mathbf{a}$  g (hard palatal to soft guttural), or of  $\overline{\mathbf{q}}$  t to  $\overline{\mathbf{s}}$  j (hard dental to soft palatal) is one of both place and quality.

31. It is essential to remember that consonant Sandhi cannot be applied till finals have been reduced to one of the eight allowable letters (27). The latter are then modified without reference to their etymological value (except partially in the case of Visarga). Only six of these finals occur at all frequently, viz.  $\mathbf{q}$  k,  $\mathbf{d}$  t,  $\mathbf{q}$  n,  $\mathbf{q}$  p,  $\mathbf{q}$  m, and Visarga. The changes which final consonants undergo are most conveniently treated with reference to (I) their quality, (II) their place or organ.

I. Changes of Quality.

32. Final consonants must be soft before soft initials, and hard before hard initials.

a. This rule affects only the five final hard consonants (費 k, 足 t, 凡 t, 凡 p, and : h), the nasals (6; 36) not being liable to changes of quality (but two of them, 凡 n, 和 m, are liable to changes of place, like the two hard sounds 孔 t and Visarga: 37).

Hence final कृ k, द t, त t, प p before sonants become ग g, द d, द d, व b respectively;—e.g. सम्यक् उक्तम् = सम्यगुक्तम् samyag uktam, 'well said'; दिक् गजः = दिगगजः dig-gajab, 'world-elephant.'— परिवाद अध्यम् = परिवादयम् parivrād ayam, 'he (is) a mendicant'; परिवाद गख्दति = परिवाद ख्रिति = परिवाद ख्रिति parivrād gacchati, 'the mendicant goes.'—सरित अप = सरिद्य sarid atra, 'the river here'; सहत् अगुः=मह्ख्युः mahad-dhanub, 'a large bow.'—कुम् अप = क्युवन kakub atra, 'a region here'; अप वः = क्युवन kakub atra, 'a region here'; अप वः = क्युवन kakub atra, 'a region

33- हा. द्रं हा, ए p, when followed by initial न n or स m, many, and in practice almost invariably do, become the corresponding manuals कृ h, स्कृत्म, स m;—e.g. दिन् गागः = दियागः or

दिङ्गागः dig-nāgalı or din-nāgalı, 'world-elephant'; जगत् गायः = जगन्नायः or जगन्नायः jagad-nāthalı or jagan-nāthalı, 'lord of the world'; षट् मासः = ष्यमासः ṣaṇ-māsalı, 'period of six months'; प्राक् मुखः = प्राक्ताः prān-mukhalı, 'facing the east.'

- 34. Final त् t before स् 1 becomes स् 1 (through द् d) ;—e.g. तत् सब्धम् = तक्क्यम् tal labdham, 'that is taken.'
- 35. Since the nasals have no corresponding hard letters, they remain unchanged in quality before hard letters; but in several cases a sibilant (after ¶ n) or cognate hard letter (after ¶ n or ¶ n) is inserted between the two. An original palatal ¶ n or cerebral ¶ n never occurs as a final letter (27). The guttural ¶ n, which is rare as a final, remains unchanged in that position, but ¶ k may be inserted after it before the three sibilants;—e.g. ¶ n prān sete or ¶ n prān sete, 'he lies eastward.' Final ¶ m is liable to change before all consonants (42). Final dental ¶ n remains unchanged before most letters, but is modified before all palatals and cerebrals (except ¶ s), before the hard dentals ℚ t and ¶ th, and before the semivowel ¶ l. Its treatment requires a somewhat detailed statement.
  - 36. A. The dental nasal ₹ n remains unchanged—
  - i. before vowels (cp. 52);—e.g. বাণ্ ওবাৰ tan uvaca, he spoke to them.'
  - 2. before all gutturals, क् k, ख् kh, गृष्ठ, ख gh, as well as हू h;— e.g. बुडिमान को पि buddhimān ko 'pi, 'a certain wise man'; तान हला tān hatvā, 'having slain them.'
  - 3. before all the labials, प् p, फ् ph, ब् b, भ bh, म् m;—e.g. एतान् पाशान् etān pāśān, 'these bonds'; बान्धवान् सम bāndhavān mama, 'my relatives.'
  - 4. before the soft dentals दू d, घू dh, न् n ;—e.g. मत्यान् धत्त matsyān dhatta, 'put the fish'; राजपुचान् नयति rājaputri nayati, 'he leads the princes.'

- 5. before the semivowels य y, र r, व v;—e.g. हंसान रचा hamsān raksati, 'he protects the geese.'
- before the cerebral u s and the dental u s, but before the latter a transitional u t may be inserted;—e. g. arg u; tan sat, 'those six'; arg us tan sahate or arguer tan sahate, 'he endures them.'

B. The dental nasal 7 n is changed-

- L before the hard palatal \( \) c and \( \operatorname{\op
- * before the soft palatals of j, H jh, and the palatal sibilant i, to palatal of a (40).
- Define the seft cerebrals ₹ d and ₹ dh to the cerebral ₹ (41).
- America in the form of ";—e.g. महान् जास: mahān is blanking justified, but in Sanskrit its use has been a second of all cases of final I n before hard palatals,

II. Changes of Place.

- 37. The only four final consonants liable to change of place are the dental at and an, the labial an, and Visarga.
- a. The dentals become palatal and cerebral before palatals and cerebrals respectively.
- b. Visarga and, to a less extent,  $\mathbf{H}$  m adapt themselves to the organ of the following consonant.

1. Final त t.

- 38. Final त t before palatals (च c, क ch, ज j, स jh, म s) is changed to a palatal (च c or ज j);—e.g. तत च = तश्च tac ca, 'and that'; तत क्विनित्त = तक्किनित्त tac chinatti, 'he cuts that'; तत् आयते = तक्कायते taj jāyate, 'that is born'; तत् मृणोति = (तच्मृणोति tac sinnoti, but in practice) तक्कृणोति tac chinoti', 'he hears that.'
- 39. Final त t hefore ट् t, ट् th, ज् d, ड dh (but not before ज् s) is changed to a cerebral (ज् d or ड dh);—e.g. एतत् उझरः = एतहुझरः etat thakkurah, 'the idol of him'; तत् उयते = तजुयते tad dayate, 'it flies'; तत् डीकते = तजुीकते tad dhaukate, 'it approaches.'

2. Final ¶n.

40. Final न n before ज j, झ jh, and ज s' becomes ज ñ;—
e. g. तान जयति = ताजयति tān jayati, 'he conquers them'; तान शार्द्रजान = ताञ्चार्द्रजान tān s'ārdūlān or ताञ्छार्द्रजान tān chārdūlān 1, 'those tigers.'

41. Final न before इ ते, इ dh 1 (but not न s) is changed to आ n;—e.g. महान् समर:—महापडमर: mahān damaraḥ, 'a great uproar.'

3. Final 平 m.

- 42. A. Final म m remains unchanged before vowels;—e.g. विम् वर्ष = विमन kim atra, 'what (is) here?'
  - B. Final # m is changed to Anusvara before consonants:
- i. necessarily before semivowels, sibilants, and ह h;—e.g. तम् वेद = तं वेद tam veda, 'I know him'; कर्णम् रोदिति = कर्णं रोदिति karmam roditi, 'he cries piteously'; मोचम् सेवत = सोचं सेवत mokṣam seveta, 'one should devote oneself to salvation'; मधुरम् इसति = मधुरं इसति madhuram hasati, 'he handa sweetly.'
- a. optionally before mutes and the nasals  $\eta$  n, H m<sup>2</sup> (6, cols. 1-5), where it may become the class nasal<sup>3</sup> (a change which is made in European editions);—e.g. GaH acig = GaH acig =
  - . This alternative Sandhi of final H m is identical with that was the normal Sandhi of the Vedic language.

On the transment of I m before the hard cerebrals Z t, Z th, and I have so A 6 and B 1.

of final न n before the soft palatals ज, मुं jh (40), the soft cerebrals ज d and d dh (41), and the dental न n; and with that of final त t before न n (33); thus e.g. in कान्तान न kāntān na the first word may represent the acc. pl. masc. नान्तान kāntān (36 A 4), the abl. sing. masc. कान्तान kāntāt (33), or the acc. sing. fem. कान्ताम kāntām (42 B 2).

4. Final Visarga.

- 43. Visarga is the spirant to which the hard \( \mathbb{T} \) s and the corresponding soft \( \mathbb{T} \) r are reduced in pausā. If followed by a hard letter—
- i. a palatal, cerebral, or dental (च c, छ ch; ट्t, ट्th; त्t, घ्th), it is changed to the sibilant (श्र्ड, घ्ड़, स्ड) of the class to which the following letter belongs;—e.g. पूर्णः चक्= पूर्णसक्दः pūrņas candralı, 'the full moon'; नवाः तीरम् = नवास् तीरम् nadyās tīram, 'the bank of the river.'
- 2. a guttural or labial (क k, ख kh, प p, फ ph), it remains unchanged ;—e.g. ततः कामः tatah kāmah, 'thence love'; नवाः पारम nadyāh pāram, 'the opposite shore of the river.'
- 3. a sibilant, it remains unchanged or may be assimilated 2;—e.g. सुप्त: श्रिण: suptah sisuh or सुप्तश्चिण: 'the child is asleep'; प्रथम: सर्ग: prathamah sargah or प्रथमस्तर्गः prathamas sargah, 'the first canto.'
- 44. Visarga (except when preceded by आ a or आ ā) if followed by a soft letter (consonant or vowel) is changed to रू :—e.g. कवि: अथम = कविर्थम् kavir ayam, 'this poet'; गी: गच्छति= गीर्गच्छति gaur gacchati, 'the cow walks'; वायु: वाति = वायु-वीति vāyur vāti, 'the wind blows.'

- 45. 1. The final syllable आ: बँगे drops its Visarga before vowels or soft consonants;—e.g. अशः अमी = अश अमी asvā amī, 'those horses'; आगताः ऋषयः = आगता ऋषयः बढ्रवह एक्ष्प्रक्षेत्र, 'the poets have arrived'; हताः गजाः = हता गजाः hatā gajāḥ. 'the elephants (are) killed': माः भिः = माभिः mā-bhiḥ, instr. plur. of मास् mās, 'moon.'
  - a. The final syllable W: ah-
- a drop its Visarga before vowels except आ a;—c.g. कुतः अन्तः = कृत आगतः kuta agatah, 'whence come?' कः स्वः = प्रः ka eṣaḥ. 'who (is) he?' कः ऋषिः = क स्वः ka ṛṣiḥ, 'who (is) the poet?'
- here soft consonants and before भ a, is changed to भ o, which भ a is elided (21 a):— आगीत: द्रीप:= भगीते दीप: ānīto dīpaḥ. 'the lamp (has been) brought': बार बि:= मगोनि: mano-bhih, inst. plur. 'with minds': भरम्= गरोऽयम् naro 'yam, 'this man.'
- The shell syllables W: ah and WI: āh, in the few instances in which the Vierga represents an etymological \(\mathcal{\tau}\), represents and \(\mathcal{\tau}\), represents an etymological \(\m
- क प्रतिकाल by र r is always dropped, a preceding short total back back;—e.ह. विधु: राजते=विधू राजते vidhū

भाग प्रति prätar, 'early,' भाग antar, 'within'; 'बार् क्रिका, 'day,' द्वार् dvār, 'door,' वार् vār, 'mar in स ा, as पित्र pitar, 'father' (101); 'क्रिका के स ा, as पदागर ajāgar, 2. 3. sing. imperf.

rājate, 'the moon shines'; पुनः रोगी=पुना रोगी punā rogī, 'ill again.'

- 48. The two pronouns सः saḥ, 'that,' and एषः eṣaḥ, 'this' (110 a), retain Visarga at the end of a sentence only, but become सो so and एषो eṣo before য় a (45, 2 b);—e.g. सः द्वाति=स द्वाति sa dadāti, 'he gives'; सः द्वः=स द्वः sa Indraḥ, 'that Indra'; but सः श्रमवत्=सोऽभवत् so 'bhavat, 'he was'; मृतः सः mṛtaḥ saḥ, 'he (is) dead.'
- 49. भी: bhoh, an irregular contracted vocative (for bhavas, used as an interjection) of भवत bhavat, 'your honour,' drops its Visarga before all vowels and soft consonants;—e.g. भो: र्यान=भो र्यान bho īśāna, 'O lord': भो: देवा:=भो देवा: bho devāḥ, 'O gods'; but भो: इत:=भो रेक्त: bhoś chettaḥ, 'O cutter.'
- a. The same rule applies to the contracted vocative भगे: bhagoh (for bhagavas) from भगवत् bhagavat, 'adorable one.'
- 50. Nouns ending in radical  $\zeta$  r (82) retain the  $\zeta$  r before the  $\xi$  su of the loc. pl.;—e.g.  $\xi$  =  $\xi$  =  $\xi$  vār-su, in the waters.
- a. अहर् ahar (91, 2 N.) and खर svar (indeclinable) retain their r when compounded with पति pati: अहपैतिः ahar-patih, 'lord of day,' खपैतिः svar-patih, 'lord of heaven.'

Doubling of Consonants.

51. क् ch at the beginning of a word may always be doubled after vowels; it must be so after a short vowel and after the particles आ ā and मा mā;—e.g. तव हाया = तव काया tava cchāyā, 'thy shade'; आ हाद्यति = आकाद्यति ācchādayati, 'he covers'; मा हिद्त्=मा किद्त् mā cchidat, 'let him not cut'; but बद्रीकाया badarī-chāyā or बद्रीकाया badarī-chāyā, 'shade of jujube trees.'

- a. In the body of a word the doubling takes place after all vowels: इच्छति icchati, 'he wishes'; क्षेट्ट: mlecchah, 'barbarian.'
- 52. Final क n and न n, preceded by a short vowel and followed by any vowel (or diphthong), are doubled;—e.g. प्रावह आले = प्रत्यक्वाले pratyann āste, 'he sits westward'; धावन घरः = धावनसः dhāvann asvah, 'a running horse'; but अवीन आहरास kavin āhvayasva, 'call the poets,' remains.

Initial Aspiration.

- 53. Initial प्रं, not followed by a hard consonant, may be, and in practice nearly always is, changed to the corresponding aspirate et ac after प् e (38) and प् र्रा (40);—e.g. तथ झानिन = तक्क्रोबेन tac chlokena, 'by that verse'; धावन ग्राः = धावञ्द्रशः dhāvan chasah, 'a running hare.'
- a. The same change is allowed after क् k, ट् t, प् p, though not usually applied: वाक्शतम् vāk-satam may become वाक्शतम् vāk-chatam, 'a hundred apeeches.'
- 54. Initial § h, after softening a preceding a k, Z t, A t, Q p, is changed to the soft aspirate of the preceding letter;—e.g. and fe=affe vsg ghi, 'for speech'; and fe=affe tad dhi, 'for thet.'
- 55. If \( \mathbb{G} \) \( \mathbb{H} \)

the second service of the original initial aspiration of such the characteristic of the operation of such that producted a syllable beginning and ending the second the fact appeared the initial second of (-0/to-s), 'bair,' beside gen. \(\tau\rho\colon\colon-5\cdots\).

B. Internal Sandhi.

56. The rules of internal Sandhi apply to the finals of nominal and verbal stems before all terminations of declension (except those beginning with consonants of the middle stem: 73 a) and conjugation, before primary suffixes (182, 1), and before secondary suffixes (182, 2) beginning with a vowel or  $\forall y$ . They are best acquired by learning paradigms of nouns and verbs first. Many of these rules agree with those of external Sandhi; the most important of those which differ from external Sandhi are here added.

Final Vowels.

- .57. In many cases before a vowel (and even the same vowel) द i and दे ī are changed to द्यांप; उ u and का ū to उव uv; द ः to द्रां (cp. 18 and 20);—e.g. भी dhī + दां = धियि dhiy-i, loc. sing., 'in thought'; भू + दां = भवि bhuv-i, 'on earth'; युगु+ डः yu-yu+ uḥ = युगुद: yu-yuv-uḥ, 'they have joined'; गृ + कति gṛ + ati = गिर्ति gir-ati, 'he swallows.'
- 58. Final षह r. before consonant terminations is changed to रिं îr, after labials to जर् ür; while ष r (after a single consonant) before य y becomes रि ri (154, 3);—e. g. यू हाँ, passive pres. 3. sing. गैरीते gīr-yate, 'is swallowed'; गेर्चा gīr-ṇaḥ, past pass. part., 'swallowed'; यू pṛ, pass. pres. पूर्वते pūr-yate, 'is filled'; past part., पूर्ण: pūr-ṇaḥ, 'filled'; क kṛ, pass. pres. जिस्ते kri-yate, 'is done.'
- 59. ए e, ऐ ai, श्री o, श्री au are changed before suffixes beginning with vowels or य y to अय ay, आय āy, अव av, आय āv respectively (21; 22);—e.g. ते + अन = नयन nay-ana, 'eye'; रे + ए= राधे rāy-e, 'for wealth'; गो + ए= गवे gav-e, 'for a cow'; नो + सः = नावः nāv-aḥ, 'ships'; गो + यः = नवः gav-yaḥ, 'relating to cows.'

Final Consonants.

- 60. The most notable divergence from external Sandhi is the unchangeableness of the final consonants (cp. 32) of verbal and nominal stems before terminations beginning with vowels, semi-vowels, and nasals (while before other letters they usually follow the rules of external Sandhi);—e.g. Fig. prānc-aḥ, 'eastern'; eastern'; eastern'; vac-ām', 'let me speak,' eastern'; to be spoken,' eastern'; but eas vac-mi, 'I speak'; but eas vak-ti, 'he speaks.'
- 61. Nominal or verbal stems ending in consonants, and followed by terminations consisting of a single consonant, drop the termination altogether, two consonants not being tolerated at the end of a word (28). The final consonant which remains is then treated according to the rules of external Sandhi. Thus HIE+ Expance+s, nom. sing., 'eastern,' becomes HIE pran (the Exsbeing first dropped, the palatals being changed to gutturals by 27, and the Exsberg then dropped by 28); similarly Expand a-doh+t= Expand a-dok (55), 3. sing. imperf., 'he milked.'
- 62. Aspirates followed by any letters except vowels, semi-vowels or nasals (60) lose their aspiration;—e.g. ्या + ध्वे rundh + dhye=्या rund-dhye², 'you obstruct'; सम + स्वि labh + sye= खारे lap-sye, 'I shall take'; but युधि yudh-i, 'in battle,' सामः lobh-yah, 'to be desired.'

i द d is assimilated before the primary suffix न -na;—e.g. in सन्न an-na, 'food' (for ad-na); and त t, द d before the secondary suffixes सत् mat and सद्य maya;—e.g. विद्यात vidyun-mat, 'accompanied by lightning' (vidyut), and सुवाद mṛn-maya, 'consisting of clay' (mṛd).

- a. A lost soft aspirate is, if possible, thrown back before ed dhv (not ed dhi), H bh, H s, according to 55;—e.g. 电视器 a-bhuddhvam, 'you observed,' 判策: bhud-bhih, inst. plur., 识识 bhut-su, loc. plur., but 夏阳 dug-dhi, 2. sing. imper., 'milk.'
- b. But it is thrown forward on a following त t and च th 1, which are softened;—e.g. जम्नतः labh+taḥ=जन्दः lab-dhaḥ, 'taken'; जन्द् + चः rundh+thaḥ= जन्दः rund-dhaḥ, 'you two obstruct'; जन्द् + तुम bandh+tum = जन्द्रम band-dhum, 'to bind.'
- 63. Palatals. a. While 可 c regularly becomes guttural before consonants (cp. 61: 27; 6, x.i), 可 j in some cases (the majority) becomes guttural (可 k, 可 g)², in others cerebral (夏 t, 嗄 d, 嘎 s);—e.g. 可而 uk-ta, 'spoken' (from 可可 vac); 可而 yuk-ta, 'joined' (from 可可 vuj); 可可 rug-na, 'broken' (from 可可 ruj; cp. 65); but 可定 rāt, nom. sing. 'king' (for 可可+根 rāj+s); 即覆 mṛḍ-dhi, 2. sing.imper. 'wipe' (from 即可 mṛj); 可禁 rāṣ-ṭra, 'kingdom' (from 可可 rāj; cp. 64).
- b. मूर्ड, before घू dh, the middle terminations (73 a) and the nom. स s, usually becomes द t or द d (sometimes क् k or ग्र); before त t, य th, it always becomes प s (cp. 64), and before the स s of the future and of other conjugational forms, always क k;—e.g. from विम् vis we get विट्सु viţ-su, 'in the settlers'; विष्ट viҙ-ṭa, 'entered'; विशास vek-ṣyāmi (cp. 67), 'I shall enter.'
- c. ব্ c and ব্ j (not শ্ ś) palatalize a following ব্ n ;—e.g. আন্+ৰা yāc+nā=আন্ত্ৰা yāc-ñā, 'request'; যব্+ৰ yaj+na= যম yaj-ña, 'sacrifice'; but দম praś-na, 'question.'

² ज् j regularly becomes ज् k before a conjugational ₹ s (cp. 144, 4).

- d. The etch of the root मह prach, 'ask,' is treated like प्र s : पृष्ठ prata, 'asked,' मच्यामि prak-syami, 'I shall ask,' मञ्ज prasna, 'question.' (In external Sandhi, i.e. when final, and before middle terminations, it becomes इ t.)
- 64. Cerebrals change following dentals to cerebrals (cp. 39);—e.g. रप्+त iṣ+ta=रष्ट iṣ-ṭa, 'wished'; दिष्+ि dviṣ+dhi=दिष्ट dviḍ-ḍhi, 'hate'; पर्+नाम् ṣaṭ+nām = पसाम् ṣaṇ-ṇām (cp. 33), 'of six.'
- s. While the cerebral sibilant  $\mathbf{q}$  is regularly becomes a cerebral  $(\mathbf{z}, \mathbf{t}, \mathbf{o}, \mathbf{q}, \mathbf{d})$  in declension (cp. 80), and before  $\mathbf{q}$  dh in conjugation, it regularly becomes  $\mathbf{q}$  k before an  $\mathbf{q}$  is in conjugation (cp. 63b and 67); and dvel- $\mathbf{q}$ , thou hatest, from  $\mathbf{q}$  dvis.

65. Change of dental ₹n to cerebral ₹n:

But बर्चनम् arc-anam, 'worship' (palatal intervenes); बर्गावन arpavena, 'by the ocean' (cerebral intervenes); बर्चन ardhena, 'by half' (dental intervenes); कुर्वन्ति kurvanti, 'they do' (ग n is followed by त्t); रामान rāmān, acc. pl., 'the Rāmas' (न n is final).

Note.—The number of intervening letters, it will be seen from the above examples, is not limited. In the word रामायण rāmāyaṇa, for instance, five letters (three vowels, a labial, and a semivowel) intervene between the र r and the ए n.

Table showing when In changes to III n.

66. A. The dental 7 n-

- i. remains unchanged before यू y and व् v ;—e.g. हन्यते hanyate, 'is killed'; तन्यम् tan-v-an, 'stretching.'
- 2. as final of a root becomes Anusvara before \ s;-e.g.
- " जिघांसति ji-ghām-sa-ti, 'he wishes to kill' (इन han); मंस्ति mam-sya-te, 'he will think' (सन् man); also when it is inserted before स s or ष s in the neuter plural (71 c; 83);—e.g. चशांसि yaśāms-i, nom. pl. of चश्चस yaśas, 'fame'; इनींषि havīms-i, neut. pl. of इनिस् havis, 'oblation' (83).
- B. The dental H s-
- 1. becomes dental at as the final of roots or nominal stems:—
- a. before the स s of the verbal suffixes (future, aorist, desiderative) in the two roots वस् vas, 'dwell,' and घस ghas, 'eat': वत्थति vat-syati, 'will dwell' (151 b 3); भवासीत् a-vāt-sīt, 'has dwelt' (144, 1); जिघत्सति ji-ghat-sati, 'wishes to eat' (171, 5).
- b. before the endings with initial \(\mathbf{H}\) bh or \(\mathbf{H}\) s (and in the nom.

acc.sing.neut.) of reduplicated perfect stems (89): चक्कविद्धः cakṛ-vad-bhiḥ, चक्कवित् cakṛ-vat-su, N.A.n. चक्कवित् cakṛ-vat.

2. disappears-

- a. between mutes;—e.g. यभक्त a-bhak-ta (for a-bhak-s-ta), 3sing. s-aorist of अव bhaj, 'share'; चष्ट caṣ-ṭe (for cakṣ-ṭe=original caś-s-te), 3. sing. pres. of चच्च cakṣ, 'speak.'
  This loss also occurs when the preposition उद् ud is compounded with the roots सा sthā, 'stand,' and सम् stambh, 'support';—e.g. उत्याय ut-thāya, 'standing up'; उत्त्याय ut-tambhita, 'raised up.'
- b. before soft dentals;—e.g. ATE śā-dhi (for śās-dhi), 2. sing. imperat. of ATE śās, 'order'; also after becoming a s and cerebralizing the following dental;—e.g. ACT a-sto-dhvam (for a-sto-s-dhvam), 2. pl. aor. of a stu, 'praise.'

67. Change of dental स s to cerebral घ् इ:

Preceding vowels except \( \mathbb{q} \) a or \( \mathbb{n} \) \( \bar{n} \) (even though Anusvāra or Visarga intervene), as well as \( \mathbb{q} \) k and \( \bar{q} \), change dental \( \mathbb{q} \) s (followed by a vowel, \( \bar{q} \) t, \( \mathbb{q} \) th, \( \mathbb{n} \) n, \( \mathbb{m} \) m, \( \mathbb{q} \) y, \( \mathbb{q} \) v) to cerebral \( \mathbb{q} \) s;—e. g. from \( \mathbb{q} \) the sarpinsi, nom. pl.; \( \mathbb{q} \) the sarpinsi, with clarified butter'; \( \mathbb{q} \) till sarpinsi, nom. pl.; \( \mathbb{q} \) the sarpinsi, loc. pl., 'in speeches'; from \( \mathbb{q} \) gir: \( \mathbb{q} \) gir-su (82), loc. pl., 'in speeches'; \( \mathbb{q} \) the stand; 'stand'; \( \mathbb{q} \) the stand, 'stand'; \( \mathbb{q} \) the stand'; \( \mat

Note.—The rules about the changes of the dental  $\P$  n and  $\P$  s to the corresponding cerebrals, should be thoroughly acquired, since these changes must constantly be made in declension and conjugation.

68. The labial म m remains unchanged before य y, र r, जा 1 (cp. 60 and 42 B 1); but before suffixes beginning with ज v it becomes जा ;—e.g. काम्यः kām-yaḥ, 'desirable,' तास tām-ra, 'copper-coloured,' अस am-la, 'sour'; but जगन्तान् ja-gan-vān, 'having gone' (from गम gam, 'go').

69. a. The (soft) breathing ह h before स s and, in roots beginning with द d, before त t, य th, ध dh also, is treated like घ gh;—e. g. सह+सि leh+si=सिष lek-si, 'thou lickest' (67); दह+सि dah + syati = धवात dhak-syati, 'he will burn' (55): दह+त dah + ta = दाध dag-dha, 'burnt' (62 b); दिह+ से dih + dhve = धिरसे dhig-dhve, 'ye anoint' (62 a). Similarly treated are the perf. pass. participles of the roots सिह snih and, in one sense, सह muh: सिर्ध snig-dha, 'smooth,' and साध mug-dha, 'foolish.'

b. \( \) h, in all other roots, is treated like an aspirate cerebral, which, after changing a following \( \) t, \( \) th, \( \) dh to \( \) dh, and lengthening a preceding short vowel, is dropped;—e.g. \( \) \(\) \( \) \( \) \( \) \( \) \( \) \( \) \( \) \( \) \( \) \( \) \( mudha, 'infatuated.' Similarly treated are the roots वह vah and सह sah, but with an apparent irregularity in the vowel: जंड चंद्रीक ', 'carried' (for वह + त vah + ta); वोड्स voḍhum², 'to carry' (for वह + तुम vah + tum); सोड्स soḍhum², 'to bear' (for सह + तुम sah + tum).

An exception to b is the root a = a nah, in which a = a h is treated as a = a dh: a = a nad-dha, 'bound.' An exception to both a and b is the root a = a dr. firm' (begins with a = a d and has a short vowel).

CHAPTER III

DECLENSION

70. Declension, or the inflexion of nominal stems by means of endings, is most conveniently treated under the three heads of 1. nouns (including adjectives); 2. numerals; 3. pronouns.

In Sanskrit there are-

- a. three genders: masculine, feminine, and neuter;
- A three numbers: singular, dual, and plural;
- c. eight cases: nominative, vocative, accusative, instrumental, dative, ablative, genitive, locative 3.

The syllable T va, which is liable to Samprasāraņa (p. 11, note 1), because T a and is then lengthened.

This is the ender of the Hindu grammarians, excepting the vocative, which is not regarded by them as a case. It is convenient as the only which such cases as are identical in form, either in the deal, or the plural, may be grouped together.

71. The normal case-endings added to the stem are the following:—

	Singu	LAR.	Du	AL.		PLUR	AL.
	M. F.	N.	M. F.	N.		M. F.	N.
N.	स् s	b	)		1
V.	a		श्री au	t ī	अस् ८७		₹i°
A.	चम् am		)	•	)	•
I.	*	Πā	)			भिस् ।	his
D.	Ų	6	भ्वाम् b	hyām	}	1	1
Ab	.) _		)		,	भ्यस् b	nyas
G.	•	HE as				चाम्	im
L.	.	i	श्रीस् ०	1		सु su

- a. The vocative is the same (apart from the accent) as the nominative in all numbers except the masc. and fem. sing. of vowel stems generally and the masc. sing. of consonant stems in -at, -an, -in, -as (cp. 76a), -yas, -vas.
- b. The nom. acc. sing. neut. has the bare stem excepting the words in -a, which add \( \mathbf{H} \) m.
- c. The nom.voc. acc. plur. neut. before the  $\P$  i insert  $\P$  n after a vowel stem and before a single final mute or sibilant of a consonant stem (modifying the  $\P$  n according to the class of the consonant).
- 72. An important distinction in declension (in stems ending in  $\mathbf{T}$  c,  $\mathbf{T}$  t,  $\mathbf{T}$  n,  $\mathbf{H}$  s, and  $\mathbf{T}$  r) is that between the strong and the weak stem. If the stem has two forms, the strong and the weak stem are distinguished; if it has three forms, strong, middle, and weakest are distinguished.
- s. Shifting of accent was the cause of the distinction. The stem, having been accented in the strong cases, here naturally preserved its full form; but it was shortened in the weak cases by the accent falling on the endings. For a similar reason the last vowel of the strong stem, if long, is regularly shortened in the vocative, because the accent always shifted to the first syllable in that case.

73. The strong stem appears in the following cases:-

Nom. voc. acc. sing.

Nom. voc. acc. dual of masculine nouns 1.

Nom. voc. (not acc.) plur.

Nom. voc. acc. plural only of neuters.

- a. When the stem has three forms, the middle stem appears before terminations beginning with a consonant 2 (क्याम -bhyām, क्सि -bhis, क्या -bhyas, जु-su); the weakest, before terminations beginning with a vowel in the remaining weak cases;—e.g. प्रविद्या pratyanc-au, nom. dual; प्रविद्या pratyanc-bhih, inst. plur.; प्रविद्या pratyanc-bh, gen. dual (93).
- b. In neuters with three stems, the nom. voc. acc. sing. are middle, the nom. voc. acc. dual, weakest;—e.g. प्रसन् pratyák, sing., प्रतीची pratic-í, dual, प्रसिद्ध pratyánc-i, plur. (93). The other cases are as in the masculine.

NOUNS.

- 74. This declension may conveniently be divided into two classes:-
  - I. Stems ending in consonants 3:-
    - A. unchangeable; B. changeable.

Excepting the stems in \( \); (101) nearly all nouns with changeable stems form their ferminine with the suffix \( \) (100).

* Some grammers begin with the vowel declension in ¶ a (II. A) since this contains the majority of all the declined stems in the language.

II. Stems ending in vowels:—A. in wa and w ā; B. in t i and w u; C. in t ī and w ū; D. in u ; E. in t ai, w o, w au.

I. A. Unchangeable Stems.

- 75. The number of these stems is comparatively small, there being none ending in guttural or cerebral mutes, and none in nasals or semivowels (except  $\nabla$  r). They are liable to such changes only as are required by the rules of Sandhi before the consonant terminations (cp. 16 a). Masculines and feminines ending in the same consonant are inflected exactly alike; and the neuters differ only in the nom. voc. acc. dual and plural.
- 76. The final consonants of the stem retain their original sound before vowel terminations (71); but when there is no ending (nom. sing., the \(\mathbb{A}\) s of the m. f. being dropped), and before the loc. pl. \(\mathbb{A}\) su, they must be reduced to one of the letters \(\mathbb{A}\) k, \(\mathbb{E}\) t, \(\mathbb{A}\) t, \(\mathbb{A}\) p or Visarga (27), which respectively become \(\mathbb{A}\) g, \(\mathbb{A}\) d, \(\mathbb{A}\) b, or \(\mathbb{C}\) r, before the terminations beginning with \(\mathbb{A}\) bh.
- a. The voc. sing. m. f. is the same as the nom, except in stems in (derivative) we as (83).
- b. Forms of the nom. voc. acc. plur. neut. are extremely rare in this declension;—e.g. from भाज -bhāj, 'sharing,' भाज -bhānji; nom. sing. भाज -bhāk.

But for practical reasons it appears preferable to begin with the consonant declension, which adds the normal endings (71) without modification; while the wide deviation of the a-declension from these endings is apt to confuse the beginner.

Stems in Dentals.

77. Paradigm 455 su-hrd, m. 'friend' (lit. 'good-hearted').

a. In the paradigms of regular nouns with unchangeable stems it will be sufficient to remember the nom. sing. and the nom. inst. loc. plur.;—e.g. from •वित -jit, 'conquering': •वित -jit, •वित: -jit-aḥ, •वित: -jid-bhiḥ, •वित्सु -jit-su; from •मथ -math, 'destroying': •मत -mat, •मथ: -math-aḥ, •मिद्ध: -mad-bhiḥ, •मत्सु -mat-su; from ॰वृध्-vṛdh, 'increasing': •वृत -vṛt, •वृध: -vṛd-aḥ, •वृद्ध: -vṛd-bhiḥ, •वृत्सु -vṛt-su.

Stems in Palatals.

79. The palatals (\(\frac{1}{4}\) c, \(\frac{1}{4}\) j, \(\frac{1}{4}\) s) undergo a change of organ when final and before consonant terminations (cp. 63). \(\frac{1}{4}\) c always becomes guttural (\(\frac{1}{4}\) k or \(\frac{1}{4}\)); \(\frac{1}{4}\) and \(\frac{1}{4}\) s nearly always become guttural, but sometimes cerebral (\(\frac{1}{4}\) t or \(\frac{1}{4}\)).

Stems in R s.

83. These stems consist almost entirely of words formed with the derivative suffixes we as, we is, we us, chiefly neuters. They lengthen their final vowel (before the inserted nasal) in the nom. voc. acc. plur. neut. The masculines and feminines are nearly all adjective compounds with these stems as their final member; those in we as lengthen the wa in the nom. sing.

. सुन्तिस su-manas, as an adjective, 'cheerful,' has in the nom. sing. masc. सुन्ता: sumánāḥ (voc. सुन्ता: súmanaḥ), but neuter सुन्ता: sumánaḥ (but दीचायु: dīrghāyuḥ nom. sing. in all genders). Similarly अक्रिस् aṅgiras, m., उग्रम्स uśanas, m., names of seers, and उत्तस uṣ-as, f. 'dawn,' form the nominatives अक्रिस: áṅgirāḥ, स्थाना: uśanāḥ (sometimes स्थाना uśanā), and स्या: uṣáḥ.

- b. आशिस ā-śis¹, f. 'blessing,' lengthens its र i (like the stems in र्रां) in the nom. sing. and before consonants: nom. sing. आशी: āśīḥ; pl. nom. आशिष: āśiṣ-aḥ, inst. आशीमि: āśīr-bhiḥ, loc. आशी: वृ āśīḥ-ṣu.

I. B. Changeable Stems.

84. Regular changeable stems end in the dentals त t, न n, स s, or the palatal च c; those in त t end in चत् at (also मत् mat, वत vat); those in न n end in चन् an (also मन् man, वन van) or र्न in (also मन् min, वन vin); those in स s end in यस yas (comparatives) or वस vas (perf. participles active); those in च c end in चच् ac, which is properly a root meaning 'to bend.'

The stems in un at (85-6), un in (87), un yas (88) have two forms, strong and weak; those in un an (90-92), un vas (89), un ac (93) have three, strong, middle, and weakest (73).

Mouns with Two Stems.

85. 1. Stems in An at comprise Present and Puture Participles (156) active (masc. and neut.)<sup>2</sup>. The strong stem is in An ant, the weak in An at <sup>3</sup>;—e.g. An ad-ant and An ad-at, 'eating,' from An ad, 'to eat'—

Derived not with the suffix t is, but from the (weakened) root NIK sas with the prefix T a.

Besides भवन bhavan there is also an irregular voc. (cp. 49) भी: bhoḥ, 'sir!' (a contraction of an older भवस bhavas).
- b. विचत् kí-y-at, 'how much?' and इचत्।-y-at, 'so much,' are also declined like जानवत् jfiana-vat.

Nouns with Three Stems.

89. 1. Participles of the reduplicated perfect in वस vas (masc. and neut.)<sup>1</sup> form their strong stem with वांस vāṃs, the middle with वत vat², the weakest with उप uṣ (67; cp. 157);—e. g. चञ्चवस cakṛ-vas³, 'having done,' from का kṛ, 'to do'—

<sup>2</sup> The change of  $\mathcal{H}$  s to  $\mathcal{H}$  t here began in the early Vedic period before  $\mathcal{H}$  bh, extending thence to the loc. plur. and the nom. acc. sing. neut.  $\mathcal{H}$  us is the unaccented form of  $\mathcal{H}$  vas (cp. 137, 2 c).

Beginners sometimes confuse this reduplicated perf. part. active with the active participle formed by adding the suffix वर्त vat to the perfect passive part.;—e.g. nom. masc. कृतवान kṛṭa-vān, 'having done,' acc. कृतवान kṛṭa-vantam (cp. 161). The confusion is caused by both ending in व्यान -vān in the nom. sing.

s. The द i which is inserted before the व v in some of these participles is dropped before चष् us: thus तिस्त्रवान् tasth-i-van, but तस्त्रवा tasth-ú-्ब.

b. The following examples of these stems may be useful (cp. 157):—

INSTR. PL. ACC. PL. NOW. SG. NOW . syncopation of the u a of the suffix is optional. In the weakest cases syncope does not take place when u man and u van are immediately preceded by a consonant.

The concurrence of three consonants is here avoided, though not in stems in simple we an. Hence want at-man-a, but neur taks-n-a, appr murdh-n-a. Examples of the inflexion of these stems are:—

2 a. Irregular Stems in Wan.

91. 1. पत्थन panth-an, m. 'path,' has पन्यान panth-an for its strong stem, पश्चि path-i for its middle, and पश् path for its weakest stem; the nom. irregularly adds स s¹—

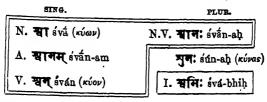

N. पन्थाः pánth-ā-ḥ
A. पन्थानम् pánth-ān-am
पथः path-áḥ
I. पथा path-á

पथिमः pathí-bhiḥ

<sup>1</sup> This H s is due to the fact that in the earlier language this word had two stems: the one unit pantha, forming N. unit; pantha-h, A. unit pantha-m; the other, unit panthan, forming N. unit pantha, A. unit of panthan panthan.

3. सन् sv-an, m. 'dog,' forms its weakest stem, मुन् sun2, with Samprasāraņa. Otherwise it is declined like राजन rājan.

. 4. युवन yú-van, m. 'youth' (Lat. juven-is), forms its weakest stem, यून yūn, by Samprasāraņa (yu-un) and contraction (cf. Lat. jūn-ior)—

These words are properly compounds formed with the verb was, and, bend, which has, however, practically acquired the character of a suffix.

चाच् ac, and the weakest in देख īc or उत्तर् ūc¹ (according as चाच् ac is preceded by खुy or व्v);—e.g. मत्यच् praty-ac, m. n.² 'backward,' 'westward'—

The apparent irregularity of the long vowel is probably due to the Samprasārana here being not internal, but external, at the junction of a compound. - 94. The beginner will find it useful to remember the following points with regard to changeable stems:—
- L. The vowel of the suffix is lengthened in the nom. sing. masc. except in stems in अत् at and अस् ac;—अस्मिमान् agni-mān, भावनाय् jama-vān; सरीयान् gar-īyūn; चक्रवान् cakṛ-vān; राजा कां. त्रज्ञा brah-mā, युवा yú-vū; धनी dhau-í, वाउमी पढ़कां, मनस्ती manas-ví; but सदन् ad-án, प्रसङ् praty-án.
- s. The nom. sing. masc. ends in a nasal in all changeable sterns except those in च्रा (सन् an, सन् man, वन् van, द्न in, सिन् min, सन् vin), which drop it.
- All changeable stems which lengthen the vowel in the nom.

- a. In other changeable stems the vocative differs from the nom. solely in always having the accent on the first syllable: ad-an, voc., adan, nom.; Have pratyan, voc., pratyan, nom.
- 95. The feminines of nouns with changeable stems are formed by adding है ī to the weak stem (when there are two stems) or the weakest (when there are three), and follow the declension of नदी nadī (100);—e.g. सदती adat-ī; समिनी agni-mát-ī, ज्ञानवती jñāna-vat-ī; धिननी dhanín-ī, वारिमनी vāg-mín-ī, मनस्तिनी manas-vín-ī; गरीयसी gárīyas-ī; सक्रुषी cakrúṣ-ī; राज्ञी rájñī ('queen'); ॰मास्ती-nāmn-ī(adj., 'named'); मुनी sún-í ('bitch'); ॰ज्ञी -ghn-ī ('killing'); मतीसी pratīc-ī, मासी prác-ī.
- a. The feminine of the present participle active of the first conjugation (125) is made from the strong masc. stem in अल् ant (ep. 156); that of the second conjugation from the weak stem in अल् at ;—e. g. मवन्ती bhávant-ī, 'being ¹,' तुद्नी tudánt-ī², 'striking,' दीवानी dívyant-ī, 'playing,' घोरवानी corayant-ī, 'stealing'; but जुद्भती júhv-at-ī, 'sacrificing,' युझती yuñj-at-ī, 'joining,' सुन्वती sunv-at-ī, 'pressing,' कुवेती kurv-at-ī, 'doing,' क्रीगती krīņ-at-ī, 'buying.'
- b. The feminine of the simple future participle active is usually formed like the present part. of the first conjugation; સવિष्य all bhavisyánt-ī<sup>2</sup>, 'about to be,' વિષ્ય all karisyánt-ī, 'about to do.'
- c. The few adjectives in वन -van form their feminines in oat -vari;—पीवन pi-van (πίων), 'fat,' f. पीवरी pi-varī

(πίκιρα). The fem. of the irregular युवन yú-van, 'young' (91, 4), is युवति yuva-tí or युवती yuva-tī.

This very anomalous ending, being the Vrddhi vewel of  $\overline{\mathbf{g}}$  u, not  $\overline{\mathbf{q}}$  i, seems to be due to the influence of the stems in  $\overline{\mathbf{g}}$  u, the influence of which is entirely analogous.

- a. Neuter adjectives (not substantives) may be declined throughout (except N.V.A. of all numbers), and fem. adjectives and substantives in the D.Ab.G.L. sing., like masculines. Thus the L. sing. of मति matí, f. 'thought,' is मत्याम् matyám or मती matáu, but वादि vāri, n. 'water,' only वादिश्य vāriņi.
- b. The voc. sing. of neuters may optionally follow the masc. form;—e.g. qif vari or qit vare; सध madhu or सधो madho.
- c. The feminine of adjectives in 3 u is sometimes also formed by adding $\tilde{\tilde

- 2. The sakh-i, m. - IOO. C. Stems in  $\hat{\mathbf{t}}$   $\bar{\mathbf{i}}$  and  $\mathbf{t}\bar{\mathbf{u}}$  (fem.), according as they are monosyllabic or polysyllabic, show various differences of inflexion:—
- I. Monosyllabic stems change द i and জ ū to ব্য iy and জই uv before vowels, the polysyllabic stems to ই y and ই v.
- 2. Monosyllabic stems have the normal terminations (71) throughout: they may take the special feminine terminations (-ai, -āh, -ām)<sup>2</sup>, polysyllabic stems must.

² These terminations started from the polysyllabic stems in ₹ -ī, originally ॡ -yā, which was fused with the normal endings ॡ e and ॡ as to ॡ -yai and ॡ -yās, and, in the loc., with an ending ॡ -am (of unknown origin) to ॡ -yām.

- 3. Monosyllabic stems use the nom. (which takes \( \mathbb{A} \) syllabic stems shorten the \( \mathbb{\tau} \) \( \mathbb{\tau} \) and \( \mathbb{G} \) \( \mathbb{U} \) of the nom., in the voc. sing.
- 4. Polysyllabic stems in र् ī have no स s in the nom. sing. except सद्धी: lakṣmīḥ, 'goddess of prosperity,' तन्त्री: tantrīḥ, 'string,' and optionally तन्त्री tandrī, 'sloth.'
- 5. Polysyllabic stems form the acc. sing. in दूम im and जम um, the acc. pl. in दूस is and जस us.

a. At stri, f. 'woman,' though monosyllabic, has most of the characteristics of polysyllabic stems in it i (100, 2-5): it must take the special fem. terminations, it shortens its in the voc., it has no it s in the nom., and has an optional acc. sing. in it in and acc. plur. in it is. This is doubtless due to its originally having been a dissyllable.

IOL D. Stems in Wr (masc. and fem.), which in origin are consonant stems in w. are closely analogous in their declension to stems in we an (90). These nouns mostly end in the suffix  $\overline{q}$  -tr (i. e. -tar, Gk. -τηρ, -τωρ, Lat. -tor). They distinguish a strong stem तर -tar or तार -tar, a middle त tr, and a weakest \ tr. The inflexion of masc. and fem. differs in the sec. plur. only.

In the strong stem the names of relations take the Guna form (ar), the names of agents take the Vrddhi form (ar).

The sing, gen. is formed in To ur, the loc. in To ari, the voc. in u ar; the pl. acc. masc. in u in, fem. in ut is, the gen. in Male fpam.

- d. Stems in त tr, if declined in the neuter, would be inflected like the neut. of भूचि suci: N.A. sing. धातृ dhātf, du. धातृणी dhātf-ņ-ī, pl. धातृणि dhātf-ņ-i; I. sing. धातृणा dhātf-ņ-ā, pl. धातृणि: dhātf-p-hiḥ.
- e. Peminine agent nouns are formed from masculines in तृ tr by the suffix रे ा: masc. दातृ dātr, fem. दानी dātr-ī, 'giver' (declined like नदी nadī).

E. Stems in ऐ ai, श्री o, श्री au.

IC2. The only stems in diphthongs are र rai, m. 'wealth,' बो go, m. f. 'bull, cow,' दो dyo, f. 'sky,' and बो nau, f. 'ship.' rai changes the र i of the diphthong to ए y before vowels, but drops it before consonants. बो go, in the strong cases, takes Vyddhi and becomes बो gau, which is shortened to बा gā in the acc. sing. and pl. The ab. gen. has a contracted form (os for av-as).

These stems form a transition between the consonant and vowel declension: they agree with the former in taking the normal endings; with the latter in adding \( \mathbb{A} \) s in the nom. sing. and in showing a vowel before endings with initial consonant:—

Degrees of Comparison.

103. r. The secondary suffix of the comparative °तर -tara (Gk. -төрө) and that of the superlative °तम -tama (Lat. -timo) are added to the weak or middle stem of derivative adjectives (and even substantives);—e. g. युचि suci : युचितर suci-tara, युचितम suci-tama; प्राच्च prāc: प्राक्तर prāk-tara, प्राक्तम prāk-tama; प्राच्च dhanin: धनितर dhani-tara, धनितम dhani-tama; विद्यार vidvas: विद्यार vidvat-tara, विद्याम vidvat-tama; प्राच्च prasyac: प्राच्चर pratyak-tara, प्राच्चम pratyak-tama.

2. These suffixes form their feminine in আ ā; but तस tama, when used as an ordinal suffix, forms its fem. in ₹ ī (cp. 107).

2. The primary suffix of the comparative, tak īyas (Gk. -1070), and that of the superlative, to istha (Gk. -1070), are added to the root, which generally takes Guna (and is accented). Before them every word must be reduced to one syllable by dropping suffixes;—e.g. The analysis, 'minute': The analysis, चणिष्ठ áṇ-iṣṭha; गुद्द gur-ú¹, 'heavy': गरीयस gár-iyas, गरिष्ठ gár-iṣṭha; सञ्च lagh-ú, 'light': सघीयस lágh-īyas, सघिष्ठ lágh-iṣṭha (Gk. ἐ-λάχ-ιστος); दूर dū-rá, 'far': द्वीयस dáv-īyas; पर्य vár-a, 'choice': वरीयस vár-īyas, 'better'; सुद्ध kṣud-rá, 'mean': घोदीयस kṣód-īyas; युवन yú-van, 'young': यवीयस yáv-īyas; सुस्त hras-va, 'short': हसीयस hrás-īyas; with irregular radical syllable: दीघे dīrgh-á, 'long': द्राघीयस drágh-īyas; क्रिस bah-u-lá, 'abundant': वंहीयस báṃh-īyas.

a. In some cases यस yas is attached (instead of र्यस एंप्रड);—
e. g. च्यायस jyā-yas, 'superior,' च्येष्ठ jyéṣṭha (root च्या jyā); भूयस bhú-yas, 'more,' भूयष्ठ bhú-y-iṣṭha (root भू bhū); प्रेयस pré-yas, 'dearer,' प्रेष्ठ pré-ṣṭha (root प्री prī); श्रेयस śré-yas, 'better' (Gk. κρείων), श्रेष्ठ śré-ṣṭha; स्थिर sthi-rá, 'firm': स्थियस sthé-yas.

b. Some comparatives and superlatives belong only in sense to their positives;—e.g. नेदीयस् néd-īyas, नेदिष्ठ néd-iṣṭha, 'nearest,' to अस्तिक antiká, 'near'; क्लीयस् kán-īyas, 'lesser,' क्लिष्ठ kán-iṣṭha, 'least,' to अस्य álpa, 'small'; वर्षीयस् várṣ-īyas, 'older,' वर्षिष्ठ várṣ-iṣṭha, 'oldest,' to वृक्ष vṛddhá, 'old.'

Declension of Cardinals.

105. Only the first four cardinals distinguish the genders.

- 1. एवः ékaḥ, एका ékā, एकम् ékam, following the declension of the pronominal adjectives, is inflected like सर्व sarva (120 b).
- 2. द dvá, 'two,' is declined like the dual of कान kānta: N.A. m. दी dváu, f. दे dvé, n. दे dvé; I.D.Ab. दान्याम् dvábhyam, G.L. द्वारा dvá-y-oh.
- 3. The tri, in the mase, and neut., is declined like the plural of The suc-i, except in the gen., which is formed as if from traya (the regular form The tri-n-am is found in the Rig-veda). Its fem. stem is तिक tisf, the inflexion of which differs in the N.A.G. from that of the regular stems in Tr.
- 4. चतुर catúr, 'four,' in the masc. and neut., has the strong stem चलार catvár (cp. quatuor). The G.pl., though the stem ends in a consonant, inserts on before the ending (like चट sat). The feminine stem is चत्र cátasr, which is inflected exactly like तिस tisf.

106. a. षष् sás, 'six': N.A. षट् sát (27), I. षद्भिः sad-bhíh, D.Ab. षष्-वः sad-bhýáh, G. षषाम् san-nám (65), L. पट्सु sat-sú.

b. पश्च panca, 'five,' is declined like a neuter in अन् an (90, 2) except in the gen., where it follows काल kanta:—N.A. पश्च panca, I. पश्चिम: panca-bhih, D.Ab. पश्चम: panca-bhyah, G. पश्चमाम panca-n-am, L. पश्चम panca-su.

The numerals for 7 to 10 are declined in exactly the same way.

WE astá, however, has also the following alternative (older) forms:—N.A. WE astá. I. WETH: astá-bhíh, D.Ab. WETH: astá-bhýáh, L. WETH: astá-stí.

c. The cardinals 3 to 19 are used as plural adjectives, agreeing with their substantives in number and case (3 and 4 in gender also). The cardinals from 20 to 99 (which are feminine), as well as NAM satam and UENH sabasram, are used as singular substantives, the accompanying substantive being either in the same case or in the genitive;—e.g. NAM EITHM: or EITHM satena dasibhih or dasīnām, with a hundred female slaves.

E. Beflexive Pronouns.

- nom. sing. like a-y-ám, 'self,' is indeclinable (originally à nom. sing. like a-y-ám). It may express any person or number (e.g., 'myself,' 'himself,' 'yourselves'). It usually has the meaning of a nominative, but often of an instrumental, and sometimes of a genitive. It frequently also means 'spontaneously.'
- b. MAT ātmán, 'self,' is a masc. substantive (declined like same brahman, 90, 3). It is used in the singular as a reflexive pronoun of all persons and genders.
- c. स्व: sváh, स्वा svá, स्वम svám (Lat. suus), 'own,' is a reflexive adjective (declined like सर्वे sarva, 120 b) referring to all three persons and numbers ('my, thy, his, our, your, their own'). It is also used (like सात्म ātman) in the oblique cases as a reflexive pronoun;—e.g. सं विन्द्र कि svam nindánti, 'they blame themselves.'
- d. [43 ni-ja, properly an adjective meaning 'inborn,' 'native,' is often used in the sense of a pronominal reflexive adjective (like seva).

F. Possessive Pronouns.

- 116. Possessives are formed with the suffix द्वांप्र, from the stems of the personal pronouns मद mad, खद tvad, &c.: मदीव mad-īya, 'my,' खदीच tvad-īya, 'thy'; चलदीच asmad-īya, 'our,' चुम्मदीच yuṣmad-īya, 'your'; तदीच tad-īya, 'his, her, its, their.'
- a. With the suffix a ka are formed from the genitives are mama and तव tava, alwa māma-ká, 'my,' and तावब tāva-ka, 'thy' (cp. 109, foot-note 2); from and bhavat, 'your Honour,' alam bhāvat-ka, 'your.'

G. Compound Pronouns.

117. By adding and drés, and drésa, or and drésa, to certain pronominal stems, the following compound pronoms have been formed:—ताकृष tā-drés, ताकृष tā-drésa, ताकृष tā-drésa, 'sech'

- (lit. 'of that look'); यादृण् yā-dṛś, यादृण् yā-dṛśa, 'what like,' 'of what kind'; दृष्ण् ī-dṛśa, दृष्ण् ī-dṛśa, दृष्ण् ī-dṛśa, 'such'; वादृण् kī-dṛś, वीदृण् kī-dṛśa, 'what like?'; मादृण् mā-dṛśa, 'like me,' लादृण् tvā-dṛśa, 'like thee.'
- a. The feminine stem of the compounds in and drá is the same as the masc. and neut.;—e.g. nom. sing. m.f. n. ताइव् tādŕk; that of the compounds in an drá drá is formed with tī;—e.g. ताइया tādrá;; of those in an drkṣa with या ā;—e.g. ताइया tādrķā.
- 118. By adding वर्त vat and यत yat to certain pronominal stems, the following compounds, implying quantity, have been formed:—तावत tá-vat and एतावत etá-vat, 'so much'; यावत yá-vat, 'as much'; र्यत 1-yat, 'so much,' वियत kí-yat, 'how much?' These are all declined like nouns in वत vat (86), and form their feminines in the same way (तावती tāvat-ī, र्यती iyat-ī, &c.).
- a. बति ká-ti, 'how many?' (Lat. quot), तित tá-ti, 'so many' (Lat. toti-dem), चति yá-ti, 'as many,' are uninflected in the N.A., but in the other cases are declined like भुचि suci (98) in the plural.
- IIG. The interrogative क ka, by the addition of सित cit, सन cana, or सिंप spi, is changed to an indefinite pronoun, 'some,' 'some one': कश्चित kas cit, कासित kā cit, किसित kim cit; कश्चन kas cana, कासन kā cana, किसन kim cana; कोऽपि ko'pi, कापि kāpi, किसपि kim spi.
- a. In the same manner indefinite adverbs are formed: बदा ka-dā, 'when?' बदाचित kadā cit, बदाचन kadā cana, 'some time or other,' 'once'; आ kva, 'where?' न आपि na kvāpi, 'not anywhere,' 'nowhere.'
- b. The relative preceding the interrogative renders it indefinite:

oever.' Similarly यः वास्ति yah kaścit, यः वास yah kaśca, or वः वास्त्र yah kaścana, 'whosoever.'

c. The relative pronoun, if doubled, assumes a distributive neaning: \(\frac{1}{2}\) \(\frac{1}{2}\); yo yah, 'whoever, whatever in each case' (followed by a double correlative).

H. Pronominal Adjectives.

120. Several adjectives derived from, or allied in meaning to, pronouns, follow the pronominal declension (like त ta) either altogether or in part.

- a. चन्य anyá, 'other,' चन्यतर anya-tará, 'either,' इतर 1-tara, other,' चतर ka-tará, 'which of two?' चतम ka-tamá, 'which of many?' एकतम eka-tamá, 'one (of many),' follow the pronominal declension throughout, taking इ d in the N.V.A. sing. neut.; चन्याः anyá-ḥ, चन्याः anyá- चन्याः anyá- चन्याः anyá- चन्याः anyá- चन्याः anyá-smai, f. चन्याः anyá-syai, L. चन्याः anyá-smin; &c.
- b. सर्व sarva, 'every,' 'all,' उमय ubhá-ya, 'both' (sg. and pl.)¹, एक ६ka, 'one' (105), एकतर eka-tara, 'either,' differ only in taking म m instead of द d in the N.A. sing. neut.;—e. g. सर्व: sarva-h, सर्वा sarvä, सर्वम् sarva-m; D. सर्वक्ष sarva-smai, Ab. सर्वसात् sarva-smāt, G. सर्वस्त sarva-sys, L. सर्वस्मिन् sarva-smin; pl. N. सर्वे sarve, सर्वा: sarvāḥ, सर्वाणि sarvāṇi.
- c. Ya purva, 'prior,' 'east,' Wat ava-ra, 'posterior,' 'west,'

  WAT adha-ra, 'inferior,' 'west,' GAT út-tara, 'subsequent,'
  'north,' दिख्य daksina, 'south,' पर para, 'subsequent,' 'other,'

  WAT apa-ra, 'other,' 'inferior,' WAT anta-ra, 'outer,' ख sva.
  'own,' besides necessarily taking म m in the N.A. sing. neut..

  may follow the nominal declension in the Ab. L. sing. m. n. and

- in the N. plur. masc.;—e.g. N. A. n. पूर्वम् purva-m; Ab. m. n. पूर्वसात् purva-smat or पूर्वात् purvat; L. पूर्वस्थिन् purva-smin or पूर्व purve; N. pl. m. पूर्व purve or पूर्वा: purvah.
- d. पर्ध ardhá, 'half,' प्रत्य alpa, 'little,' कतिपय kati-paya, 'some,' प्रथम prá-thama, 'first,' चर्म cara-má, 'last,' द्वय dva-yá and द्वितय dví-taya, 'twofold' (and similar words in य ya and तय taya). are inflected like ordinary adjectives, except that they may follow the pronominal declension in the N. pl. masc.; -e.g. चरमाः caramáh or चरमे caramé.
- e. दितीय dvitiya, 'second,' and तृतीय trtiya, 'third,' may follow the pronominal declension throughout the oblique cases of the singular ;-e. g. D. m.n. तृतीयाय trtiyaya or तृतीयकी trtiya-smai; L. f. तृतीयायाम trtiyā-yām or तृतीयखाम trtiya-syām; but N. pl. m. only तृतीया: trtíyāh.
- f. Any of these pronominal words occurring at the end of possessive compounds (189) are declined like ordinary adjectives.

CONJUGATION

- 121. Sanskrit verbs are inflected with either active or middle terminations. The active voice is called Parasmai-pada. i.e. transitive (lit. 'word for another'). The middle voice is called Atmane-pada, i.e. reflexive (lit. 'word for oneself'). The passive takes the terminations of the Atmanepada; with which it coincides except in the present and imperfect (where it forms its stem with the suffix " ya), and in the third sing. sorist.
- a. The Sanskrit verb has in each tense and mood three numbers, Singular, Dual, and Plural, with three persons in each.

122. There are in Sanskrit five tenses conjugated in the indicative: 1. Present (with imperative and optative moods); 2. Imperfect; 3. Perfect; 4. Acrist (with a kind of optative called Benedictive or Precative); 5. Future (with the Conditional, a kind of past future).

There are also participles connected with three of these tenses, present, perfect, and future; and one infinitive (167), a verbal noun unconnected with any tense.

a. Classical Sanskrit has neither a pluperfect tense nor a subjunctive mood (excepting the survivals of it in the first persons imperative); nor has it an imperative or a proper optative of any tense except the present. There are, therefore, far fewer verbal forms in non-Vedic Sanskrit than in Greek.

The Present System.

123. While the perfect, aorist, and future tenses add the terminations directly (or after inserting a sibilant) to the root, the present group (the present with its moods and the imperfect) forms a special stem, which is made in ten different ways. Hence the native Sanskrit grammarians have divided all verbs into ten classes. The tenth class, which is really a secondary formation, retains its present stem in nearly all the other verbal forms also, as do the secondary verbs generally (causatives, desideratives, intensives, denominatives).

The Ten Classes.

124. The ten classes are divided into two conjugations. In the first, comprising the first, fourth, sixth, and tenth classes, the present stem ends in Wa, and remains unchanged throughout.

In the second conjugation, which comprises all the remaining classes, the terminations are added directly to the final of the root or to the suffixes  $\mathbf{S}$  u,  $\mathbf{J}$  nu,  $\mathbf{J}$  na, ( $\mathbf{J}$  ni,  $\mathbf{J}$  n), and the present stem is changeable, being either strong or weak.

A. First Conjugation.

- 125. I. The first or Bhū class adds wa a to the last letter of the root, which, being accented, takes Guṇa of a final vowel (short or long) and of a short medial vowel followed by one consonant;—e.g. bhū, 'be,' forms the present stem we bháv-a; who budh, 'know': and bódh-a.
- 2. The sixth or Tud class adds an accented w á to the root, which (being unaccented) has no Guṇa. Before this w á final R ; changes to Tir. Thus g tud, 'strike': g tud-á: k ; 'scatter': at kir-á.
- 3. The fourth or Div class adds  $\mathbf{Z}$  ya to the last letter of the root, which is accented (but the weak form in some cases assumed by the root points to the  $\mathbf{Z}$  ya having originally been accented); e.g.  $\mathbf{Z}$  nah, 'bind':  $\mathbf{Z}$  nah-ya;  $\mathbf{Z}$  div, 'play':  $\mathbf{Z}$  div-ya (133 B).
- 4. The tenth or Cur class adds the suffix we aya, before which a final vowel takes Vṛddhi, but a short medial vowel followed by one consonant takes Guṇa;—e.g. gc cur, 'steal': littor-aya. Short medial wa followed by one consonant is in most cases lengthened;—e.g. art kam: ante kām-aya, 'desire.'

B. Second Conjugation.

126. The strong forms are-

- L the singular present and imperfect active;
- 2. all first persons imperative active and middle;
- 3. the third person singular imperative active.
- In these forms the vowel of the root or the affix, being accepted, is strengthened; while in the weak forms it becomes about because the terminations are accented.

- a. In the ninth class the accented form of the affix is ना ná, the unaccented नी nī or न n; in the seventh they are respectively न ná and न n.
- 127. 1. The second or Ad class adds the terminations directly to the root, which in the strong forms takes Guna if possible (125, 1);—e. g. wa ad, 'eat': sing. 1. will ad-mi, 2. with at-si, 3. with at-ti; \(\bar{e}\) i, 'go': \(\bar{e}\) if \(\epsilon\)-mi, \(\bar{e}\) if \(\epsilon\)-si, \(\bar{e}\) if \(\epsilon\)-ti; \(\bar{e}\) iih, 'lick': \(\bar{e}\) if \(\bar{e}\)-mi, \(\bar{e}\) if \(\epsilon\) is \(\epsilon\).
- a. This and the seventh are the most difficult classes to conjugate, because terminations beginning with various consonants come into contact with the final consonants of roots, and consequently many rules of internal Sandhi have to be applied.
- 2. The third or Hu class adds the terminations directly to the reduplicated root, which in the strong forms takes Guṇa if possible;—e.g. I hu, 'sacrifice': चुड़ा ju-hó-mi, 'I sacrifice'; चुड़ा ju-hu-máh, 'we sacrifice.'
  - a. The intensives conjugated in the active (172) follow this class.
- 3. The seventh or Rudh class adds the terminations directly to the final consonant, before which a ná is inserted in the strong, and a n in the weak forms;—e.g. yay yuj, 'join': yalan yu-ná-j-mi; yala: yuñj-máh.
- 4. The fifth or su class adds ज nu, which takes Guna in the strong forms, to the root;—e.g. सु su, 'press out': सुनीसि su-nó-mi; सुनुसः su-nu-máh.
- 5. The eighth or Tan class adds उ u, which takes Guna in the strong forms, to the root;—e.g. तन् tan, 'stretch': तनीम tan-6-mi; तनुमः tan-u-máḥ.
- a. All the (seven) verbs of this class end in 可n, except 要 kṛ, 'do,' which has an irregular present stem: 西代 kar-6-mi(134E).
- 6. The ninth or Krī class adds to the root of ná in the strong forms, but in the weak of nī before consonants and of n

The Augment.

- 128. The imperfect, the sorist, and the conditional prefix to the root accented W á as their augment, which forms Vṛddhi with an initial vowel (23);—e.g. बुध budh, 'know': 3. sing. imperf. सवीधत á-bodha-t; उद्ध und, 'wet': उनित u-ná-t-ti, 'he wets,' भीगत áu-na-t, 'he wetted'; स ṛ, 'go': सकति ṛccháti, 'he goes,' आकर्त árcchat, 'he went.'
- s. The augment is dropped in the imperf. and a rist (which are then used imperatively) after the prohibitive particle HT ma  $(\mu \dot{\eta})$ : HI and or a la ma karṣīt or karot, 'may he not do it.'

Reduplication.

129. Five verbal formations take reduplication in Sanskrit: the present stem of the third conjugational class, the perfect, one kind of aorist, the desiderative, and the intensive. Each of these five has certain peculiarities, which must be treated separately under the special rules of reduplication (130, 135, 149, 170, 173). Common to all are the following.

General Rules of Reduplication.

- 1. The first syllable of a root (i.e. that portion of it which ends with a vowel) is reduplicated;—e.g. 34 budh: 334 bu-budh.
- 3. Aspirated letters are represented by the corresponding unaspirated;—e.g. सिंह bhid, 'cut': विसिंह bi-bhid; घू dhū, 'shake': इपू du-dhū.
- 3. Gutturals are represented by the corresponding palatals, th by ज j;—e.g. जम kam, 'love': चलम ca-kam; खन khan, 'dig': चलन ca-khan; नम gam, 'go': जगम ja-gam; इस has, 'iangh': जहस ja-has.

- 4. If the root begins with more than one consonant, the first only is reduplicated;—e.g. 37 kruś, 'shout': 337 cu-kruś; 34 kṣip, 'throw': 345 ci-kṣip.
- 5. If a root begins with a sibilant followed by a hard consonant, the latter is reduplicated;—e.g. \( \mathbf{q} \) stu, 'praise': \( \mathbf{q} \) tu-stu (67); \( \mathbf{q} \) stand': \( \mathbf{q} \) tall ta-sth\( \mathbf{a} \); \( \mathbf{q} \) sent, 'drip': \( \mathbf{q} \) qu-scut; \( \mathbf{q} \) saland, 'leap': \( \mathbf{q} \) ca-skand. But \( \mathbf{q} \) smr, 'remember': \( \mathbf{q} \) sa-smr (m is soft).
- 6. If the radical vowel, whether final or medial, is long, it is shortened in the reduplicative syllable; e. g. बाह gāh, 'enter': जगाइ ja-gāh; की krī, 'buy': चिक्री ci-krī; कूज kūj, 'hum': चुकूज cu-kūj.
- 7. If the radical (not final) vowel is ए e, it is represented by दं; if को o or की au, by उ u;—e.g. सेव् sev, 'worship': सिषेव् si-sev (67); डोक् dhauk, 'approach': दुडीक् dudhauk.
- 8. Roots which, according to the native Sanskrit grammarians, end in ए e, ऐ ai, ओ o are more conveniently stated to end in आ ā, and are so treated in reduplication;—e.g. श gai, 'sing,' 3. sing. perfect चर्गी ja-gau (136, 4).

Special Rule of Reduplication for the Third Class.

130. ऋ r and ऋ r are represented in reduplication by र i;— मु bhr, 'bear': विमर्ति bí-bhar-ti; पू pr, 'fill': पिपर्ति pí-par-ti.

Terminations.

131. The following table gives the terminations, which are on the whole the same for all verbs, of the present system. The chief difference is in the optative, which is characterized by U e in the first, and U yá and T in the second conjugation. It will prevent confusion to remember that the present indicative has the primary (-mi, -si, -ti, &c.), while the imperative (with some variations) and the optative, as well as the imperfect, have the secondary terminations (-m,-s,-t,&c.). Of the other tenses, the future takes the primary, and the acrist, with the benedictive and the conditional, takes the secondary terminations; while the perfect takes in the active (with many variations) the secondary, and in the middle, the primary endings.

In order to understand clearly the difference between the two conjugations, the following points should be noted. In the first or a-conjugation (as in the a-declension), the accent is never on the terminations, but always on the same syllable of the stem (the root in the first and fourth, the affix in the sixth and tenth classes), which therefore remains unchanged. On the other hand, in the second conjugation (as in the declension of changeable stems) the accent falls on the strong stem, which is shortened in the weak forms by the shifting of the accent to the terminations. In the second conjugation, therefore, the terminations are accented except in the strong forms (126) of the present. The same would apply to the imperfect, were it without an augment (128).

i. The final ज a of the first conjugation is lengthened before म m or व् v;—e.g. भवामि bhávā-mi, भवाबः bbavā-valı.

- 2. Terminations beginning with vowels should be added in the first conjugation after dropping the final wa;—e.g. water á-bhav-am, मनत bháv-et.
- 3. The terminations of the first conjugation, given in the above table as beginning with  $\mathbf{U}e$ , really consist of the final  $\mathbf{U}a$  of the base  $+\mathbf{\hat{\xi}}$   $\mathbf{\hat{z}}$ ; but on practical grounds it is preferable to assume that they begin with  $\mathbf{U}e$ .
- 4. Verbs of the first conjugation take no termination in the 2. sing. imperat. Par. (being exactly parallel with the vocative singular of the a-declension). Those of the second take [4] dhi (Gk.  $\theta_i$ ) after consonants, [7] hi after vowels. But
  - a.-in the ninth class আৰু ana takes the place of ভি dhi;—
    e.g. নথাৰ math-ana¹ (but ক্লীবীত্তি krī-nī-hi).
  - b. It hi is dropped in the fifth and eighth classes, if the U is preceded by a single consonant; e.g. Un su-nú (but un ap-nu-hí).
  - c. in the third class Thu adds W dhi (instead of E hi) after a vowel: Thu ju-hu-dhi.
- 5. Verbs of the third class and some other reduplicated present stems (cp. 134 A 4, B; 172) drop the ¶n of the 3. plur. pres. indic. and imperat. Par. In the Ātm. the whole second conjugation rejects the ¶n of the 3. plur. pres. impf. impv.

gunated;—e.g. H bhī, 'fear': Alany: á-bi-bhay-uh; Ageg: á-ju-hav-uh; Alan á-yā-n or Ag: á-y-uh. That the final of this ending (which also appears in the 3. plur. optative and the 3. plur. perf. active) is etymologically \(\bar{\chi}\), and not \(\bar{\chi}\) s, is proved by the corresponding forms in the Avesta.

Paradigms.

132. As the four classes of the first conjugation are inflected exactly alike, one paradigm will suffice for them. The same applies to the fifth and eighth classes. In the second class dvis has been used for the paradigm, because it illustrates better than we ado both the rules of internal Sandhi and the difference between strong and weak forms.

Irregularities of the Present Stem.

First Conjugation.

- 133. A. First or Bhū Class, ा. क्रम् kram, 'step,' आ-चम् ā-cam, 'sip,' गृह् guh, 'conceal,' ष्टिव् sthiv, 'spit,' lengthen their vowel:—क्राम krám-a, आधाम ā-cám-a, गृह gúh-a, शिव sthiv-a.— मृज् mṛi, 'cleanse,' takes Vṛddhi: मार्ज marj-a.—सह sad, 'sink,' substitutes है î for स a: सीह sid-a (for si-s[a]da: Lat. sīdo).
- 2. बस gam, 'go,' and यस yam, 'restrain,' form the present stem with क cha (Gk.  $\sigma \kappa$ ): गच्छ gá-ccha, यच्छ yá-ccha (see below, C 2).
- 3. AT ghrā, 'smell,' UT pā, 'drink,' UT sthā, 'stand,' reduplicate with ξ i: UT jf-ghra, UT pf-ba (Lat. bi-bo), AT tí-ṣṭha (Gk. ἴ-στη-μι, Lat. sisto). These verbs originally belonged to the third (reduplicating) class (cp. Uξ sad above, A 1).
- 4. दंग dams, 'bite,' सन्ध manth, 'churn,' सञ्च sanj, 'adhere,' drop the nasal:—ह्या das-a, सच math-a, सच saj-a.
- 5. কুশ্ dṛś, 'see,' ৬মা dhmā, 'blow,' দ্মা mnā, 'study,' substitute থকা páś-ya, অন dhám-a, নশ mán-a.
- B. Fourth or Div Class. 1. तम् tam, 'languish,' अस् bhram, 'roam,' ग्रम sam, 'cease,' अस sram, 'be weary,' सद् mad, 'rejoice,' दिव् div, 'play,' lengthen their vowel:—तास्य tam-ya, साव mad-ya, दीव divya, &c.
- 2. अंग् bhraṃs, 'fall,' drops its nasal: अञ्च bhraś-ya.—अभ् vyadh, 'pierce,' takes Samprasāraṇa: विश्व vidh-ya.—अन् jan. 'be born,' substitutes जा jā: जाय jā-ya (cp. 154 a, 1).
- C. Sixth or Tud Class. 1. छत् kṛt, 'cut,' सृच् muc, 'loosen,' सृष् lup, 'break,' सिष् lip, 'paint,' विद् vid, 'find,' सिष् sic, 'sprinkle,' insert a nasal:— क्रव्स kṛnt-á, सृष् muñc-á, सुम्म lump-á, सिम्म limp-á, विद् vind-á, सिम्म siñc-á.

2. र्ष is, 'wish,' substitutes क् ch for ष s, and स r, 'go,' adds क् ch:—रक i-cchá, सक् r-cchá (cp. A 2).

3. प्रक् prach, 'ask,' अच्च bhrajj, 'fry,' त्रस् vrasc, 'cut,' take Samprasāraņa:—पुक्क prech-á, भुका bhrij-á, नुस vrsc-á.

Second Conjugation.

134. A. Second or Ad Class.

- 1. The root is irregularly strengthened in the following verbs:-
- a. यु yu, 'join,' and all other roots ending in उ u, take Vrddhi instead of Guna in the strong forms before terminations beginning with consonants;—योझि yaú-mi, but स्थयम á-yav-am.
- b. मुख् mrj, 'cleanse,' takes Vrddhi instead of Guna: 3. sing. माष्टि mars-ti (cp. 63), 3. pl. मुजन्ति mrj-anti.
- c. মা sī, 'lie down,' Ātm., takes Guņa throughout its weak forms, besides inserting Tr before the terminations in the 3. plur. pres., impv., impf.:—3. sg. মার sé-te (Gk. κεῖ-ται), 3. pl. মারর sé-r-ate, মারোম sé-r-atām, মামরে á-se-r-ata.
  - 2. The root is irregularly weakened in the following verbs:-
- a. বৃশ্ vas, 'desire,' takes Samprasāraņa in the weak forms:
  3. sg. বৃষ্টি váṣ-ṭi (63 b), 3. pl. বয়ন্দি us-anti.
- b. We as, 'be,' drops its initial Wa in the optative and all the weak forms of the pres. and imperative;—e.g. 3. sg. opt. WITA s-yat; 3. pl. pres. We s-anti (sunt). The 2. sing. impv. is US e-dhí (for az-dhí, Avestic zdī). In the imperfect it inserts t i before the endings of the 2. 3. sing.: WE as-ih, WITA as-i-t.
- c. Eq han, 'kill,' Par., drops its q n before \(\pi\) t and \(\pi\) th in the weak forms: 3. sg. \(\begin{align*}{c}\) \(\pi\) and \(\pi\) ha-th. In the 3. pl. pres., impv., impf. the radical \(\pi\) a is dropped and the \(\beta\) h becomes \(\pi\) gh: \(\pi\) \(\pi\) and \(\pi\) ha-ant. The 2. sg. impv. is \(\pi\) \(\beta\) in \(\pi\) (for \(\pi\) \(\beta\) jha-hf, with palatalized initial, instead of \(\pi\) gha-hf).

- 3. A vowel or semivowel is irregularly inserted in the following verbs:—
- e. चन an, 'breathe,' जच jaks, 'eat,' चढ़ rud, 'weep,' स्रस s'vas, 'breathe, 'ख्य svap, 'sleep,' insert द i before terminations beginning with consonants except च y; but दे i or स a before the स s and त t of the 2. 3. sg. impf. Par.;—e.g. रोडिम ród-i-mi, but चढ़ित rud-anti, च्याम rud-yam; impf. 3. sg. सरोदोत á-rod-i-t or सरोदत á-rod-a-t.
- b. देख îd, 'praise,' and देख îs, 'rule,' both Ātm., insert द i before terminations beginning with स s and ध dh (i.e. 2. sg. pl. pres. and impv.):—देशिये is-i-se, देशियों is-i-dhve; देशिया is-i-sva, देशिया is-i-dhvam.
- c. त्र brū, 'speak,' inserts रें ī in the strong forms before terminations beginning with consonants:—जवीमि brav-ī-mi (but जूम: brā-māḥ), सज्ञवीत् á-brav-ī-t.
- d. (i preceded by will adhi, 'read' (Atm. only), resolves in the pres. and it ai (augm. a+i) in the impf. before vowels into the iy and it aiy:—pres. sg. 1. will adhi-y-é, 2. will adhi-eé; impf. sg. 1. will adhy-ái-y-i, 2. will adhy-ái-thāh.
- 4. The reduplicated verbs unit ca-kās, 'shine,' un ja-kṣ (for ja-gh[a]s, from ghas), 'eat,' un jā-gṛ, 'wake' (intensive of gṛ, elegī dari-drā (intensive of gṛ drā, 'run'), 'be poor,' though accounted verbs of the second class, follow those of the third in taking un ati and un atu in the 3. pl. pres. and impv., and un for un an in the 3. pl. impf. :—3. sg. elegītā dáridrāti, 3. pl. elegātā dáridrati; 3. pl. impf. un ja ajakṣ-uḥ.
- . बास śās, 'rule,' follows the same analogy; it also takes जिन्हें के its weak stem before consonants:—3. sg. शासि śās-ti, da. ब्रिट: अंक-ṭāḥ, pl. शासित śās-ati.

- B. Third or Hu Class. 1. दा तह, 'give,' and आ dhū, 'place,' use दह dad and द्ध dadh as their stems in the weak forms. दध dadh (against 62b) becomes धत dhat before त t and ध th: दधानि da-dhá-mi, but du. 1. दध्यः dadh-váḥ, 2. धत्यः dhat-tháḥ. The 2. sg. impv. Par. is देहि de-hí (for da-z-dhí) and धहि dhe-hí (for dha-z-dhí).
- 2. HI mā, 'measure,' and EI hā, 'depart,' both Ātm., have HH mi-mī and GEI ji-hī as their present stems, dropping the Lī before vowels:—pres. sg. 1. GE jih-e, 2. GEIU jihī-ṣe, pl. 3. GER jih-ate; impf. sg. 1. WAEE á-jih-i, 2. WAEET: á-jihī-thāh, pl. 3. WAEET á-jih-ata.
- #. हा hā, 'abandon,' Pari, has जही jahī in the weak forms, dropping रें ī before vowels and र y:—3. sg. जहाति jahā-ti, but du. जहीतः jahī-taḥ, pl. जहति jah-ati; impv. 2. sg. जहीहि jahī-hi; opt. 1. sg. जहारि jah-yām.
- C. Pifth or Su Class. 1. Roots ending in vowels may drop the उ u before व् v or स् m:—सुनोिंस su-nó-mi, but सुन्द: sun-váḥ or सुनुद: su-nu-váḥ.
- 2. Roots ending in consonants change उ u to उव् uv before vowels:—ग्रह्मदोन्त sak-nuv-anti.
- 3. बु sru, 'hear,' and घू dhū, 'shake,' form the present stems युंब sr-nu and घुनु dhu-nu.
- D. Seventh or Rudh Class. यज्ञ anij, 'anoint,' सञ्ज bhanij, 'break,' हिंस hims, 'injure,' drop their nasal before inserting ज na:— यज्ञाका a-ná-j-mi, सर्वाका bha-ná-j-mi, हिन्स hi-na-s-mi.
- E. Eighth or Tan Class. क kṛ, 'do,' takes ज्रो kar-6 as its atrong stem, and as its weak ज्रु kur-u, the उ u of which must be dropped before स् m, ए प्र, च v: ज्रोसि karó-mi, जुद्धः kuru-tháḥ; but जुद्दैः kur-váḥ, जुर्सैः kur-máḥ; जुद्दीस् kur-yám. Other verbs of this class may drop the उ u before प् v and स् m as in the fifth. When compounded with the prepositions परि pari and सम sam, the verb क्र kṛ has an initial स् s: परिकृत pariskṛta, 'adorned,' संस्कृत saṃ-skṛta, 'put together.' This स् s is not original.

- P. Winth or Krī Class, 1. घू dhū, 'shake,' पू pū, 'purify,' घू lū, 'cut,' shorten their vowel:—धुनामि dhu-nā-mi, पुनामि pu-nā-mi, सुनामि lu-nā-mi.
- 2. जा jñā, 'know,' and यह grah, 'seize,' are shortened to जा jā and गृह grh:—जानामि jā-ná-mi; गृह्यामि grh-ná-mi (65).
- 3. बन्ध bandh, bind, and मन्स् manth, churn, drop the nasal:— बन्नासि badh-na-mi, मन्तासि math-na-mi.

The Perfect Tense.

135. This tense is formed either by reduplication or periphrastically. Roots follow the former method, derivative verbs (chiefly causatives) the latter. There are also four roots with a prosodically long initial vowel (140 a, 1) which take the periphrastic perfect.

Special Rules of Reduplication.

- ı. ऋ ṛ, ऋ ݓ, ख ļ are represented by अ a in the reduplicative syllable;—e.g. क kṛ, 'do': चकार ca-kār-a; तू tṛ, 'cross': ततार ta-tār-a; कूप klp, 'be able': चक्कप ca-klp-é.
- 2. Initial wa or was becomes was;—e.g. wa ad, 'eat': wa add-a; way ap, 'obtain': why ap-a (cp. 140 a, 1).
- 3. Roots beginning with \( \mathbb{T} \) i contract \( \mathbb{T} \) i to \( \mathbb{T} \) i; but if the radical \( \mathbb{T} \) i takes Guns or Yrddhi, \( \mathbb{Y} \) is inserted between the reduplicative syllable and the root;—e.g. \( \mathbb{T} \) is, 'desire,' 3. pl. \( \mathbb{T} \); is-\( \mathbb{T} \) is -\( \mathbb{T} \) is -\( \mathbb{T} \) is -\( \mathbb{T} \).
- 4. Roots beginning with or containing  $\mathbf{z}$  ya or  $\mathbf{z}$  va, and liable to Samprasāraṇa (cp. 137, 2c), reduplicate with  $\mathbf{z}$  i and  $\mathbf{z}$  u:—

यज् yaj, 'sacrifice': र्याज i-yáj-a; वच् vac, 'speak': उवाच

136. The singular perfect active is strong, like the singular active present and imperfect, the root being accented; the remaining forms are weak, the terminations being accented. The endings are the following:—

PARASMAIPADA. DUAE. PLURAL. SINGULAR. (夏)可 (i)-vá (夏) # (i) má चपुर á-thur 1 (夏)智 (i)-tha चतुर á-tur1 उर् धः (131, 6) ĀTMANEPADA. (इ)वहे (i)-váhe (इ) महे (i)-máhe V é (x) 6 (i) -dh vé (इ)चे (i)-sé Tie áthe चाते áte Fit i-ré Τé

**s. The terminations with initial consonant are added with the connecting vowel \(\mathbf{i}^2\) except in the eight verbs: \(\mathbf{g}\) dru, 'run,' \(\mathbf{g}\) sru, 'hear,' \(\mathbf{g}\) stu, 'praise,' \(\mathbf{g}\) sru, 'flow,' \(\mathbf{g}\) kr, 'do,' \(\mathbf{g}\) bhr, 'bear,' \(\mathbf{g}\) vr, 'choose,' \(\mathbf{g}\) sr, 'go,' where it must be omitted. The 3. pl. \(\mathbf{A}\)tm. retains the \(\mathbf{g}\) i even in these verbs. In 2. sg. Par. it is omitted by many other verbs also, and is optional in verbs ending in \(\mathbf{g}\) i, \(\mathbf{g}\) u.

<sup>1</sup> In these two dual forms  $\exists \zeta$  ur has been borrowed from the 3. pl., the two endings  $\exists \zeta$  thur and  $\exists \zeta$  tur corresponding to the 2.3. du. pres.  $\exists \xi$  that and  $\exists \xi$  that and  $\exists \xi$  the sand  $\exists \xi$  that are the sand  $\exists \xi$  that  $\exists \xi$  that  $\exists \xi$  the sand  $\exists \xi$  that  $\exists \xi$  that  $\exists \xi$  the sand  $\exists \xi$  that  $\exists \xi$  the sand  $\exists \xi$  that  $\exists$

This  $\P$  i was in origin probably the reduced form of the final  $\P$   $\P$  a of roots like  $\P$  da, 'give,' and became the starting-point of  $\P$  i as a connecting vowel in other verbs.

The Strong Stem.

short vowels followed by a single consonant take Guṇa; hout the singular;—e. g. रूप iṣ, 'wish': र्येष् i-y-és; udh, 'wake': युवोध bu-bódh; but जीव jīv, 'live': जिजीव inal vowels take Vṛddhi or Guṇa in the first person singular, in the second, Vṛddhi only in the third;—e.g. रू i, 'go': यां-y-áy-a or र्ययां-y-áy-a; 2. रिथ i-y-é-tha; 3. र्याय a; क्र kṛ, 'do': 1. यवार ca-kár-a or चकर ca-kár-a: र्यं ca-kár-tha; 3. चकार ca-kár-a.

edial আ a followed by a single consonant takes Vrddhi in id optionally in 1.;—e.g. হ্ৰ han, 'kill': 1. অঘাৰ jaghán-a ন jaghán-a, 3. অঘাৰ jaghán-a.

nots ending in u ā (or diphthongs: 129, 8) take u au sg., and may retain u ā before u thain 2. sg. (cp. 136 a);—'dhā, 'place': 1. 3. cu da-dháu, 2. curu dadhá-tha u dadh-i-thá.

[Thva or ] hve, 'call,' is treated as $\ h\bar{u}:\to 3. sg. \text{3[5]}
\[ \text{(cp. 154$\, \alpha, 3).} \]

The Weak Stem.

. In roots containing the vowels i, ŭ, r, the radical e remains unchanged, except by Sandhi;—e.g. ৰুখ্ ৰুখিন bu-budh-i-ma; ক্ল kṛ: ব্যুক্তন ca-kṛ-má; ব্যু stu: sṭu-má.

ore terminations beginning with vowels final  $\P$ i,  $\P$ i,  $\P$ i led by one consonant become  $\P$ y,  $\P$ r, if by more than iy,  $\P$ q ar; while  $\P$ u,  $\P$ s  $\Pi$ u, and  $\P$ q  $\Pi$ i always become ad  $\P$ q ar;—e.g.  $\Pi$ ni, 'lead':  $\Pi$ q; ni-ny-úh;  $\Pi$ g ári,  $\Pi$ q ag: si-śriy-úh;  $\Pi$ g kṛ, 'do':  $\Pi$ q; ca-kr-úh;  $\Pi$ g sṭi,

- 'strew': तसाव: ta-star-uh; यु yu, 'join': युयुव: yu-yuv-uh; कू kṛ, 'scatter': चवाद: ca-kar-uh.
- 2. In roots containing a medial wa a or a final was, the radical syllable is weakened.
- a. Roots in which was is preceded and followed by a single consonant (e.g. un pat), and which reduplicate the initial consonant unchanged (this excludes roots beginning with aspirates, gutturals, and for the most part v), contract the two syllables to one with the diphthong ue(cp. Lat. făc-iō, fēc-ī)¹. This contraction takes place even in 2. sg. Par. when we that is added with vi);—e.g. ue pac, 'cook': 2. sg. ue pec-i-thá (but uus papáktha), 3. pl. ue; pec-úh; na tan, 'stretch': and ten-i-thá, and ten-úh.
- b. जन jan (139, 2), 'be born,' and four roots with medial wa beginning with gutturals, viz. खन khan, 'dig,' गम gam, 'go,' चस् ghas, 'eat,' इन han, 'kill,' weaken the root by dropping the radical vowel:—3. sg. Ātm. जन्ने ja-jñ-é; 3. sg. Par. जगम ja-gám-a, but 3. pl. जगम: ja-gm-úh; जघास ja-ghás-a, but जन्न: ja-kṣ-úh; जघान ja-ghán-a, but जन्न: ja-ghn-úh (cp. 134, 2c).
- c. Five roots beginning with व va, viz. वच् vac, 'speak,' वट् vad, 'speak,' वप् vap, 'strew,' वस् vas, 'dwell,' वह vab, 'carry'; also यज् vaj, 'sacrifice,' व्यध् vyadh, 'pierce,' स्वप् svap, 'sleep,' यह grah, 'seize,' take Samprasāraņa. In the first five उ u + उ u (cp. 135, 4) contract to ज ū, in the sixth द i + द i to दे ī:—3. sg. उवाच u-vác-a, but pl. जमु: ūc-úh (for u-uc-úh); र्याज i-yáj-a, but देज: īj-úh (for i-ij-úh); सुखाप su-ṣváp-a (67), but सुपु: su-ṣup-úh; जयाह ja-gráh-a, but जगुड: ja-grɨh-úḥ.

d. Roots ending in T a drop it in all the weak forms, and optionally in 2. sg. Par. (see 136a and 138, 3).

Irregularities.

- 139. 1. अज bhaj, 'share,' though beginning with an aspirate, 'ollows the analogy of the contracting verbs with u e (137, 2 a): sg. बमाज ba-bháj-a, but 3. pl. भेजु: bhej-úh. Similarly राज् खें, 'shine' (medial ā), and optionally पस tras, 'tremble' (two nitial consonants), and अस bhram, 'wander' (initial aspirate, wo consonants):—3. sg. A. रेज rej-e; 3. pl. P. तचसु: ta-tras-uh >र चेसु: tres-uh; वचसु: ba-bhram-uh or धेसु: bhrem-uh.
- 2. यम् yam, 'reach,' and वम vam, 'vomit,' though beginning with य ya and व va, do not take Samprasāraņa, but follow137, 2a:— ययाम ya-yama, but यमे yem-é; ववाम va-vam-a, but वेमुः 'em-uh; while वस vas, 'wear,' Ātm., does not weaken the root t all:—ववसे va-vas-e.
- 3. विद् vid, 'know,' forms an unreduplicated perfect with present meaning: वेद véd-a, 'Iknow' (Gk. olòa, Germ. weiss), वेत्य 'ét-tha (οἰσ-θα), वेद véd-a (οἰδε); विद्य vid-ma (ιδ-μεν, wissen), वेद vid-a, विदु: vid-úḥ.
- 4. चि ci, 'gather,' वि ji, 'conquer,' हि hi, 'impel,' हन han, kill,' revert to their original guttural in the radical syllable:— चनाय ci-káy-a, जिगाय ji-gáy-a, जिघाय ji-gháy-a, जघान a-ghán-a (cp. 137, 2b).
- 5. अह ah, 'say,' is defective, forming only 2. sg. dual and 3. sg. ual pl.: भात्य át-tha, भाह áh-a; भाहपु: āh-áthuḥ, भाहतु: h-átuḥ; भाइ: āh-úḥ.
- 6. મામ ams, 'reach,' reduplicates with the syllable મામ ān, in thich the radical nasal is repeated with the initial vowel (cf. Gk. or. inf. ἐν-ϵγκ-ϵῖν); on the other hand, the radical nasal is dropped a the weak forms: 3. sg. P. મામ ān-áṃśa, 3. pl. Ā. મામ π-aś-ire. The analogy of this verb is followed by મર્ચ arc, praise ':—3. sg. મામ ān-árc-a.

7. A bhū, 'be,' has the double irregularity of reduplicating with ¶a and retaining its ¶ū throughout (cp. Gk. πε-φύ-āσι):—

बमुव ba-bhti-v-a बभूव ba-bhú-v-a

बभूविंव ba-bhū-v-i-vá बभूविम ba-bhū-v-i

न्यून ba-bhū-v-áthuḥ वमून ba-bhū-v-á

बभूवतु: ba-bhū-v-átuḥ बभूवु: ba-bhū-v-úḥ

Periphrastic Perfect.

- 140. The verbs which cannot reduplicate, form their perfect by making an abstract feminine noun in the accusative, will am, and adding to this the reduplicated perfect of a kr, 'do,' we as, 'be,' or \ bhū, 'be.' This formation started with the employment of the transitive verb क kr, e.g. गमयां चनार gamayam cakāra, 'he did going,' i.e. 'he did go'; but in classical Sanskrit the periphrastic perfect is usually formed with WR as, the other two auxiliaries occurring only exceptionally. The periphrastic perfect is almost entirely limited to the derivative verbs in आय aya (tenth class, causatives, and denominatives);—e. g. बोधया-HIH bodhayam asa, 'he awakened.' Hardly any examples of desideratives or intensives are found in this tense.
- a. The following are the few primary verbs taking the periphrastic perfect:-
- 1. four roots beginning with a prosodically long vowel: आस ās, 'sit,' रेप îks, 'see,' उच्य ujjh, 'forsake,' एघ edh, 'thrive';e.g. आसां चंक्रे ās-ām cakre. 'he sat.'
- 2. the reduplicated roots चनास ca-kas, 'shine,' and जाग ब्र-हा, 'awake' (properly an intensive, 134 A 4) :-- चनासां चनार cakās-ām cakāra, जागरामास jāgar-ām āsa.
- 3. the roots # bhr, bear, and, in the Epics, nī, lead, and है hve, 'call,' optionally:—विभरां वभूव bibhar-ām babhuva or वसार ba-bhār-a, 'he bore'; (त्रा)नयामास (ā-)nayām āsa or निनाय ni-nāy-a, 'he brought'; इयामास hvay-ām āsa or जुहाव ju-hāv-a, 'he called.'

Aorist.

I4I. There are two kinds of aorists in Sanskrit, as in Greek. The First is formed by inserting a sibilant between root and termination, the Second by adding the terminations to the root with or without the connecting vowel Wa. Both aorists take the augment (which is accented) and the secondary terminations. There are four forms of the First Aorist, and three of the Second.

First Aorist.

a. The first form is made by adding to the augmented root the suffix \( \mathbf{R} \) sa, and is inflected like an imperfect of the first conjugation (\( a \)-bhava-t\) except in the \( \text{Atm. 1. sg., 2. 3. dual (where it follows the impf. of \( \text{Q} \) dvis). It is taken by only a few roots ending in \( \mathbf{R} \) s and \( \mathbf{R} \) h (which become \( \mathbf{R} \) k before \( \mathbf{R} \) s: \( 63 \) b; \( 69 \) a), and containing the vowels \( \mathbf{L} \) i, \( \mathbf{L} \) u, or \( \mathbf{R} \) r, which remain unchanged; \( -\mathbf{L} \) e.g. \( \mathbf{L} \) \( \mathbf{L} \) dis, 'point': 3. sg. \( \mathbf{L} \) \( \mathbf{L} \) \( \mathbf{L} \) dis, 'point': 4. sg. \( \mathbf{L} \) a-di\( \mathbf{L} \) sat. \( \mathbf{L} \) diside (\( \mathbf{L} \) call \( \mathbf{L} \) is form corresponds to the Greek First Aorist (\( \mathbf{L} \)-\( \mathbf{L} \) e. Lat. dixi-t).

by adding to the augmented root the suffixes H s, H i-s, H is second conjugation (á-dveṣ-am). The sis-form is used, in the Par. only, by a few roots ending in H is, which remains unchanged throughout. The s-form and is-form are used by roots ending in other vowels than H is, or in consonants; both have H is throughout the Parasmaipada (a medial vowel has only Guṇa in the is-form) and Guṇa throughout the Atmanepada (a medial vowel and final H r remain unchanged in the s-form). All three forms have the peculiar endings H is, H it in the 2. 3. sing. Par., and must take H ur in the 3. plur.

a. हा kṛ, 'do,' as ending in चा ṛ, is similarly inflected:—Par. चनार्थम् á-kār-ṣ-am, चनार्थीः á-kār-ṣ-īḥ, चनार्थीः á-kār-ṣ-īṭ, &c. Ātm. चन्नार्थ á-kṛ-ṣ-i, चन्नार्थाः á-kṛ-thāḥ, चन्नार्व-kṛ-ta, &c. The last two forms do not properly belong to the s-aorist, being borrowed from the second form of the root aorist (148) which is not otherwise inflected in the Ātm.

Irregularities of the s-form.

- 144. I. Before the suffix स s final radical (a) न n as well as स m becomes Anusvāra (cp. 66 A 2);—e.g. समंस á-mam-sta, from मन man, 'think,' as well as पांस á-ram-sta, from रम ram, 'be glad' (cp. 42 B I); (b) स s in the verb वस vas, 'dwell,' becomes त t: चनात्मीत a-vāt-sīt (66 B I).
- 2. The termination चिम dhvam (before which the सs of the aorist is always lost) becomes दूम dhvam when the सs would have been cerebralized (cp. 66 B 2);—e.g. चनेद्रम á-ne-dhvam (for á-ne-ṣ-dhvam).
- 3. दा dā, 'give,' धा dhā, 'place,' स्था sthā, 'stand' (which takes the second agrist in the Par., 148), weaken their vowel to दां (cp. 136 a, note 2) before the terminations of the Ātmanepada:—
  चिद्ध á-di-ṣ-i, चिद्धाः á-di-thāh (cp. 143 a), चिद्धाः á-di-ta (ĕ-ठ०-то), चिद्धाः á-di-ṣ-vahi, &c.
- 4. दुन् dṛś, 'see,' सज sṛi, 'create,' सृत्य spṛś, 'touch,' take Vṛddhi with metathesis in the Par.;—e. g. 3. sg. असाचीत á-srāk-ṣīt (63 a, note 2), du. असाष्टाम á-srāṣ-ṭām (63 a; 66 B 2), pl. असाबु: á-srāk-ṣuḥ; Ā. अस्चि á-sṛk-ṣi, अस्टा: á-sṛṣ-ṭhāḥ, अस्ट á-sṛṣ-ṭa, &c.
- 5. The sorist of \(\bar{e}\) dah, 'burn,' and \(\bar{e}\) rudh, 'hinder,' is difficult owing to the Sandhi(69a; 62b):—sg. \(\bar{e}\) 13 TH \(\bar{e}\)-sg. \(\bar{e}\) स्थार्चः á-dhāk-ṣīḥ, स्थार्चात् á-dhāk-ṣīt; du. स्थाद्ध á-dhāk-ṣva, सद्ग्यम् á-dāg-dham, सद्ग्याम् á-dāg-dhām; pl. स्थाद्ध á-dhāk-ṣma, सद्ग्याः á-dāg-dha, स्थापुः á-dhākṣuḥ; Ā. sg. स्थाच्छ á-dhak-ṣ-i, सद्ग्याः á-dag-dhāḥ, सद्ग्य á-dag-dha; स्थल्लाह्ध á-dhak-ṣ-atām; pl. स्थलाह्यम् á-dhak-ṣ-athām, स्थलाताम् á-dhak-ṣ-atām; pl. स्थलाह्य á-dhak-ṣ-ata; इmahi, स्थाय्यम् á-dhag-dhvam (62 a), स्थल्त á-dhak-ṣ-ata; स्रोत्सम् á-raut-sam; du. 2. स्रोह्यम् á-raud-dham (62 b), pl. 2. स्रोह्य á-raud-dha; Ātm. sing. 1. स्रुत्स á-rut-s-i, 2. स्रुद्धाः á-rud-dhāḥ, 3. स्रुह्य á-rud-dha; pl. 2. स्रुह्यम् á-rud-dhvam, 3. स्रुत्सत् á-rut-s-ata.

Third or is-form.

145. This form differs from the preceding merely in adding the swith the connecting vowel si (which changes it to s, 67). The endings of the 2.3. sg. are st is, to it (for iṣ-s, iṣ-t; cp. 28; 150). Hardly any Parasmaipada forms of iṣ-aorists from roots ending in vowels occur in classical Sanskrit, but one such, formed from y pū, 'purify,' in the older language and inflected in both voices, may be taken as a paradigm for the active as well as the middle:—

b. मद् mad, 'exhibarate,' and वद् vad, 'speak,' take Vrddhi in the Par.: चमादिषु: á-mād-is-uh; चवादीत á-vād-īt.

Fourth or sig-form.

146. This form differs from the preceding one simply in prefixing an additional H s to the suffix. It is conjugated in the Parasmaipada only, and is used by not more than six roots, all ending in H ā. H yā, 'go,' may serve as an example:—

PARASMAIPADA.

I. चयासिषम्	ष्रयासिष्व	श्रयासिष्म

3· भयासी त्	चयासिष्टाम्	ष्ययासिषुः á-vā-sīt	á-vā-sis-tām	a-yā-siṣ- nḥ

Second Aorist.

147. This sorist is like an imperfect formed directly from the root, the terminations being added with or without the connecting yowel \(\mathbb{A}\) a.

The first form is like an imperfect of the sixth class, the stem being formed by adding  $\P$  a to the unmodified root. It corresponds to the Second Aorist of the first conjugation in Greek ( $\tilde{\epsilon}$ - $\tau\nu\pi$ - $\sigma$ - $\nu$ ). The inflexion of this aorist formed from  $\P$  sic, 'sprinkle,' is as follows:—

PARASMAIPADA.

ı. ग्र सिचम्	च सिचाव	श्रसिचाम

3. चसिचत	श्वसिचेताम्	ग्रसिचन्त

a. I. खा khyā, 'tell,' substitutes च a for चा ā: चखात् á-khya-t.—2. दुण् dṛṣ́, 'see,' takes Guṇa: चद्र्यत् á-darṣ́-a-t.— 3. चस् as, 'throw,' adds च् th to the root: आखत् ás-th-a-t¹.— 4. पत् pat, 'fall,' and वच् vac, 'speak,' form contracted reduplicated aorists:—चपत्रम् á-pa-pt-am, चवीचम् á-voc-am (for á-va-uc-am, cp. Gk. ἔ-ειπ-ο-ν).

Second Form.

148. The imperfect terminations of the second conjugation are attached to the root. This form corresponds to the Second Aorist of the second conjugation in Greek:—WITH a-dhā-in, 'I placed'  $(\tilde{\epsilon}-\theta\eta-\nu)$ ; WITH a-shā-t, 'he stood'  $(\tilde{\epsilon}-\sigma\tau\eta)$ ; WITH a-gā-t, 'he went'  $(\tilde{\epsilon}-\theta\eta)$ ; WITH a-bhū-t, 'he became'  $(\tilde{\epsilon}-\phi\bar{\nu})$ . A few verbs ending in WI  $\bar{a}$  (as well as  $\bar{a}$  bhū, 'be') take this form. This WI  $\bar{a}$  is rotained throughout except before the  $\bar{a}$  ur of the 3. pl. There is no  $\bar{a}$  than epada (cp. 143 a; 144, 3).

I. ET da, 'give': - PARASMAIPADA.

3. घटात् ६ -वेब-६	बदाताम् á-dā-tām	चदुः á-d-uḥ

The root of this sorist is, however, probably the stha, 'stand,' with the vowel shortened as in the fakhyat.

- 3. अभूत á-bhū-t अभूताम á-bhū-tām अभूवन á-bhū-v-an

Third or Reduplicated Form.

149. Excepting the primary verbs g dru, 'run,' and la śri, 'go,' this agrist has attached itself to the secondary conjugation in we aya (tenth class and causatives). The stem is formed by a peculiar reduplication of the root, to which w a is attached. The inflexion is like that of an imperfect of the first conjugation. Upwards of forty verbs take this agrist in classical Sanskrit.

Special Rules of Reduplication.

- ा. आ a, आ ā, आ इ, ग्रह रे, आ ृ are represented in the reduplicative syllable by द्रां.
  - 3. The vowel of the reduplicative syllable, unless already long by position, is lengthened.

The quantity of the first three syllables of the stem is thus almost invariably v - v: ă-jī-jān-at, ă-ji-grāh-at, ă-śi-śrĭ-y-at, ă-vī-vĭś-at, ă-dī-dřś-at, ă-dī-dăr-at (from dṛ), ă-du-drŭ-v-at, ă-mū-mŭc-at, ă-cī-klp-at.

Irregularities.

a. 1. (14 radh, succeed, and any vyadh, pierce, shorten their radical syllable, so as to produce the prevailing rhythm : अरोरधत ă-rī-rădh-a-t, अवीविधत ă-vī-vĭdh-a-t (cp. 133 B 2).

2. दीप dīp, 'shine,' and मीख mīl, 'wink,' retaining their long radical vowel, do not lengthen the reduplicative syllable, thus inverting the usual quantity of these two syllables: पदिदीपत a-didīp-a-t, श्रीमसीयत a-mimīl-a-t.

Benedictive or Precative.

150. The active of this form is very rare, while the middle does not occur at all, in classical Sanskrit. It is an acrist optative, being formed by adding the terminations directly to the root. The terminations are those of the optative of the second conjugation, with \( \mathbb{H} \) s inserted between \( \mathbb{U} \) ya and the personal inflexions. The endings of the 2. 3. sing. are यास yas (for ya-s-s), यात yat (for yas=ya-s-t: cp. 28; 145), being thus identical in form with those of the optative present (131). The Benedictive Par. of budh, 'awake,' would be formed as follows:-

2. बुध्धाः budh-ya-h budh-ya-s-tam

3. नुष्पात् budh-yấ-t

नुष्याख budh-yá-s-am budh-yá-s-va नुध्यासम

> नुष्यासाम् budh-yá-s-tām

नुष्याचा budh-yá-s-ma

नुध्यास budh-yá-s-ta

बुध्यासः

Simple Future.

- ISI. The future is formed by adding to the stem the suffix x = x + x + y = x
- a. Final vowels and prosodically short medial vowels take Guṇa;—e.g. र्i, 'go': एष्यति e-ṣyá-ti; बुध budh, 'awake': भोत्स्रते bhot-sya-te (55); र्ध rudh, 'hinder': रोत्स्रति rot-sya-ti; क्र kṛ, 'do': सर्षिति kar-i-ṣyá-ti; मुbhū, 'be': सरिष्यति bhav-i-ṣyá-ti.
- 1. Several roots take both forms; e.g. दह dah, 'burn': धच्चति dhak-syá-ti (55) and दंहिष्यति dah-i-sya-ti.
- 2. Derivatives in भयं aya retain their present stem, dropping only their final भ a;—e.g. चोर्य cor-aya, 'steal': चोर्यिष्यति coray-i-sya-ti.

Irregularities.

- b. I. Several verbs have र ra instead of घर् ar before स sya (cp. 144, 4): दृश् drá, 'see,' स्व srj, 'emit,' दए srp, 'creep,' सृश् sprá, 'touch': द्रश्यति drak-syá-ti (63 b), स्थाति srak-sya-ti (63 a), सप्यति srap-sya-ti, सुखाति sı rak-sya-ti.
- 2. A few verbs strengthen the root with a nasal before ख sya:—
  गम् nas, 'be lost': नङ्खित nank-syati as well as निश्चिति nas-i-sya-ti; नज्ज्ञ majj, 'sink': मङ्खिति mank-sya-ti.
- 3. वस् vas, 'dwell,' changes its स्s to त्t before स्व sya: वत्स्वित vat-sya-ti (66 B 1).
- 4. यह grah, 'seize,' takes है ī instead of ह i as its connecting vowel: यहीषति grah-ī-sya-ti (cp. 160, 3 a).

Periphrastic Future.

- 152. It is formed by adding the present of the verb NR as, 'be,' to the nom. masc. of an agent noun in 7 -tr (101). The nom. sing. is used in all forms except the third persons dual and plural, in which the nom. dual and plural appear. The auxiliary is omitted in the third persons. The Parasmaipada only is found in use. About forty verbs, chiefly in the Epics, take this form of the future.
- a. तु tr is added, with or without र i, to the gunated root, much in the same way as स्थ sya. But roots ending in स्थ r, as well as नम् gam, 'go,' and इन han, 'kill,' reject the connecting vowel:—क kṛ: कर्तासि kartāsmi (but करियामि kar-i-syā-mi); मनासि gantāsmi (but गमियामि gam-i-syā-mi).

Conditional.

It is formed by turning the simple future into a past, which is inflected like an imperfect of the first conjugation (ábhavam). Extremely rare even in the Par., it is still rarer in the Atm. It is to be met with chiefly in the Epics and the dramas. Examples are:—from मू bhū, 'be': (fut. भविष्याम bhav-i-syámi) प्रमविष्य á-bhavisya-h, प्रमविष्य á-bhavisya-t, &c.; Atm. प्रमविष्य á-bhavisy-e, &c.; दं, 'go': (fut. एष्ट्रामि e-syá-mi) ऐष्टम áisy-am, ऐष्ट: áisya-h, ऐष्ट्रात् áisya-t, &c.; Ātm. ऐष्ट्रा áisy-e, &c.

Passive.

154. The passive, which takes the terminations of the Atmane-pada, differs from the latter only in the forms made from the present stem and in 3. sg. aor. From the Atm. of verbs of the fourth class it differs in accent only: जहाते náh-ya-te, 'he binds'; जहाते nah-yá-te, 'he is bound.'

Before adding va, the root undergoes the following changes:-

- 1. Final आ ā (or diphthongs: 129, 8) remains or becomes र ः;—
  e.g. जा jñā, 'know': जायते jñā-yá-te; पा pā, 'drink': पीयते pī-yá-te; या gā, 'sing' (or ग्रे gai): गीयते gī-yá-te.
- 2. Final द i and उ u are lengthened;—e.g. द i, 'go': ईयते ī-yá-te; चि ci, 'collect': चीयते cī-yá-te; श्रु śru, 'hear': श्रुयते śrū-yá-te.
  - 3. Final ऋ r after a single consonant becomes रि ri, after two consonants, सर् ar;—e. g. हा kr, 'do': क्रियते kri-yá-te; but स smr, 'remember': सर्यते smar-yá-te.
  - 4. Final ऋ ृ is changed to र्ा and, after labials, to ऊर् ण ; e. g. कू kṛ, 'scatter': कीचेते kīr-yá-te; स्तू stṛ, 'strew': स्तीचेते stīr-yá-te; but पू pṛ, 'fill' (the only example): पूर्यते pūr-yá-te.
  - 5. Roots ending in a consonant preceded by a nasal, lose the nasal;—e.g. सञ्च bhañj, 'break': अज्यते bhaj-yá-te.
  - 6. Roots liable to Samprasāraņa (137, 2c) take it;—e.g. यज् yaj: राज्यते ij-yá-te; वच् vac: उच्यते uc-yá-te; यह् grah: गृह्यते grh-yá-te; स्पप् svap: सुप्यते sup-yá-te.
  - 7. Derivative verbs in चय aya drop the suffix while retaining the strong radical vowel;—e.g. चोर्य cor-aya: चोर्यते cor-yate; चार्य kār-aya (from ज kṛ): कार्यते kār-ya-te.

The passive of My bhū, 'be,' would be inflected as follows:-

PRESENT.

1. मूचे	भूयावह	भूयामहे
bhū-y-é	bhū-yā-vahe	bhū-yấ-mahð
2. मूयसे	भूयेचे	मूयधे

Irregularities.

a. 1. खन् khan, 'dig,' has either खन्यते khan-yá-te or खायते khā-yá-te; तन् tan, 'stretch': तन्यते tan-yá-te or तायते tā-yá-te; जन jan, 'beget,' has जायते ja-ya-te, 'is born' (properly an Atm. of the fourth class: cp. 133 B 2).

2. श्रास् éās, 'command,' has either शास्त्रते éās-ya-te or श्रिष्टते śię-ya-te (cp. 134, 4a).

3. हा hvā, 'call' (or है hve), has ह्रयते hū-yáte (cp. 136, 4); वा vā (or वे ve), 'weave,' जयते ū-yá-te.

Aorist Passive.

- 155. The Ātm. of this tense supplies the place of the passive except in the third person singular, which has a special form. Here the augmented root adds the suffix र i, which requires Vrddhi of a final vowel and Guṇa of a medial vowel (but wa is lengthened) followed by a single consonant; after आ ā, a य y is inserted;—e.g. अ sru, 'hear': अशावि á-srāv-i; क kṛ, 'do': अवारि á-kār-i; पद pad, 'walk': अपादि á-pād-i; विश् viś, 'enter': अविश् a-veś-i; सुच muc, 'release': असोचि á-moc-i; जा jñā, 'know': अवारि á-jñā-y-i.
- a. The following are peculiarities or irregularities in this formation:—I. सि rabh, 'seize,' shows the nasalized form of the root: अरिक a-rambh-i.—2. पु pṛ, 'fill,' has अपूरि a-pūr-i (cp. 154, 4).—3. गम gam, 'go,' रच rac, 'fashion,' वध् vadh, 'slay,' do not lengthen their अ a: अगमि a-gam-i, अरिच a-rac-i, अविध a-vadh-i.—4. Verbs in अय aya drop the suffix (cp. 154, 7): रोपय rop-aya, causative of दृह ruh, 'mount': अरोप a-rop-i.

PARTICIPLES, GERUNDS, AND INFINITIVE.

I. Active Participles.

156. The stem of the present and future participles Par. is formed with the suffix $\formallar{1}{1} \text{at} (cp. 85)$. The strong stem is obtained by dropping the $\formallar{1}$ i of the 3. pl. pres. and fut. Par.: hence verbs of the third class and other reduplicated verbs (134 A 4) have no nasal in the strong stem of the pres. part., while the fut. part. always has $\formallar{1}{1} \text{ant}$ as its strong stem. Thus:—

Pres. 3. pl.	Pres. part. (strong).	Fur. 3. pl.	FUT. PART. (strong).
भवन्ति	भवन्	भविष्यन्ति	भविष्यन्
bhávant-i (1)	bhávant	bhav-is y ánt-i	bhavisyánt
क्रीणन्ति	क्रीणन्	क्रिष्यन्ति	क्रेष्टन्त्
kıī-ņ-ánt-i (9)	krīņánt	kre-syánt-i	kresyánt
जुद्धति	जुद्धत्	होष्यन्ति	होधन्त्
júhv-at-i (3)	júhv at	ho-syánt-i	hosyánt

- a. The strong stem of the pres. part. of आस as, 'be,' is सन्त् sánt (3. pl. सन्ति s-ánt-i); that of हन् han, 'slay,' is भ्रम्त ghn-ánt (3. pl. भ्रन्ति ghn-ant-i).

3. Plur.	Weakest Stem.	STRONG STEM.	MIDDLE STEM.

a. The participle of the present perfect of विद् vid, 'know' (3. pl. विदु: vid-úh), does not take the intermediate द i:—instag. विदुषा vidúṣ-ā; acc. विदासम् vid-váṃs-am; inst. pl. विद्क्षि: vidvád-bhiḥ.

II. Atmanepada and Passive Participles.

- 158. Present and Future Participles Ātmanepada and Passive are formed with the suffix मान māna, which is added after dropping the 3. pl. termination ेने -nte:—Ātm. pres. भवभान bháva-māna, fut. भविष्यमाण bhaviṣyá-māṇa; Pass. pres. भूयमान bhūyá-māna.
- s. The second conjugation takes आन and in the pres. Atm.: जुङ्गान júhv-ana (but fut. होध्यमाण hosyá-māṇa, Pass. pres. ह्रयमान hūyá-māṇa). The root आस् ās, 'sit,' takes the anomalous suffix र्न īna: आसीन ás-īna, 'sitting.'
- 159. The Perfect Ātm. would be formed with the suffix आन इतर्थ, which is added after dropping the termination र्रो ire of the 3. pl. Ātm.;—e.g. बस्विर babhūv-iré: बस्वान babhūv-āná. It has, however, become obsolete, only a few instances of it surviving in the sense of substantives or adjectives;—e.g. सन्वान anu ūc-āná (from anu-vac, 'having repeated') 'learned.'
- 160. The Perfect Passive Participle is formed with the suffixes 7 ná and the much commoner 7 tá.
- I. ज na, which is taken by primary verbs only, and is attached immediately to the root, is used by a good many roots ending in the long vowels आ ā, रें । ज ū, ऋ ृ (which becomes रें ए ir or जर्षें) and especially in दूर्त;—e.g. आ mlā, 'fade': आन mlā-na; सी ।, 'cling': सीन ।ा-na; सू । प्रें, 'cut': सून ।प्रे-na; सू stṛ, 'strew': सीप stṛ-na; पू pṛ, 'fill': पूर्ण pur-na (cp. 154, 4); सिंद् bhid, 'cleave': सिम्न bhin-na.

- a. गुद् nud, 'push,' and विद् vid, 'find,' optionally take त ta :---गुझ nun-na or गुत्त nut-ta; विझ vin-na or वित्त vit-ta.
- b. The final of a few roots in ज् j that take न na reverts to the original guttural;—e.g. सज्ज bhañj, 'break': सप bhag-na; स्ज bhuj, 'bend': सुप bhug-na; सज्ज majj, 'sink': सप mag-na; विज् vij, 'tremble': विप vig-na.
- 2. त ta is attached to the root with or without the connecting vowel द i;—e.g. जित ji-tá, 'conquered'; पतित pat-i-ta, 'fallen.' When attaching the suffix immediately, the root has a tendency to be weakened in the usual way: verbs liable to Samprasāraņa (137, 2c) take it, आ ā is in some cases weakened to द ī or even द i, a final nasal is in several cases lost ';—e.g. युष्ण yaj, 'sacrifice': दृष्ट iṣ-ṭá (63 a; 64); वच् vac, 'speak': उत्त uk-tá; स्प्ण svap, 'sleep': सुप्त sup-tá; पा pā, 'drink': पीत pī-tá; स्पा sthā, 'stand': स्थित sthi-tá (Gk. जात-то-s, Lat. sta-tu-s); गम gam, 'go': गत ga-tá; दृष्ण han, 'kill': हत ha-tá.
  - a. भा dha, 'put,' is doubly weakened: हित hi-tá (for dhi-tá).
- b. दा dā, 'give,' uses its weak present stem द् dad: द्ता dat-tá. After certain verbal prepositions दत्त dattá is weakened to त्ता t-ta;—e.g. आत ā-tta (for ā-datta), 'taken.'
- c. Several roots in সম্ am, instead of dropping the nasal, retain it, and lengthen the preceding vowel;—e.g. কান্ kam, 'love': কান kān-ta.
- d. ध्वन् dhvan, 'sound,' follows the analogy of कम kam, &c.: ध्वान्त dhvan-ta; while a few others in धान् an use a collateral form of the root in धा ब;—e.g. खन् khan, 'dig': खात khā-ta; जन्jan, 'be born': जात jā-ta.
- 3. In i-ta is taken by a considerable number of primary verbs which end either in double consonants or in single consonants not easily combining with त t, and by all derivative verbs (which drop the final wa or wa aya before it);—e.g. शङ्क śańk, 'doubt': शङ्कित śańk-i-ta; लिख् likh, 'scratch': लिखित likh-i-ta; रिप īp-sa, desiderative of आप् āp, 'obtain': रिपित īps-i-ta; कार्य kār-aya, causative of क kṛ, 'do': कार्त kār-i-ta.

- a. The full form of the root is usually retained before द्वा ita; but बढ़ vad, 'speak,' and बस vas, 'dwell,' usually take Samprasāraṇa:—चढ़ित ud-i-tá, उपित uṣ-i-ta; while यह grah, 'seize,' always takes Samprasāraṇa and the connecting vowel दे i instead of दं: मुहोत grh-ī-tá (cp. 151 b 4).
- 161. By adding the possessive suffix वत् vat to the past pass. part., a new form of very common occurrence is made, which has the value of a perfect active participle;—e.g. जत kṛ-tá, 'done': इतवत् kṛta-vat, 'having done.' It is generally used as a finite verb, the copula being omitted;—e.g. स तत् कतवाण sa tat kṛtavan, 'he (has) done it'; सा तत् कतवती sā tat kṛtavan, 'she (has) done it' (cp. 89, foot-note 3).
- 162. The Future Passive Participle is formed with the suffixes य ya, तव tav-yà, and सनीय an-iya. They correspond in sense to the Lat. gerundive in -ndus.
  - ı. Before the suffix খ ya-
- a. final आ ā becomes ए e;—e.g. दा dā: देथ dé-ya, 'to be given.'
- b. final रां, रें î take Guṇa, उ u, ज û Guṇa or Vṛddhi, सा ṛ, कर ृं Vṛddhi;—e. g. जि ji: जेय je-ya, 'to be conquered'; जी nī: नेय ne-ya, 'to be led'; फ hu: इय hav-ya, 'to be offered'; भू bhū: साव्य bhāv-ya, 'about to be'; क्ष kṛ: कार्य kār-yà, 'to be done.'
- c. medial द i and उ u followed by a single consonant generally take Gupa, च a is sometimes lengthened, च r remains unchanged;—e.g. सिद् bhid: सेव bhed-ya, 'to be split'; युव yuj:

योज्य yoj-ya, 'to be joined'; श्रक् śak: श्रक्ष śak-ya, 'possible'; but वच् vac: वास्त्र vác-ya, 'to be said'; दृश्य dṛś: दृश्य dṛś-ya, 'to be seen.'

- 2. Before the suffix तव tavya, the root, if possible, takes Guṇa, being treated in the same way as before the ता tā of the periphrastic fut. (152);— जि ji: जेतव्य je-tavya, 'to be conquered'; सू bhū: अवितय bhav-i-tavyà, 'that must be'; गम् gam: गन्तव्य gan-tavyà, 'to be gone'; दा तैं : दातव्य तैं-tavya, 'to be given'; सिंद् bhid: भेत्तव्य bhet-tavya, 'to be split.'
- 3. Before the suffix चनीय an-iya, the root takes Guṇa;—e.g. चि ci: चयनीय cay-anīya, 'to be gathered'; मू bhū: भवनीय bhav-anīya, 'that must be'; हा kṛ: करणीय kar-aṇīya, 'to be done'; जुभ lubh: सोभनीय lobh-anīya, 'to be desired.'
- a. The जय aya of the causative is rejected;—भावय bhav-aya: भावनीय bhav-anīya, 'to be supposed.'

III. Gerund or Indeclinable Participle.

- 163. The suffix used for forming this participle from the simple verb is स्वा tv-á (an old instrumental singular of a stem in तु tu). It is most easily attached to the root by being substituted for the त tá of the passive participle;—e.g. इत kṛ-tá, 'done': इत्या kṛ-tvá, 'having done'; उत्या uk-tvā, 'spoken': उत्या uk-tvā, 'having spoken'; यत ga-tá, 'gone': यसा ga-tvá, 'having gone.'
- a. The suffix of the causative, जय aya, is, however, retained: चोरित cor-i-ta, 'stolen,' but चोरियसा cor-ay-i-tvā, 'having stolen.'
- 164. If the verb is compounded with a preposition it takes य ya instead of खा tvā: from भू bhū, 'be,' भूखा bhū-tvá, but संभूय sam-bhū-ya; from वच् vac, 'speak,' उत्का uk-tvā, but प्रोच prauc-ya; from तृ tr, 'cross,' भवतीर्य ava-tīr-ya, 'having descended'; from पु pr, 'fill,' संपूर्च sam-pūr-ya.

- s. The suffix of the causative, अय aya, is retained (excepting the final अ a) before य ya if the radical vowel is short ;—e.g. संगमय sam-gam-ay-ya from संगमय sam-gam-aya, 'cause to assemble'; but विचार्य vi-cār-ya from विचार्य vi-cār-aya, 'consider.'
- 165. ख tya is added, instead of य ya, to compound verbs ending in a short vowel;—e.g. जिला ji-tvá, but विजित्य vi-jí-tya.
- a. The analogy of these verbs is optionally followed by roots ending in न n or म m, preceded by आ a, which may drop the nasal if it is dropped in the perfect participle passive (160, 2);—e.g. गम gam, 'go': आगस्य ā-gam-ya or आगस्य ā-ga-tya (part. गत ga-tá); नम् nam, 'bend': मण्य pra-ṇam-ya (65) or मण्य pra-ṇa-tya (part. गत na-tá); मन् man, 'think': 'अन्य -man-ya or 'अन्य -ma-tya (part. गत ma-tá); हन han, 'kill': 'इन्य -han-ya or 'इत्य -ha-tya (part. गत ma-tá); तन् tan, 'stretch': 'ताय -tā-ya (cp. 154 a 1) or 'तत्य -ta-tya (part. तत ta-tá). But आम kram, 'stride,' has only 'अन्य -kram-ya (part. आन्त krānta); खन khan, 'dig,' only 'अन्य -khā-ya (part. खात khā-tá; cp. 154 a 1).
- 166. There is also a rare indeclinable participle in মল am. It is most easily formed by adding the suffix to that form which the root assumes before the হ i of the 3. sg. aor. passive (155);—e.g. মুর্দা (ম্যাবি á-śrāv-i, 'it was heard'): সাব্দ র্গর্থ-am, 'having heard.'

IV. Infinitive.

167. The infinitive (=Lat. supine) is formed by adding 34 tu-m (originally the acc. sg. of a verbal noun) to the form which the verb assumes before the ता tā of the periphrastic future (152), or the तब tavya (162,2) of the future part. pass.;—e.g. खा sthā: खातुम sthā-tum (Lat. sta-tum), 'to stand'; बुध budh: बोधितुम bodh-i-tum, 'to awake'; भू bhū: भिवतुम bháv-i-tum, 'to be'; क्र kṛ: कर्तुम kár-tum, 'to do'; हुण् dṛś: द्रष्टुम dráṣ-ṭum (151 b 1), 'to see'; वह vah: वोढ्रम vóḍhum (69 b), 'to carry'; सह sah: सोड्रम soḍhum (69 b), 'to bear'; चुर् cur: चोर्थितुम coray-i-tum, 'to steal.'

DERIVATIVE VERBS.

I. Causatives.

- 168. This, the commonest class of derivative verbs, is formed with the suffix अय aya in the same way as the tenth class (125, 4), and is similarly inflected;—e.g. नी गाँ, 'lead': नायय गाँउ-aya, 'cause to lead'; हा kṛ, 'make': नार्य kār-aya, 'cause to make'; विद् vid, 'know': विद्य ved-áya, 'cause to know'; सद् sad, 'sit': सादय sād-áya, 'set.'
- a. Most of the verbs in आ ā insert प्p before the causative suffix;—e.g. दा dā, 'give': दापय dā-p-aya; स्था sthā, 'stand': स्थापय sthā-p-aya.
- b. The causative suffix is retained (as in the tenth class) throughout the conjugation excepting the (reduplicated) agrist (which is connected with the causative in sense only: cp. 149).

Irregularities.

- r. श्वा jñā, 'know,' रखा glā, 'languish,' म्हा mlā, 'fade,' स्ना snā, 'wash,' optionally shorten the radical vowel before पय paya: श्वापय jñā-p-aya or श्वपय jña-p-aya, &c.
- 2. A few roots ending in other vowels than आ ä take पय paya:— जि ji, 'conquer': जापय jā-paya, 'cause to win'; र i with अधि adhi, 'read': अध्यापय adhy-āpaya, 'teach'; ऋ r, 'go': अर्पय ar-paya, 'put'; रह ruh, 'grow': रोपय ro-paya, as well as

- 3. घू dhū, 'shake,' makes धूनय dhū-n-aya, 'shake'; भी prī, 'love': प्रीणय prī-n-aya, 'delight'; भी bhī, 'fear': भीषय bhī-s-aya, as well as the regular भायय bhāy-aya, 'frighten.'
- 4. जम् labh, 'take,' inserts a nasal: जमाय lambh-aya; while दंग् damá, 'bite,' retains its nasal: दंग्य damá-aya (cp. 133 A 4).
- 5. हन han, 'kill,' substitutes the denominative stem ঘান্য ghāta-ya, 'make slaughter of.'

II. Desideratives.

169. Desiderative stems are formed by adding to the root, reduplicated in a peculiar way, the suffix स sa, directly in about seventy cases, but with the connecting vowel र i (i.e. र्ष i-ṣa) in nearly thirty others. Thus सू bhū, 'be,' becomes सुसूष bū-bhū-ṣa, 'desire to be,' but जीव jīv, 'live,' जिजीविष ji-jīv-iṣa, 'desire to live.' Desideratives are inflected like verbs of the first conjugation (p. 92).

The accent being on the reduplicative syllable, the root as a rule remains unchanged, but—

- i. before स sa, final द i and उ u are lengthened, while ऋ and ऋ become द्रा or, after labials, जर् ur;—e.g. चि ci, 'gather': चिचीष ci-ci-ṣa; सु stu, 'praise': तृष्ट्रप tu-ṣṭū-ṣa; तृ tī, 'cross': तितीष ti-tīr-ṣa; मृ mṛ, 'die': समूष mu-mūr-ṣa.
- 2. before रूप iṣa, final रू ī, उ u, ऋ ī must take Guṇa; medial स ṛ takes it also, medial स u does so in one case, and medial स i not at all;—e.g. भी sī, 'lie': भिश्चिष si-say-iṣa; म sī, 'crush': सिश्चिष si-sar-iṣa; वृत् nṛt, 'dance': निनतिष ni-nart-iṣa; मुन् subh, 'beautify': मुश्चोमिष su-sobh-iṣa; विद् vid, 'know': विविद्ष vi-vid-iṣa, as well as विविद्स vi-vit-sa.

Special Rules of Reduplication.

- 170. 1. अ a, आ ā, and स r are represented by र i in the reduplicative syllable (but जर् ur, standing for स r after labials, reduplicates with उu);—e.g. दह dah, 'burn': दिघच di-dhak-sa (55; 69a); स्था sthā, 'stand': तिष्ठास ti-ṣṭhā-sa; स्ज srj, 'create': सिस्च si-sṛk-ṣa (63a); स bhṛ, 'bear': सुभूषे bu-bhūr-ṣa.
- a. The reduplication of roots containing  $\xi$  i and  $\Xi$  u is normal;—e.g. विश्व viś, 'enter': विविच vi-vik-sa (63 b); सुध् budh, 'know': नुभुत्स bu-bhut-sa (55); दुह duh, 'milk': दुध्य du-dhuk-sa (55; 69 a); रह ruh, 'grow': रूच rú-ruk-sa. Thus all desideratives, except those from roots containing  $\Xi$  u,  $\Xi$  u, reduplicate with  $\xi$  i.
- 2. The two or three roots with initial vowel that take the desiderative reduplicate internally with दा: प्रम् as, 'eat,' प्रिशिष कं-is-isa; रेच बिह, 'see': रेचिषिण कं-iks-isa. आए बिह, 'obtain,' forms its stem by contraction: रेप ip-sa.

Irregularities.

- 171. 1. गम् gam, 'go,' and हुन् han, 'kill,' lengthen their radical vowel; while मन् man, 'think,' lengthens the reduplicative vowel as well:—जिगांस ji-gām-sa (beside जिगमिष jí-gam-iṣa); जिघांस jí-ghām-sa (66 A 2); सीमांस mī-mām-sa (66 A 2), 'reflect.'
- 2. यह grah, 'seize,' प्रक् prach, 'ask,' स्वप् svap, 'sleep,' take Samprasāraṇa: जिघृज ji-ghṛk-ṣa (55; 69 a), पिपृष्टिय pi-pṛcch-iṣa, सुतुप्स su-ṣup-sa.
- 3. दा dā, 'give,' भा dhā, 'place,' मा mā, 'measure,' पढ् pad, 'go,' रभ rabh, 'grasp,' जम labh, 'take,' श्व śak, 'be able,' contract the first two syllables of the stem in such a way as to retain only the reduplication and one consonant of the root: दिख dí-t-sa, धिल dhí-t-sa (for dí-dh(ā)-sa: 55), मिला mi-t-sa, पिल pi-t-sa, रिप्प ri-p-sa, जिप्प lí-p-sa, श्विष sí-k-sa.

- 4. चि ci, 'gather,' जि ji, 'conquer,' हन han, 'kill' (cp. 171, 1), revert to their original guttural: चिकीष ci-kī-ṣa (beside चिकीष ci-cī-ṣa); जिगीष jí-gī-ṣa; जिघांस jí-ghāṃ-sa.
- 5. घस ghas, 'eat,' changes its स s to त् t: ji-ghat-sa, 'be hungry.'

III. Intensives (Frequentatives).

172. These verbs are meant to convey an intensification or frequent repetition of the action expressed by the simple root. Only monosyllabic verbs beginning with a consonant are liable to be turned into intensives. Hence neither verbs of the tenth class nor roots like \sqrt{q} ad can form this derivative. About sixty roots (less than half the number found in Vedic literature) take the intensive in Sanskrit, but forms of it rarely occur.

The stem, which takes a peculiar kind of strong reduplication, has two forms. The one adds the personal endings immediately to the reduplicated stem (accented on the first syllable in strong forms), being conjugated in the Parasmaipada only, like a verb of the third or reduplicated class (p. 96);—e. g. बोमाति b6-bho-ti from  $\frac{1}{4}$  bhū, 'be.' The other adds accented  $\frac{1}{4}$  ya, in the same way as the passive (154), to the reduplicated stem, being conjugated in the Atmanepada only, like the passive (p. 130);—e. g. बोमूबत bo-bhū-yá-te from  $\frac{1}{4}$  bhū.

a. The first intensive may optionally insert । before terminations beginning with consonants in the strong forms. Stems ending in consonants do not take Guṇa either before this । i or before terminations beginning with vowels;—e.g. विद् vid, 'know'; वेवेद्य vé-ved-mi or वेविद्यिम vé-vid-ī-mi, वेविद्यः ve-vidmáḥ, imper. वेविद्याम vé-vid-āni; but ह hū, 'call': जो-होमि jó-ho-mi or जोहवीमि jó-hav-ī-mi, जोहवानि jó-hav-āni.

Special Rules of Reduplication.

- 173. The reduplicative syllable takes Guṇa and lengthens प a;—e.g. निज् nij, 'cleanse': नेनित्ता né-nek-ti; नी nī, 'lead': नेनीयते ne-nī-yá-te; बुध् budh, 'know': बोब्धीति bo-budh-ī-ti; झु plu, 'float': पोझूयते po-plū-ya-te; तप् tap, 'be hot': तातप्यते tā-tap-ya-te.
- a. Roots ending in अम् am repeat the nasal instead of lengthening the vowel;—e.g. क्रम् kram, 'stride': चङ्कमीति cai-kram-ī-ti, चङ्कम्यते cai-kram-ya-te.
- b. Roots containing ऋ r insert है ī between the reduplication and the root;—e.g. मृ mr, 'die': मरीमर्ति mar-ī-mar-ti; दृष्य dṛś, 'see': द्रीदृश्चते dar-ī-dṛś-ya-te; मृत्nṛt, 'dance': गरीमृत्यते nar-ī-nṛt-ya-te.

Irregularities.

- 174. यू gr, 'awake,' reduplicating with आ ā (as from गर् gar), forms the stem जागु jā-gr, which has almost assumed the character of a root (134 A 4) and is used as the only present stem of the verb: 3. sg. जागति jā-gar-ti, 3. pl. जायति já-gr-ati.
- a. दह dah, 'burn,' and जभ jabh, 'snap at,' reduplicate with a nasal, while चर् car, 'move,' changes its radical vowel as well: दन्दहीति dan-dah-ī-ti and दन्दहाते dan-dah-ya-te; जज्ञभ्यते jañ-jabh-yá-te; चमूचते cañ-cūr-yá-te.
- b. Use pad, 'go,' besides reduplicating with a nasal, inserts to after it: University pa-n-i-pad-ya-te; while st drā, 'run,' reduplicates as if (173 b) it contained so r (only that the inserted vowel is t i, which, however, is long by position): standar-i-drā-ti (cp. 134 A 4).

IV. Denominatives.

- 175. A large number of verbs, inflected like those of the a-conjugation (p. 92), are derived, with the suffix य yá, from nouns, to which they express some such relation as 'be or act like,' 'treat as,' 'make,' 'desire.' Before the suffix, final द i and उ u are lengthened; भ a often is also, but sometimes becomes i (cp. 154, 1). Examples are:—जमस्य namas-yá, 'pay homage (namas) to'; सामीय svāmī-ya, 'regard as a master' (svāmi); नोपाय gopā-yá, 'be like a herdsman (go-pā) to,' 'protect'; राजाय rājā-ya, 'play the king' (rāja); दुमाय drumā-ya, 'rank as a tree' (druma); पुजीय putrī-ya, 'desire a son' (putra).
- a. Denominatives which have the causative accent (á-ya) are reckoned verbs of the tenth class by the Hindu grammarians. Such are मस्त्रय mantrá-ya, 'take counsel' (mántra), कीर्तय kīrtá-ya, 'celebrate' (kīrtí, 'fame'); वर्णय varṇá-ya, 'depict,' 'describe' (várṇa, 'colour'); कथ्य kathá-ya, 'tell how,' 'relate' (ka-thám, 'how?').

CHAPTER V

INDECLINABLE WORDS

Prepositions.

176. Owing to the cases having a more independent meaning than in other Aryan languages, the number of prepositions is quite small, and their use is very limited in Sanskrit. They are nearly all postpositions <sup>1</sup>, and they do not 'govern,' but only define the general sense of, the case to which they are added.

- 1. પનુ ánu, 'after,' and પ્રતિ práti (Gk. προτί), 'towards,' 'about,' after the accusative.
  - 2. Al á, 'from' or 'up to,' before the ablative.

Prepesitional Adverbs.

- 177. The loss or obsolescence of the Vedic prepositions in the true sense is compensated in Sanskrit by the increasing use of ungenuine prepositions, that is to say, those which cannot be attached to verbs and the origin of which from cases is still for the most part clear. They are employed with all the oblique cases except the locative and the dative; with the latter case no prepositional word is ever connected in Sanskrit. These adverbs are given in the following list, grouped under the cases which they accompany:—
- a. Acc. चनरा antará and चनरेण ántarena, 'between,' without'; the latter also 'regarding'; निक्या nikaṣā and समया samáyā, 'near'; चिमतः abhí-taḥ, परितः parí-taḥ, सर्वतः sarvá-taḥ, समन्ततः samanta-taḥ, 'around'; उभयतः ubhayá-taḥ, 'on both sides of'; परेण párena, 'beyond'; यावत् yávat, 'during,' 'up to,' 'till' (also abl.).
- b. Instr. सह sahá, समम् samám, साकम् sākám, सार्धम् sār-dham, '(together) with'; विणा vínā, 'without,' 'except' (also acc., rarely abl.).
- c. Abl. All the adverbs used with this case express some modification of the fundamental ablative notion of separation:—

- 1. 'before' (of time): पर्वाक् arvák, पुरा purá, पूर्वम् púrvam, प्राक् prák. 2. 'after' (of time): प्रान्तरम् an-antaram, कार्यम् ūrdhvám, परम् param, परतः para-taḥ, परेण páreṇa, प्रमृति prabhṛti (originally a fem. noun meaning 'commencement'). 3. 'outside,' 'out of': वहिः bahfḥ. 4. 'apart from': प्रन्य anyátra; स्रते ṛte (also acc.).
- d. Gen. Nearly all the adverbs used with this case express some relation in space:—I. 'before,' in presence of': असे ágre, असतः agra-táh, प्रतः pura-tah, प्रतात् purás-tāt, प्रत्यम् praty-akṣam, समयम् sam-akṣam. 2. 'after': प्रयात् paścát. 3. 'beyond': प्रतः para-tah, प्रतात् parás-tāt. 4. 'above,' 'over,' 'upon': उपर्धि upári (also acc.) and उपर्धित upári-ṣṭāt; the former also 'with regard to.' 5. 'below': अधः adháh and अध्यात् adhás-tāt.—With the gen. is also used कते kṛte, 'for the sake of.'
- 178. The case-notions of the accusative ('whither'), ablative ('whence'), and locative ('where') are often paraphrased by nouns meaning 'proximity,' such as अन्तिक antiká, उपकार upa-kaṇtha, निकट ni-kaṭa, सकाग्र sa-kāśa, संगिध saṃ-nidhi, समीप saṃ-īpa, पास pārśvá ('side'). In the acc. they mean 'towards,' 'to,' 'near'; in the abl., 'from'; and in the loc., 'near,' in the presence of': in each case governing the genitive. For example:—राजोऽनिकं गच्छ 'go to the king'; रघो: सकाग्राद अपासरत 'he withdrew from Raghu'; सम पार्च 'beside me,' 'near me'; तसा: समीप गसं प्रश्नांसु: 'they praised Nala in her presence.'

Prepositional Gerunds.

- 179. Several indeclinable participles are used in the sense of prepositions:—
  - I. with acc. The ud-dis-ya, 'pointing at'= 'towards,'

'about,' 'at,' 'for'; आदाय ā-dā-ya, गृहीला gṛhī-tvā, 'taking,' नीला nī-tvā, 'leading' — 'with'; अधिष्ठाय adhi-ṣṭhā-ya, पव-सम्य ava-lamb-ya, अश्चित्रय ā-śri-tya, आस्त्राय ā-sthā-ya, 'resorting to'—'by means of'; मुला muk-tvā, परित्यच्य pari-tyaj-ya. वर्जीयला varjay-i-tvā, 'putting aside'—'except'; अधिकृत्य adhi-kṛ-tya, 'putting at the head'—'with reference to,' 'about.'

2. with abl. आरथ ā-rabh-ya, 'beginning from'—'since.'

Conjunctive and Adverbial Particles.

180. We anga, in exhortations = 'pray': We get 'pray do it.' 'are kim anga: 1. 'why, pray?' 2. 'how much more?'

चर्य á-tha: r. introducing something new at the beginning of a sentence = 'now,' 'then,' 'afterwards.' 2. in the headings of books, chapters, sections, 'now' = 'here begins' (opposed to दित iti, 'here ends'). 3. connecting parts of a sentence = 'and,' 'also.' 4. 'if': चर ताझानुगक्कामि गमिष्यामि यमचयम 'if I do not follow them, I shall go to Yama's abode.'—चर किम atha kim, 'what else?'='it is so,' 'certainly,' 'yes.'—चर्च वा atha vā: 1. 'or else,' 'or.' 2. correcting a previous statement = 'or rather,' 'but.' 3. adding a corroborative statement, 'or so'='so for instance': चर्चा साध्विद्मुखते 'thus it is well said.'

चरो atho, 'then,' 'afterwards' (see उ u).

पन्य anyac ca, 'and another thing' = 'and besides,' 'more-over.'

चप्रस् aparam, 'further,' 'moreover,' 'besides.'

चपि ápi: r. connecting (like च ca) parts of a sentence='likewise,' 'moreover,' 'and' (चपि—चपि 'both—and'). 2. 'also,' 'on one's own part': दमनकोऽपि निर्वेगाम 'Damanaka also (on his part) went away.' 3. 'even,' 'though': वासोऽपि 'even a child'; एकाक्विप ekākīapi, 'though alone.' 4. 'ouly,' 'but (of time): सुहर्तमपि 'but a moment.' 5. 'all' with numerals चतुणामपि वर्णाणाम् 'of all the four castes.' In the above five senses अपि api always follows the word to which it belongs. It is also used at the beginning of a sentence as an interrogative particle, and with the optative to express a wish or preference: अपि तपो वर्धते 'is your penance prospering?' अपि स काला खात 'would that the time had come'; अपि प्राणाणहं जह्यां ज लाम 'I would rather abandon life than thee.'—अपि णाम api nāma, 'perhaps' (see णाम nāma).

रति iti, 'thus': 1. is used after the exact words of quotations. With verbs of saying it supplies the place of inverted commas and of the indirect construction in English: तवाज्ञां करियामीति स मामुवाच 'he said to me, I will do thy bidding (tavaājnām),' or 'he told me that he would do my bidding.'

- a. It is similarly used to quote thoughts, intentions, knowledge, though not uttered: बालो (प नावमन्तयो मनुष्य र्ति भूमिप: one should not despise a king, though a child, (thinking=) because he is a mere human being '; दातयमित यहानं दीयते 'a gift which is presented (thinking 'it ought to be given'=) from a sense of duty'; च धर्मभास्त्रं पठतीति कार्याम '(the knowledge) that he reads the book of the law, is not a cause (of confidence in him).'
- 2.= here ends,' at the end of books, chapters, sections, acts: इति तृतीयोऽङ्कः here ends the third act.'
- 3. 'in the capacity of,' 'as regards,' 'as for': शीघ्रमिति सुकरं निमृतमिति चिनानीयं मदेत् 'as for (doing it) quickly, it (would be) easy; as for (doing it) secretly, it would require consideration.' (See also किम kim and तथा tathā.)

इव iva, being enclitic, follows the word to which it belongs in sense:—1. 'like': अयं चोर इवामाति 'this man looks like a thief.' 2. 'as if,' 'as it were': साचात् पश्चामीव पिनाकिनम् 'I see, as it were, Siva himself before me.' 3. 'somewhat': सरोषमिव 'somewhat angrily.' 4. 'almost': मुह्तमिव 'almost an hour.' 5. 'just,' 'quite': अविचिद्व 'just a little'; निचराद्व 'quite soon.' 6. 'indeed,' 'pray' (German 'wohl'). with interrogatives: किमिव मधुराणां मण्डनं नाकतीनाम् 'what. indeed, is not an ornament to lovely figures?'

उप, an old particle of frequent occurrence in the Veda, meaning 'and,' is preserved in Sanskrit only in combination with विम् kim (q. v.), and in चयो atho (for athau, 'and so'), 'then,' and नी nó (for náu, 'and not'), 'not.'

उत utá, a common particle in the Veda, meaning 'and,' 'also,' 'or,' survives only r. in combination with प्रति and किम:—प्रस्त pratiuta, 'on the contrary'; किमृत kim uta, 'how much more,' 'how much less'; 2. in the second part of a double question:—किम्—उत (=utrum—an) 'whether—or.' It is also frequent as an expletive at the end of a line in the Epics.

एव evá is a restrictive particle following the word which it emphasizes. It may often be rendered by 'just,' 'only,' 'exactly,' 'quite,' as well as in various other ways, sometimes merely by stress:—एक एव 'quite alone'; द्रश्नेमव 'the very sight'; चहमेव 'I myself'; तदेव 'that very,' 'the same'; मृह्युर्व 'sure death'; वसुधेव 'the whole earth.'—चेव caeva, 'and also.'—तथेव tathāeva, 'likewise,' 'also.'—तेव naeva, 'not at all,' 'by no means.'

एवम् evám, 'thus,' 'so':--एवमखु'so be it'; मैवम् māevam, 'not so!'

विश्व kác-cit (Vedic neuter of interr. बह ká-d+चिंद् cid), used in questions expecting the answer 'yes' (Lat. nonne)='I hope':—विश्व हा लया राजन दमयनी 'I hope you have seen Damayanti, Oking?' With negative='I hope not' (Lat. num):—विश्व नापराधं ते क्षतवानिस 'I have not done you any injury, I hope?'

वासन kāma-m (acc. of जास 'desire'), primarily used as an adverb meaning 'at will,' 'gladly,' is frequently employed as a concessive particle:—r. 'indeed,' 'certainly,' 'forsooth,' 'to be sure'; 2. 'granted,' 'supposing' (generally with imperative), followed by adversative adverb:—जासम्—त, जिंत, तथापि, or पुनः'it is true—but,' 'although—yet'; जासम्—न तु'certainly—but not,' 'rather—than' (cp. वरस् varam—न na).

विस् क्षा-m: i. 'what?' 2. 'why?' 3. a simple interrogative particle not to be translated, and expecting the answer 'no' (Lat. num). 4. 'whether?' in double questions, followed by विदेश, विस्त, or simply उत, या, or आहोसिंद 'or.'

Combinations of किम kim with other particles are the following:—कि च 'moreover.'—कि तु 'but,' 'however.'—किमित, किसिच 'wherefore?'—कि चा 'perchance?'—किसिद 'why, pray?' 'I wonder?'—किसिप 1. 'very,' 'vehemently': किसिप स्ती 'weeping bitterly'; 2. 'nay, more.'—किस, किस्त, कि पुन: 'how much more,' 'how much less': एकेक्स प्राथमधाय किस यम मतुष्ट्यम 'even each singly (leads) to ruin, how much more (is it so) when the four (are combined)!'

बिस his (quidem): r. 'indeed,' 'certainly,' 'to be sure,' follows the word it emphasizes: चईति बिस बितव उपद्वम् 'to be sure the rogue deserves calamity.' Sometimes विस may be rendered by stress merely: एकसिन् दिने साम्र माजनाम विस 'one day a tiger did come.' 2. 'they say,' 'we are told':

बभूव योगी किस कार्तवीर्यः 'there lived, it is said, a devotee named Kartavīrya.'

द्वतम् kṛ-ta-m (neut. of past part.), 'done,' is used (like अवस् alam) with the instrumental in the sense of 'have done with':— कतं संदेश 'away with doubt.'

केवसम् kevala-m, 'only': केवसं खपिति'he merely sleeps.'— न केवसम्-अपि 'not only-but.'

क्क kvà, 'where?' if repeated with another question, expresses great difference, incongruity, or incompatibility: क सूर्यप्रमवी वंगः क चाल्यविषया मतिः 'where (is) the race sprung from the sun, and where (my) limited intelligence?' i.e. 'how great is the discrepancy between the glory of the solar race and my powers of description.'

संसु khálu: r. 'indeed,' surely,' often merely emphasizing the preceding word. 2. 'pray,' 'please,' in entreaties: देहि सनु में प्रतिवचनम् 'please give me an answer' (German' doch').
3. with gerund = 'enough of,' 'do not' (like सन्म alam): सन् दिला 'do not weep.' - न सनु 'not at all,' 'certainly not,' 'I hope not.'

प ca, enclitic (= 76, que), 'and,' 'also':—गोविन्हो रामच 'Govinda and Rāma.' In poetry the particle is occasionally misplaced: इंड चामच for इंडामच च 'in this world and in the next.' When more than two words are connected, the conjunction is commonly used with the last only, as in English.—
च r. 'both—and.' 2. 'on the one hand—on the other,' 'though—yet.' 3. 'no sooner—than.'

चेंद् céd (ca+fd), 'if,' never begins a sentence or half-line (as यद् yádi, 'if,' does).— अध चेंद् 'but if.'— न चेंद् or नो चेंद् 'if not' (elliptically) = 'otherwise': सर्वे विमुख वर्तवं नो चेत् प्यान्तापं व्रविध्विस 'everything should be done after deliberation, otherwise you will come to repentance.'— चेंद्र cen na, 'if—not' (apodosis): मावि चेन्न तदन्यथा 'if it (is) to be, it (will) not (be) otherwise.'—इति चेन्न 'if this (is objected, it is) not (so).'

जातु jātu: i. 'atall,' 'ever.' 2. 'possibly,' 'perhaps.' 3. 'once,' 'one day.' न जातु 'not at all,' 'by no means'; 'never.'

ततः tá-taḥ: 1. 'thence.' 2. 'thereupon,' 'then.' तत्वतः tataḥ = 'what next,' 'pray go on' (with what you are saying).

तथा tá-thā: 1. 'thus,' 'so,' 'accordingly.' 2. 'likewise,' 'also,' 'as well as,' 'and' (=घ). 3. 'that is so,' 'yes,' 'it shall be done.'—तथा च 'so also,' 'similarly.'— तथापि tathā api, 'nevertheless.'—तथा हि 'for so (it is),' 'so for instance,' 'that is to say,' 'namely.'—तथित tathā iti, 'yes.'

तद् tá-d (neut. of pron. 'that'): 1. 'then,' 'in that case.'
2. 'therefore,' 'accordingly': राजपुचा वयं तद् विग्रहं श्रीतं
न: कृतृहसमस्त 'we are princes; therefore we have a curiosity to hear of war.'

तावत tā-vat: 1. 'so long' (correlative to यावत 'how long,' 'while,' 'till'). 2. 'meanwhile.' 3. 'in the first place,' 'first.' 4. 'just,' 'at once' (with imperative = before doing anything else): रतसावदागस्यताम 'pray come here at once.' 5. 'already,' 'even' (as opposed to 'how much more,' 'how much less'). 6. 'only,' 'merely.' 7. 'at least': ज तावसानुषी 'she is at least not a human being.' 8. (concessively) 'indeed,' 'certainly,' 'it is true' (followed by त 'but,' &c.). 9. emphasizes a notion (like एव): 'as for,' 'as regards,' 'only,' 'just,' 'quite,' or to be rendered by stress only.

तावत -च 'scarcely-when.' न तावत 'not yet.'

तु tá (never commences a sentence): 'but,' 'however.' It is sometimes = च or चा, or a mere expletive; it is even found combined with च or repeated in the same sentence. — चाप तु 'but rather.' च तु 'but not.' च देव तु na tueva tu, 'never at all.' परंतु 'yet,' 'however.' तु-तु 'indeed-but.' च-न तु 'although-yet not.'

न ná, 'not'; with indefinite pronoun='no': न को । पि ('not any'=) 'no man'; न किंचित 'nothing'; न क्रचित 'nowhere'; न कदाचित 'never.' न वं frepeated amounts to an emphatic positive: न तच कश्चित्र वभूव तर्पितः 'no one was there (who was) not satisfied,' i.e. 'every one was thoroughly satisfied.'—नापि na api, 'not even.'—नेव na eva, 'not at all.'

नम् na-nú: r. 'not?' in questions expecting an affirmative answer (Lat. non-ne) = 'surely': नन्दहं ते प्रियः nanuaham te priyah, 'surely I am thy beloved?' 2. with interrogative pronouns and imperatives = 'pray': मनु को भवान 'pray who are you?' नम्धताम nanuucyatām, 'pray tell.' 3. in arguments: 'is it not the case that?'='it may be objected'; followed by

नाम nama, besides its adverbial meaning 'by name' (e.g. नहां नाम 'Nala by name'), has the following senses as a particle:

1. 'indeed,' 'certainly,' 'to be sure': मया नाम जितम 'I have indeed conquered.' 2. 'perhaps': दृष्टस्वया किस्ट् धर्मचा नाम 'you have perhaps seen a righteous man.' 3. ironically, with interrogatives = 'pray': को नाम राज्ञां प्रियः 'who, pray, is a favourite with kings?' 4. with imperatives = 'granted,' 'no matter if,' 'ever so much': सध्नी भवत नाम 'let him be ever so rich.'— चिष् नाम 1. at the beginning of a sentence with potential = 'perhaps.' 2. emphasizes a preceding word more strongly than चिष alone.—ननु नाम 'surely': ननु नामाइमिष्टा किस तव 'surely I am dear to thee.'

नु nú, 'now,' with interrogatives = 'pray': को नु 'who, pray?'
नु—नु, in double questions expressing uncertainty, '(either)—or':
कर मोमो नु धर्मो नु 'can this be Bhīma or Dharma?'

जूनम् nū-ná-m, usually the first word in a sentence: 'in all probability,' 'undoubtedly,' 'assuredly': जूनं सन्ये न दोषोऽस्ति नेषधस्य 'assuredly, I think, it is not the fault of the king of Niṣadha.'

नो nó (ná+u) in the Veda meant 'and not,' 'nor,' but in Sanskrit simply = 'not' (cp. चेंद्र céd).

परम pára-m: i. 'highly,' 'greatly,' 'entirely,' 'very': परमनुगृहीतो । सि 'I am greatly obliged.' 2. 'at the most': मायुस् तम महीनां परं चिंग्रद् मनति 'in it the life of mortals (lasts) at most thirty (years).' 3. 'nothing but,' 'only': विषाणे सः परं न ते 'you only lack the horns.' 4. 'but,' 'however': सर्वशास्त्रपारगः परं नुजिरहिताः 'they (are) thoroughly versed in all learning, but lack intelligence.'

पुन: punah: r. 'again.' 2. 'on the other hand,' 'on the contrary,' 'but.'—पुन: पुन:, or simply पुन:, 'again and again,' 'repeatedly.'

माय: prāyah, भाषशः prāya-śah, भाषेश prāyeņa: 1. for the most part, 'generally,' 'as a rule.' 2. 'in all probability.'

pressing consent: 'very well.' 3. expressing assent: 'so it is,' 'yes.'

मा má, prohibitive particle (= Gk. μή), generally used with imperative or unaugmented acrist: मा गच्छ or मा गम: 'do not go.' मा सा mā sma is employed in the same way. Both मा and मैवम् mā evam are used elliptically = 'not so!' 'don't'; similarly मा तावत 'not for heaven's sake!' 'God forbid.' मा नाम with potential or elliptically: = 'would that not,' 'if only not': मा नाम रिच्या: 'heaven forbid (that it should be) the warders.'

Tr: mahuh: 1. 'every moment,' 'repeatedly,' 'incessantly'

(often repeated: मुड्सूड:). 2. 'on the contrary.' सुड:-सुड: 'now-now,' 'at one time-at another.'

यतः yá-tah: 1. 'whence' (often = 'where,' sometimes = 'whither'; often = ablative of the relative य ya). 2. 'wherefore,' 'for which reason.' 3. 'because,' 'since,' 'for' (often introducing a verse in support of a previous statement). 4. 'that,' after questions or before oratio recta: विं नुदु: खमतः परम् रक्षासंपद् यतो नास्ति 'what misery is greater than this, that there is no fulfilment of desire?'

या yá-tra: 1. 'where.' 2. 'if.' 3. 'when.' 4. 'since.'

चढ़ yá-d: r. 'that,' introducing direct assertions (like Gk. ठंग) with or without इति at the end: वल्लबं यदिह मया इता प्रियेति 'you must say, I have skin my beloved here.' 2. (so) 'that': किं यह देति सम्'how (is it) that you do not know?' 3. 'in order that': किं शक्यं कर्ते यह कुध्यते गुप: 'what can be done in order that the king be not angry?' 4. 'inasmuch as,' 'because,' 'since.'

यदि yád-i, 'if' (cp. चेंद् céd).—यदि वा: 1. 'or else,' 'or rather,' 'or': बजानावदि वा जानात 'unwittingly or wittingly.' 2. sometimes = 'however.'— यवपि yadi api, 'even if,' 'although.'

यावत् yर्ब-vat: 1. (with correlative तावत्) 'as long as,' 'while,' 'till,' 'as soon as.' 2. 'meanwhile,' 'just,' expressing intended action: यावदिमां हायामाश्रिय प्रतिपालयामि ताम् 'having resorted to this shade, I will just wait for her.'—यावन yāvan na: 1. 'while not'='till.' 2. sometimes='if not.'- ज यावत्—तावत् 'scarcely—when,' 'no sooner—than.'

चन yéna: r. 'in which manner,' 'as' (corr. तेन). 2. 'whereby,' 'on what account,' 'wherefore,' 'why': शृगु चेन न दृश्यंत महीचित: 'hear why the kings do not appear.' 3. 'because,' 'since' (generally with corr. तेन): दूरस्थामिप चेन पश्चित कान्तां तं योगं मम चचुवो (प्युपदिश 'since thou seest my beloved even when far away, teach this spell to my eye also.' 4. (so) 'that': उथायो दृष्टो चेन दोषो न भिवता 'a device has been contrived so that no blame will be incurred.' 5. 'in order that': तस्य च्याचतां अज्ञाम चेन विश्वस्तो भवति 'I will become his pupil, in order that he may be inspired with confidence.'

वत् vat, 'like,' is used at the end of compounds in the sense of द्व iva: मृतवत् mrta-vat, 'like a dead man.'

वर्स vara-m-न na, lit. 'the better thing (is)—(and) not'= 'better—than' (च, तु, or पुन: being generally added to the न na): वरं प्राण्यामा न पुनर्धमानाम् उपगमः 'better death than association with the base.'

वा vā, enclitic (Lat. ve), following its word (but for metrical reasons sometimes preceding it): 1. 'or.' 2. 'either or not,' 'optionally': जातद्वास वा कुर्यु: 'for (a child) that has cut its teeth, they may optionally make (the offering).' 3. 'like,' 'as it were' (= एव): जातां मन्ये गिग्रिमितां पद्मिनीं वान्यक्पाम् 'I believe her to have become changed in appearance like a lily blighted with cold.' 4. with interrogatives='pray': जाग्रेन चतुषा कि वा 'what, pray, (with=) is the use of a blind eye?' वा—वा 'either—or.'

वे vái, used in the older language as a particle emphasizing preceding word, is common in Sanskrit poetry as a mere explet सत्यम satyá-m: i. 'truly,' 'certainly,' 'indeed.' 2. 'right 'justly.' 3. 'true,' 'it is so.' 4. 'very well' (in answers). 5 is true—but' (तृ, किंतु, तथापि).

§ ha, an enclitic particle, which in the older language sligl emphasized the preceding word, is in Sanskrit a mere explet mostly occurring at the end of a verse.

हि hí, never at the beginning of a sentence, but generally a the first word: r. 'for,' 'because.' 2. 'to be sure,' 'indeed': हि तस प्रियवयसः 'thou art indeed his dear friend.' 3. प्र interrogatives or imperatives = 'pray': कर्य हि देवाझानीर 'how, pray, shall I know the gods?' तिश्च द्र्याय 'pray, show 4. often used as a mere expletive, especially in order to a a hiatus or to obtain a long vowel in poetry. The particle so times occurs twice in the same sentence.

Interjections.

181. श्रीय ayi, used with the vocative or supplying its pl = 'friend,' 'prithee': श्रीय मकरोदानं गच्छावः 'prithee us go to the garden of love.'

स्ये aye: 1. a particle expressive of surprise, occurring ch in dramas: स्ये वसन्तसेना प्राप्ता 'Ah, Vasantasenā has arriv-2. sometimes used like स्थि as a vocative particle.

—'alas for!' It is often combined with वष्टम्, चिक्, or हना.

CHAPTER VI

NOMINAL STEM FORMATION AND COMPOUNDS

A. Mominal Stems.

- 182. Declinable stems, though they often consist of the bare root (either verbal or pronominal), are chiefly formed by means of suffixes added to roots. These suffixes are of two kinds: primary, or those added directly to roots (which may be compounded with verbal prefixes); secondary, or those added to stems already ending in a suffix.
- r. Primary derivatives as a rule show the root in its strong form;—e.g. वेद véd-a, 'knowledge' (विद् 'know'). In meaning they may be divided into the two classes of abstract action nouns (cognate in sense to infinitives) and concrete agent nouns (cognate in sense to participles) used as adjectives or substantives;—e.g. सति ma-tí, f. 'thought' (सन् man, 'think'); योध yodh-á, m. 'fighter' (युध् yudh, 'fight'). Other meanings are only modifications of these two. Thus abstract substantives often acquire a concrete sense;—e.g. नयन nay-ana, n. 'leading' comes to mean 'eye' (the organ that leads).

- a. When the bare root is used as a declinable stem, it usually remains unchanged;—e.g. [34] dvis, m. (hater) 'enemy' (80):

  34] yúdh, f. 'fight,' m. 'fighter.' Many of these stems are used only at the end of compounds;—e.g. '35] -duh, 'milking' (81).

  Roots ending in I are shortened to I a, and those in I i, I u, or I r, are always modified by adding a I t: these stems are only used as the last members of compounds;—e.g. I and su-kf-t, 'doing well' (cp. 187b).
- b. Several primary nominal suffixes connected with the verbal system have already been sufficiently dealt with, viz. those of the present and future participles: चत् at (85; 156), आण and आण mana (158); of the perfect: वांस vams (89; 157); of the past passive participle(160): त ta and ज na; of the gerundive: अवीय an-īya¹, तवा¹ tav-ya², and य ya (162). The formation of stems to which the primary suffixes of the comparative and superlative, र्यांस गुबंक्त and रिष्ठ istha, are added has also been explained (88; 103, 2). Of the rest, the following, in alphabetical order, are the most usual and important:—

ষ a: substantives and adjectives;—e.g. सर्गे sárg-a, m. 'creation' (खज sṛj, 'emit'); मेघ megh-á, m. 'cloud' (lit. 'discharger': मिद्द mih); साग bhāg-á, m. 'share' (सज bhaj, 'divide'); प्रिय priy-á, 'pleasing,' 'dear' (प्री prī, 'please'). The substantives are almost exclusively masc.; but युग yug-á, n. 'yoke' (Gk. కుγ-ό-ν, Lat. yug-u-m).

e.g. ाजन raj-an, m. 'ruler,' 'king' (90, 1); अहन áh-an, n. 'day' (91, 2).

भन ana: neut. action nouns;—e.g. दर्शन dárá-ana, n. 'sight' (दृश् dṛś, 'see'), भोजन bhój-ana, n. 'enjoyment' (मुज bhuj, 'enjoy'); also agent nouns;—e.g. वाहन váh-ana, 'conveying,' n. 'vehicle'; very rarely with weak vowel: ऋषण kṛp-anā ('lamenting'), 'miserable.'

यस as, रस is, उस us: neuter action nouns, often with concrete meaning (cp. 83);—e.g. वचस vác-as, 'speech'; ज्योतिस jyót-is, 'light'; धनुस dhán-us, 'bow.'

i: fem. action nouns, also agent nouns (adj. and subst.), and a few neuters of obscure origin;—e. g. क्रिष kṛṣ-i, f. 'tillage'; भूच śúc-i, 'bright'; पाणि pāṇ-i, m. 'hand'; अचि ákṣ-i, n. 'eye,' अख्य ásth-i, n. 'bone,' द्धि dádh-i, n. 'sour milk' (cp. 99, 3).

ষ : agent nouns, adj. and subst., the latter being mostly masc., but including several fem. and neut.;—e.g. বসু tan-û, 'thin' (Lat. ten-u-i-s); ৰাফ্ক bāh-ú, m. 'arm' (Gk.  $\pi\hat{\eta}\chi$ - $\nu$ -s); হনু hán-u, f. 'jaw'; সামু ján-u, n. 'knee' (Gk.  $\gamma \acute{\nu} \nu$ - $\nu$ ).

उन una: adj. and masc. neut. subst.;—e.g. तर्ण tár-uṇa, 'young'; सिथुन mith-uná (m.), n. 'pair,' ग्रुन sak-uná, m. 'bird.'

त ta: besides ordinarily forming past passive participles appears, in a more general sense, as the suffix of a few adjectives and substantives;—e.g. भीत sī-ta, cold, चित ás-i-ta, black'; दूत dū-ta, m. 'messenger,' हस्स hás-ta, m. 'hand.'

নি ti: fem. action nouns;—e.g. মুনি bhū-tí, 'well-being' (Gk. φύ-σι-s); বানি jū-ti, 'birth'; বানি jñū-tí, 'kinsman,' is, however, masc. (owing to its concrete sense designating a male being).

तु tu: chiefly forms the stem of infinitives in °तुम -tum; e.g. गन्तुम gan-tum, 'to go'; also a few masc. and neut. substantives:—तन्तु tán-tu, m. 'thread,' हेत he-tú, m. 'cause' (हि hi, 'impel'); वासु vás-tu, n. 'dwelling' (Gk. ἄσ-τυ).

तु tr: masc. agent nouns;—e.g. बर्तु kar-tf, 'doer'; also names of relationship, fem. as well as masc.;—e.g. सातु mā-tf, f. 'mother,' पितृ pi-tf, m. 'father' (101).

च tra, m. n., चा trā, f.: expressive of the instrument or means;—e. g. पाच pá-tra, n. 'cup' (पा pā, 'drink'); दंष्ट्र dáṃs-tra, m. 'tusk' ('biter': दंग daṃs), मन्त्र mán-tra, m. 'prayer' (मन् man, 'think'); माचा má-trā, f. 'measure' (Gk. μέ-τρο-ν).

थ tha, m.n., था thā, f.;—e.g. अर्थ ár-tha, m. 'aim,' 'object'; तीर्थ tīr-thá, n. 'ford'; गाथा gá-thā, f. 'song.'

भ na, m. n., ना nā, f.: besides ordinarily forming past pass. participles (160, 1), also adjectives and substantives;—e.g. क्राप्ण kṛṣ-ṇā, 'black'; वर्षो vár-ṇa, m. 'colour'; पर्षो par-ṇá, n. 'wing'; तृष्णा tṛṣ-ṇā, f. 'thirst.'

ল ni, m.f.;—e.g. আমি ag-ní, m. 'fire' (Lat. ig-ni-s); স্থীয়ি śré-ṇi, f. 'line.'

नु nu, m. f.;—e. g. भानु bhā-nú, m. 'light,' सूनु sū-nú, m. 'son'; धेनु dhe-nú, f. 'cow.'

म ma, adj.; m. subst.;—e.g. भीम bhī-ma, 'terrible'; धूम dhū-ma, m. 'smoke.'

सन् man, m. n.: chiefly neut. action nouns;—e.g. कर्मन् kar-man, n. 'action,' ज्ञान् brah-man, n. 'prayer'; सर्सन् क्षं-man, m. 'stone' (Gk. ἀκ-μων), ज्ञान् brah-man, m. 'one who prays' (90, 3).

मि mi, m. f., मी mī, f.;—e.g. रिम raś-mí, m. 'ray;' भूमि bhū-mi, f. 'earth'; भूमी bhū-mī, f. id.; सम्भी lakṣ-mī, f. 'prosperity.'

यु प्रथ, m.;—e.g. मन्यु man-yú, 'anger'; मृत्यु mṛt-yú, 'death.'

र ra, adj.; m. n. subst.;—e.g. उग्र ug-rá, 'terrible'; रूट्र rud-rá, m. name of a god; अस abh-rá, n. 'cloud.'

र ru, adj.; n. subst.;—e.g. भीर bhī-rú, 'timid'; अश्रु as-ru, n. 'tear.'

ব va, adj.; m. subst.;—e.g. মর্ব sár-va, 'all' (Lat. sal-vo-s); মন্ত্র áś-va, m. 'horse' (Lat. eq-uo-s).

वन् van, adj.; m. n. subst.;—e.g. पीवन् pí-van, 'fat'; ग्रावन् grú-van, m. 'stone' (90, 4); पर्वन् pár-van, n. 'joint.'

2. Secondary nominal Suffixes :--

म a, adj.; m. n. subst.: forms adjectives, chiefly with initial Vṛddhi, expressing the sense of relation to or connexion with the primitive word;—e.g. मानव mānav-a, belonging to man' (मनु manu). Many of these have become substantives in the masc. and, as abstracts, in the neuter;—e.g. मानव mānav-a, m. human being'; वैश्वामिच vaiśvāmitra, m. descendant of Viśvāmitra': पोच्च pauruṣ-a, manly, n. manliness. When formed with Vṛddhi, these derivatives always take in the feminine.

आ ब: forms the fem. of adjectives which in the masc. and neut. end in आ a;—e.g. जान्ता kānt-ā, 'beloved' (97).

आनी ānī: forms the fem. of the names of deities ending in wa;—e.g. रङ्गणी indr-āṇi, 'wife of Indra.'

আথৰ ayana, m.: forms patronymics with initial Vrddhi; e. g. সাম্বভাষৰ āśval-ayana, 'descendant of Aśvala.'

रं, m.: forms patronymics with initial Vṛddhi;—e.g. मार्ति mārut-i, 'descendant of the Maruts.' Similarly formed is सार्थि sārath-i, 'charioteer' (सर्थ sa-rátha, 'driving on the same car').

ৰ্গ in: forms, in the sense of 'possessing,' adjectives from stems ending in মa;—e.g. ৰ্জিণ bal-in, 'strong,' from ৰজ bala, n. 'strength' (87).

in consonants (95), or with  $\overline{q}$  tr (101 e), often to those in  $\overline{s}$  u

(98 c), or in wa a (always when formed with Vrddhi);—e.g. देवी dev-i, 'goddess' (देव dev-a, 'god'). Cp. 107.

रंग ina: forms adjectives, chiefly expressive of direction and made from words in अब बांट;—e.g. माचीन prāc-ina, 'eastern' (माच prācc, 'eastward').

देय iya: forms general adjectives;—e.g. पर्वतीय parvat-iya, 'mountainous'; तदीय tad-iya, 'belonging to him,' 'his.'

ৰ ka: forms adjectives and diminutives;—e.g. মনাৰ anta-ka, 'ending'; with Vrddhi, বাৰ্থিৰ vārs-i-ka, 'belonging to the rains' (varṣāḥ); বাৰ্থাৰ rāja-ka, m. 'petty king,' মুখৰ putra-ka, 'little son.' The fem. of such derivatives (in a-ka) is often formed with tha;—e.g. মুখৰা putr-ikā, 'little daughter.'

तन tana: forms adjectives with a temporal meaning;—e.g. नूतन nú-tana, 'present,' पुरातन pura-tana (f. ī), 'ancient.'

तम tama: forms superlatives and ordinals;—e.g. ut-tama, 'highest'; sata-tama, 'hundredth.'

तर tara: forms comparatives;—e.g. उत्तर út-tara, 'higher.' ता tā, f., ख tva; n.: form abstract substantives with the sense conveyed by the English suffix ':ness';—e.g. देवता devá-tā, 'divinity'; पश्चल क्रमार्थ-tvá, n. 'immortality'; पश्चल pañcatva, 'five-ness' (i.e. dissolution into the five elements), 'death.'

ख tya, adj.; m. n.: forms nouns from prepositions and adverbs;—e.g. नित्य ní-tya, 'constant'; अपत्य ápa-tya, n. 'off-spring'; असात्य amá-tya, m. 'companion' (असा amá, 'at home').

च tha, adj.: forms some ordinals from cardinals;—e.g. चतुर्थे catur-tha, 'fourth.'

H bha, m.: forms the names of animals;—e. g. गर्म garda-bhá, 'ass,' वृष्म vṛṣa-bhá, 'bull.'

म ma, adj.: forms some superlatives, partly from prepositions, and some ordinals;—e.g. अवस ava-má, 'lowest,' सध्यम madhya-má, 'middlemost'; पश्चम pañca-má, 'fifth.'

मत् mat, adj.: forms, in the sense of 'possessing,' derivatives from substantives (except such as end in च a);—e.g. चिमत् agni-mat, 'maintaining the (sacred) fire'; 'fiery.'

सय maya, adj. (f. ई ī), 'consisting of';—e.g. मनोमय mano-máya, 'consisting of mind,' 'spiritual.'

य ya, adj.; m. n. subst.: forms adjectives in the sense of 'relating to,' masc. patronymics and neuter abstracts with Viddhi, as well as ordinary adjectives without Viddhi;—e.g. पैच graiv-ya, 'relating to the neck' (पीवा grīva); आदित्य adit-ya, m. 'son of Aditi'; सीमाग्य saubhāg-ya, n. 'good fortune' (from सुभग su-bhaga, 'fortunate'); पिच्य pitr-ya, 'paternal' (पितृ pitr, 'father').

र ra, adj.: forms comparatives from prepositions and ordinary adjectives;—e.g. भवर ava-ra, 'lower'; धूस dhūm-ra, 'grey' (from भूम dhūma, 'smoke').

स्र la, adj.; m. subst.: forms adjectives and a few diminutives;—e.g. कपिस kapi-lá ('monkey-coloured'), 'brown,' वज्रस bahu-lá, 'abundant'; वृषस vṛṣa-lá, m. 'little man,' 'man of low caste,' 'Sūdra.'

वत vat, adj. 'possessing';—e.g. प्रवावत prajá-vat, 'having offspring'; वसस्त nábhas-vat, 'cloudy,' m. 'wind.'

वन् van: forms in the sense of 'possessing' adjectives and masc. substantives;—e. g. सध्वन् maghá-van, 'bountiful,' m. an epithet of Indra; सथ्येन् áthar-van, m. 'fire-priest.'

বিশ্ vin: forms adjectives meaning 'possessing';—e.g. অয়-অিশ্ yas'as-vin, 'glorious.'

183. The above lists practically supply the rules of gender for the Sanskrit noun. These may be summarized as follows.

Speaking generally, all stems ending in the long vowels  $\overline{\mathbf{u}}$ ,  $\overline{\mathbf{a}}$ ,  $\overline{\mathbf{u}}$ , are feminine; stems ending in  $\overline{\mathbf{u}}$  a,  $\overline{\mathbf{u}}$ ,  $\overline{\mathbf{u}}$ ,  $\overline{\mathbf{u}}$ , are feminine; stems ending in  $\overline{\mathbf{u}}$  a,  $\overline{\mathbf{u}}$ ,  $\overline{\mathbf{u}}$ ,  $\overline{\mathbf{u}}$ ,  $\overline{\mathbf{u}}$ masculine or neuter; stems ending in T i or T u may be of any gender.

- a. Feminine are all stems formed with the suffixes আ ā, ই ī, জ ū, বা tā, বা trā, বি ti.
- b. Neuter are all stems formed with the suffixes etva, Tru, et is, et us, and (unless the name of a living being) we as, and (unless meaning an agent) et ana.
- c. Masculine are (in so far as they are not used adjectivally) all stems formed with the suffixes त ta, व va, यु yu; आयन äyana, इ i (patronymic), क ka, स bha, ज la.
- d. Masc. or fem. are stems formed with the suffixes and ni, I nu, I mi, I tr; also stems formed with the bare root (neuter also if adjectives).
- e. Masc. or neut. are stems formed with the suffixes अ a, ध tha, अ na, उस una, म ma, ध ya, र ra, त्य tya, द tra, तु tu, अन् an, मन् man, यन् van; also the adjectives formed with रून् in, विम् vin, रून īna, रूप īya, तम tana, तम tama, तर tara, मध maya, मत् mat, नत् vat.
  - f. Masc., fem., or neut. are stems formed with Ti or Su.

B. Compounds.

- is 4. I. Verbal Compounds are formed by combining roots with some twenty prepositions and a few adverbs. The compound verb is conjugated like the simple verb. Thus गम gam, 'to go,' combines with सम् sam, 'together,' to संगम sam-gam, 'to go together,' 'unite'; 3. sing. pres. संगक्ति sam-gacchati. The compound root can be used to form nominal stems by means of the primary suffixes enumerated above (182, 1);—e.g. संगम sam-gam-a, m. 'union.'
- a. The prepositions which are compounded with roots are the following: चति áti, 'beyond'; चि ádhi, 'upon'; चनु anu,

'after'; अन्तर् antár, 'between'; अप ápa, 'away'; अपि ápi, 'on'; अभि abhí, 'against'; अव áva, 'down'; आ á¹, 'near'; उद् úd, 'up'; उप úpa, 'up to'; नि ní, 'down'; निस् nís, 'out'; परा párā, 'away'; परि pári, 'around'; प्र prá, 'forth'; प्रति práti, 'towards'; नि ví, 'asunder'; सम् sám, 'together.'

b. A few adverbs are also compounded with a limited number of verbs: तिरस tirás, 'across,' 'aside,' with & kr. 'make,' धा dhā, 'put,' भू bhū, 'be';—e.g. तिर्क्विं tiras-kurvanti, 'they abuse'; तिरोधा tiro-dhā, 'put aside,' 'conceal'; तिरोधमवन tiro 'bhavan, 'they disappeared'; YTH puras with E kr and धा dhā, 'put in front,' 'honour';—e.g. पुरस्क्रियनाम् puraskriyantam, 'let them be honoured'; आविस avis, 'openly,' with हा kr, 'to manifest,' with आस as and भू bhū, 'to appear';—e.g. त्राविष्करोति āviṣ-karoti, 'he shows'; त्राविरासीत् āvir-āsīt, 'he appeared'; चालम् alam, 'enough,' with हा kr, 'to adorn.' श्रद śrád. an old word meaning 'heart' (Lat. cord-), having acquired the character of an adverb, is compounded with "I dha, 'put'; and similarly अमस् námas, 'obeisance,' यसम् ásta-m, acc. of अस ásta, 'home,' are compounded with participles of क kr, 'do,' and इ i, 'go,' respectively; — e.g. श्रहधामि srad-dadhāmi, 'I put faith,' 'credit' (Lat. crēdo); नमस्त्रत्य namas-kṛtya, 'having adored'; अलित ástam-ita, 'set' (of the sun).

Note. Adjectives or substantives may be compounded with क kṛ and मू bhū, before which final च a, चा ā, or द i becomes दें।, final उ u becomes ज ū;—e.g. वम्म vasa, m. 'control': वम्म vasī-kṛ, 'reduce to subjection,' वम्म vasī-bhū, 'become subject'; परिखोद्यत parikhī-kṛta, 'turned into a moat' (परिखा parikhā). The sense of these verbal compounds implies a transformation; thus Talya ratni-bhūta would mean 'turned into a jewel,' but Talya ratna-bhūta, 'being a jewel,' as a nominal compound (188, 1 c).

II. Nominal Compounds.

- 185. The power of combining two or more words into one, which belongs to all the Indo-European languages, has been more largely developed in Sanskrit than in any of the others. Not only are long and complex compounds here in constant use, but they also take the place of the analytical modes of expression which prevail in the other cognate tongues. Thus Kalidasa describes a river as 'wave-agitation-loquacious-bird-row-girdlestring-ed,' while we should say: 'her girdle-string is a row of birds loquacious because of the agitation of the waves.' Compounds being therefore of great syntactical importance in Sanskrit, it is necessary to distinguish and classify the various kinds, in order that the meaning of a Sanskrit sentence may be clearly understood. The most convenient division is into the three classes of Co-ordinatives. Determinatives, and Possessives. The Determinatives, so called because the former member determines (or qualifies) the latter, are of two kinds, Dependent and Descriptive. Possessives are secondary compounds, consisting chiefly of Determinatives turned into adjectives.
- a. All words making up a compound except the last, ordinarily appear in the form of their uninflected stem; those with two stems using the weak, and those with three, the middle stem (73 a). The last word, in the case of Co-ordinatives and Determinatives, retains, as a rule, its usual form and inflexion, as well as, if a substantive, its gender; while, in Possessives, it is variable like an adjective.
  - E. g. देवदास: deva-dasah,m. 'servant of a god, or of the gods';

स्वामिसेवा svāmi-sevā, f. 'serving a master'; राजकर्म rāja-karma, n. 'duty of a king'; सनामन् sa-nāman, 'homonymous': nom. m. सनामा, f. सनास्त्री, n. सनाम.

1. Co-ordinative (Dvandva) Compounds.

- 186. These consist of two (or more) nouns, far less commonly adjectives, very rarely adverbs, connected in sense by the copula 'and.' Dvandva, the name applied to Co-ordinatives by the Hindu grammarians, means 'pair' or 'couple.'
- 1. Compounded substantives are inflected in the dual or plural according as two or more objects are denoted, the gender being that of the last member;—e.g. हत्त्वश्वी hasty-asvau, 'an elephant and a horse'; हत्त्वश्वा: hasty-asvāh¹, 'elephants and horses.' When, however, the parts of the compound express not individuals but categories, the Dvandva is inflected in the neuter singular as a collective;—e.g. गवाश्वम् gavaasvam, 'kine and horses.' Names of objects associated in pairs by way of contrast are often combined in Dvandvas;—e.g. सिह्मजा: simha-gajāḥ, 'lions and elephants'; सारमेथमाजारा: sārameya-mārjārāḥ, 'dogs and cats'; अहोराच aho-rātra, m. n. 'day and night².' The number of members in the compound is not limited and is often considerable;—e.g. देवगचर्वमानुषोरगराज्याः deva-gandharva-mānuṣauraga-rākṣasāḥ, 'gods, heavenly musicians, men, serpents, and demons.'
- 2. Adjectives (including past participles) are comparatively seldom compounded as Dvandvas;—e.g. उत्तर्दिण uttaradakṣiṇa, 'north and south'; श्रीतोष्ण sitauṣṇa, 'cold and hot'; सितासित sitaasita, 'white and black'; चनायत ghanaāyata,

- 'dense and extensive' (forest); Entrent kṛtaakṛta, 'done and undone'; मृताचात mṛtaajāta, 'dead and unborn.'
- a. Two past participles are sometimes compounded to express immediate sequence, the relation of the second to the first being often translatable by 'as soon as';—e. g. दृष्टमष्ट dṛṣṭa-naṣṭa, 'seen and vanished'—'vanished as soon as seen'; जातमत jāta-preta, 'died as soon as born'; उत्वातम्बिर्गित ut-khāta + prati-ropita, 'uprooted and replanted'; सुत्रोत्यित supta utthita, 'having slept and arisen,' i. e. 'having just arisen from sleep.'
- 3. Examples of the rare Dvandvas composed of adverbs are सायंत्रातर् sayam-pratar, in the evening and morning'; द्वानतम् divā-naktam, by day and night.'
- a. Occasionally complex Dvandvas, made up of compounds of another class, are met with;—e.g. withlight(atthe) vyākīrņa-kesara+karāla-mukha, having a dishevelled mane and terrific jaws, consists of two possessives (189).
- b. Of the numerous Vedic Dvandvas consisting of the names of deities, each member being in the dual and separately accented, only very few survive in Sanskrit: सियावर्णी mitrá¹-váruṇau, 'Mitra and Varuṇa'; यावापृथियो dyávā¹-pṛthivyaù, 'Heaven and Earth.' In cases other than nom. voc. acc. the final member only is inflected: सियावर्णयोः mitrā-varuṇayoḥ and यावापृथियोः dyāvā-pṛthivyoḥ.
- c. मातु mātr, 'mother,' and पितु pitr, 'father,' as the first member of a Dvandva of relationship, assume the form of the nom. sing.: मातापितरी mātā-pitarau, 'mother and father'; पितापुची pitā-putrau, 'father and son.'

The masc. of co-ordinate pairs of relations can be used alone in the dual so as to include the female;—e.g. पितरी pitarau = 'parents'; अभुरी svasurau 1= 'parents-in-law'; पुनी putrau= 'son and daughter' (as well as 'two sons'); धातरी bhrātarau = 'brother and sister 2.'

2 a. Dependent (Tatpurusa) Determinatives.

187. A dependent determinative is one in which the first member depends on the last, the syntactical relation of the former to the latter being that of an attribute (noun or pronoun) in an oblique case. The compound may be a substantive or an adjective, according as the last member is one or the other.

E.g. तत्पुर्व tat-purusa, m. 'the man of him,' 'his man' (an example used by the Hindu grammarians to designate the class); भूरमानिन sura-mānin, adj. 'thinking oneself a hero'; गुणोपेत guṇa upeta, adj. 'endowed with virtues' (upa jta is a past part.).

In dependent compounds the first member may have the sense of any oblique case, but that of the gen. is by far the commonest.

1. Acc. The last member is naturally always an adjective of a verbal nature 3;—जरप्रेषु jaya-prepsu, adj. 'desiring victory' (praīpsu is a desid. adj., cp. 170, 2); वर्षभाय varṣa-bhogya, adj. 'to be enjoyed for a year' (bhogya is a fut. part. pass.); गृहागत grhaāgata, adj. 'come to the house' (āgata is a past part.); यासपाप्त grāma-prāpta, 'arrived at the village 4.' (A past part. is more commonly placed at the beginning, when the compound becomes a possessive;—e.g. MINUIH prāpta-grāma, lit. having a reached village.')

- 2. Instr. सासपूर्व māsa-pūrva, 'earlier by a month'; खासिसह्य svāmi-sadṛśa, 'like (his) master' (cp. 199, 2c); स्वयोग alpaūna, 'deficient by a little'='almost finished'; सहित्त ahi-hata, 'killed by a snake'; देवदस deva-datta, 'given by the gods' (cp. θεό-δοτος), commonly used as a proper name with an auspicious sense (Dieudonné) and often denoting an indefinite person='so-and-so.'
- 3. Dat. यूपदार yūpa-dāru, n. 'wood for a sacrificial post'; विष्युविश्व viṣṇu-bali, m. 'offering to Viṣṇu'; प्रमृद्धित prabhu-hita, adj. 'advantageous to the king.'
- 4. Abl. खर्गपतित svarga-patita, adj. 'fallen from heaven'; सवद्न्य bhavad-anya, adj. 'different from you.'
- 5- Gen. राजपुर्व rāja-puruṣa, m. 'king's man'; व्याम्रनुति vyāghra-buddhi, f. 'thought of (its being) a tiger.'
- 6. Loc. उरोज uro-ja, adj. 'produced on the breast'; सञ्चकोविद् asva-kovida, adj. 'skilled in horses'; गृहजात grha-jāta, adj. 'born in the house'; पूर्वाक्तवत pūrvāhņa-kṛta, adj. 'done in the forenoon.'
- a. Some dependent compounds retain the case termination in the governed noun;—e.g. viau dhanam-jaya, adj. winning booty, m. as a proper name; viau parasmai-pada, n. word for another; unaufa vacas-pati, m. 'lord of speech'; unabi-sthira, adj. 'firm in battle,' m. as a proper name.
- b. If a root forms the last member of a Tatpurusa it undergoes no change except that at ā is shortened to us, while i, u, u ; add at (cp. 182, 1a);—e.g. at vara-da, adj. 'granting boons' (at da, 'give'); at a at visva-ji-t, adj. 'all-conquering'; at a karma-kṛ-t, adj. 'doing work,' 'laborious.'
- c. At the end of a dependent, विश्वच visesa, m. means 'special kind of,' i.e. 'choice,' 'pre-eminent'; similarly चनार antara, n.

- 'difference,' generally means 'other,' sometimes 'special,' 'particular';—e.g. तेजीविश्रेष tejo-visesa, m. 'extraordinary splendour'; देशानार desagntara, n. 'another country'; उपायानार upāyaantara, n. 'a special means'; भाषानार bhāsyaantara, n. 'particular conversation.'
- d. पार्थ artha, m. 'object,' 'purpose,' is often used adverbially at the end of dependents in the acc. and less commonly in the dat. and loc.;—e.g. दमयस्यर्थम् damayanty-artham, 'for the sake of Damayantī.'

2 b. Descriptive (Karmadhāraya) Determinatives.

- 188. A descriptive determinative is one in which the first member describes the last, the syntactical relation of the former to the latter being that of a predicate. This relation may be expressed in three ways:—
- 1. By a Noun (in apposition);—e. g. राजधि rājaṛṣi, m. 'king sage,' i. e. 'royal sage'; स्त्रीजन strī-jana, m. 'women-folk.'
- a. A title is thus sometimes compounded with a proper name;
  —e.g. असाराज्य amātya-Rākṣasa, 'Minister Rākṣasa.' Occasionally the proper name comes first;—e.g. भाषिद्वशीमातृ Sāṇḍilī-mātṛ, 'Mother Sāṇḍilī.'
- b. The apposition often expresses a comparison;—e.g. जबद्शाम jalada-syāma, adj. 'dark as a cloud'; दिमश्चिर hima-sisira, adj. 'cold as ice'; जबाद्य चप्रवाब jala antas-candra-capala, adj. 'fickle as the moon reflected in the water.' When both members are substantives the object with which a comparison is made is placed not at the beginning of the compound, but at the end;—e.g. yavana purusa-vyāghra, m. 'man-tiger,' i.e. 'tiger-like man,' human tiger'; वाराध vān-madhu, n. 'speech-honey,' i.e. 'honied speech'; पाद्यस pāda-padma, n. 'foot-lotus,' i.e. 'lotus-like foot.'

- c. The past part. सूत bhūta, 'become,' 'existent,' is often added, in the sense of 'being,' to an appositional substantive (which is thus turned into an adj.);—e.g. तमाभूत tamo-bhūta, 'existing in a state of darkness'; रतभूत ratna-bhūta, 'being a jewel' (cp. 184 b, note).
- 2. By an Adjective;—e.g. हाव्यसर्प kṛṣṇa-sarpa, m. 'black snake'; नीकोत्पस nīla utpala, n. 'blue lotus'; मध्याह madhya ahna, m. 'midday'; सर्धमार्ग ardha-mārga, m. 'half way'; वर्तमानकवि vartamāna-kavi, m. 'living poet.'
- a. Those compounds in which the adjective is a numeral are by the Hindu grammarians treated as a special class, called Dvigu ('two-cow'). They are generally neuters or feminines (in tī) expressing aggregates;—e.g. Twina tri-loka, n. or Two-lok, f. 'the three worlds.' They may also become adjectives by being turned into possessives (189);—e.g. Taju tri-guṇa, n. 'the three qualities'; adj. 'possessing the three qualities.'
- b. ya pūrva, 'previous,' is put at the end, instead of adverbially at the beginning, in the sense of 'before,' after past participles;—e.g. इष्टपूर्व adj. 'seen before.'
- c. At the beginning of a descriptive compound महत् mahat becomes सहा mahā, while at the end राजन rājan, पहन् ahan, सिंख sakhi, राचि rātri, become राज, सह, सख, राच (m. n.) respectively;—e.g. सहाराज: 'great king'; पुणाहम् punya aham, 'auspicious day'; प्रियसवः 'dear friend'; सर्धराच ardha-rātra, m. 'midnight.'
- d. च्योन्य anyo-(a)nya and प्रस्त् para-s-para, 'one another,' are a kind of irregular compound in which the nom. masc. form, due to frequent syntactical juxtaposition, became generalized; thus चन्योन्याम् acc. sing. fem. = चन्या-चन्याम् anyā-anyām.
  - 3. By an Adverb (inclusive of particles and prepositions);-

- e.g. सुजन su-jana, m. 'honest man'; अधिलोक adhi-loka, m. 'highest world'; अज्ञात a-jñāta, adj. 'unknown'; यथोत yathā ukta, adj. 'as stated'; एवंगत evam-gata, adj. 'thus faring.'
- a. Compounds of this kind, when used in the acc. neuter as adverbs, are treated by the Hindu grammarians as a special class called Avyayī-bhāva ('indeclinable state'). Such are अनुरूपम् anu-rūpam, 'conformably'; यथाग्रति yathā-śakti, 'according to ability'; सविनयम् sa-vinayam, 'politely'; यावज्ञीयम् yāvaj-jīvam, 'for life.'

3. Possessive (Bahuvrihi) Compounds.

189. These compounds are essentially adjectives agreeing with a substantive expressed or understood. They are determinatives (generally of the adjectivally descriptive class) ending in substantives, which are made to agree in gender, number, and case with another substantive. Thus as fift bahu-vrībi, m. 'much rice,' becomes an adjective in the sense of 'having much rice' (an example used by the Hindu grammarians to designate the class).

Every kind of determinative can be turned into a possessive;—e.g. रद्भानु indra-satru, m. foe of Indra': adj. having Indra as a foe'; मोमपराक्रम bhīma-parākrama, m. terrible prowess': adj. for terrible prowess'; विपद् tri-pad, adj. three-footed' (Gk. τρί-ποδ-, Lat. tri-ped-); अधीमुख adho-mukha, adj. down-cast' (mukha, n. face'); अपुच a-putra, adj. sonless'; सभाय sa-bhārya, adj. accompanied by his wife' (bhāryā); तथाविध tathā-vidha, adj. for such a kind' (vidhi, m.); दुर्भनास् dur-manās, adj. nom. m.f. (δυσ-μενής), fill-minded, dejected.

- e. In the Vedic language possessives were distinguished from determinatives by accent;—e.g. rāja-putra, 'king's son'; rājá-putra, adj. 'having kings as sons.'
  - b. Possessives often come to be used as substantives or proper

- names;—e.g. सुद्ध् su-hrd, 'good-hearted,' hecomes masc. 'friend'; सत्य अवास satya-śravās, adj. nom. m. 'of true fame,' becomes the name of a man (cp. 'Ετεο-κλέης).
- c. Possessives are often very intricate, containing several other compounds. Thus [(vīci-kṣobha)-stanita-(vihaga-śreṇi)]-(kāñcī-guṇā) is based on an appositional descriptive consisting of two main parts. The second, 'kāñcī-guṇa,' m. 'girdle-string,' is a Tatpuruṣa. The first is an adjectival descriptive in which the Tatpuruṣa 'vihaga-śreṇi,' 'row of birds,' is described by 'vīci-kṣobha-stanita,' 'loquacious through wave-agitation.' The latter is a compound Tatpuruṣa, in which 'stanita' is qualified by the simple Tatpuruṣa 'vīci-kṣobha,' 'agitation of the waves.' Ilai-wilaita sītauṣṇa-kiraṇau, 'moon and sun,' is an example of a Bahuvrīhi which is used as a substantive and contains a Dvandva. It is in reality a kind of contracted Dvandva ('the cool and the hot-rayed').
  - d. Bahuvrīhis with a past participle at the beginning are syntactically often equivalent to a gerund or loc. absolute;—e.g. त्यक्तगार tyakta-nagara, 'having the city left' = गारं त्यका nagaram tyaktvā, 'having left the city,' or गारे त्यक nagare tyakte, 'the city being left.'

  - seq kalpa, m. 'manner,' and प्राय prāya, m. 'chief part,' are used at the end of Bahuvīhis in the sense of 'like,' 'almost'; e.g. समृतक्ष amṛta-kalpa, adj. 'ambrosia-like'; प्रभातप्राय prabhāta-prāya, adj. 'almost dawning.' In the same position पर para and पर्म parama, adjectives meaning 'highest,' 'chief,' used as substantives, signify 'engrossed in,' 'intent on' (lit. 'having as the chief thing');—e.g. चिनापर cinta-pars, 'immersed in thought.'

2. ATT mātrā, f. 'measure,' is used at the end of Bahuvrīhis in the sense of 'only';—e.g. जासमाचा जरा: nāmamātrā narāḥ, 'men bearing the name only.' At the end of past participles it means 'as soon as';—e.g. जातमाच: शुनु: jāta-mātraḥ śatruḥ, 'an enemy as soon as (he has) come into being.' It is, however, generally employed as a neuter substantive in this way;—e.g. जासमाचम् jala-mātram, 'water alone' (lit. 'that which has water for its measure').

h. आदि ādi, m. and प्रमृति prabhṛti, f. 'beginning,' आब ādya, 'first' (used as a substantive), are employed at the end of Bahuvrīhis in the sense of 'and the rest,' 'and so forth,' 'etcetera,' primarily as adjectives and secondarily as substantives;—e.g. (देवा) इन्हादय: (devā) Indra ādayaḥ, '(the gods) Indra and the rest' (lit. 'having Indra as their beginning'); रखादि itiādi, n. 'beginning thus' (i.'e. with these words)—'and so on.'

L. Words meaning 'hand' are placed at the end of possessives;—c.g. शस्त्रपाणि sastra-pāṇi, 'weapon-handed,' 'having a weapon in one's hand'; नुश्रहस्त kusa-hasta, 'with kusa-grass in (his) hand.'

वर्वार्शिण vara-varn-in, 'of excellent colour.' The adjectival suffix क ka is similarly often added, especially to unusual finals, as to words in सा, to feminines in दा (like नदी nadī), and in the feminine to words in रण in;—e.g. मृतभतृका mṛta-bhartṛ-kā, 'whose husband is dead'; सपत्नीक sa-patnī-ka, 'accompanied by his wife.'

CHAPTER VII

OUTLINES OF SYNTAX

IGO. As the great bulk of the literature consists of poetry, the syntactical arrangement of the Sanskrit sentence is primitive and undeveloped, as compared with Latin and Greek. Its main characteristic is the predominance of co-ordination, long compounds and gerunds constantly taking the place of relative and other subordinate clauses, while the oratio obliqua is entirely absent. Another feature is the comparatively rare use of the finite verb (frequent enough in the Vedic language), for which past participles or verbal nouns are very often substituted. There is also a marked fondness for passive constructions. A special feature of Sanskrit syntax is the employment of the locative absolute.

The Order of Words.

191. The usual arrangement of words in a Sanskrit sentence is:—first, the subject with its attributes (a genitive preceding its nominative); second, the object with its adjuncts (which precede it); and lastly, the verb.

Adverbs or extensions of the predicate are commonly placed near the beginning, and unemphatic connective particles follow the first word;—e.g. जनवस्तु सत्तरं स्त्रीयं नगरं जगाम 'but Janaka went in haste to his own city.'

When there is a vocative, it generally comes first. Instead of the subject any other word requiring emphasis may be placed at the head of the sentence;—e.g. रात्री त्या मठमध्ये न प्रवेष्टव्यम् 'at night you must not enter the monastery.'

- a. The subject, if a personal pronoun, is not expressed unless emphatic, being inherent in finite verbal forms. Even the general subject 'one' or 'they' is often indicated by the verb alone;—e.g. সুহান 'one should say'; সাক: 'they say'='it is said.'
- b. The copula अस्ति 'is,' unless the tense or mood has to be expressed, is generally omitted. In that case the predicate precedes its noun;—e.g. शीतबा राचिः 'the night (is) cold.' If the predicate bears any emphasis, भवति is used, not अस्ति;—e.g. यो विवाया तपसा जयाना वा वृदः स पूज्यो भवति दिजानाम् 'he who is distinguished by knowledge, penance, or birth, is (certainly) to be respected by the twice-born.'
- c. Just as attributes precede their nouns and the qualifying word comes first in compounds, so a relative or other subordinate clause precedes the principal clause, which regularly begins with a correlative word;—e.g. यस धर्ग तस वसम् lit. 'of whom wealth, of him power,' i.e. 'he who has wealth has power.' Similarly यहा—तहा, यावत—तावत, &c.

The Article.

192. There is properly neither an indefinite nor a definite article in Sanskrit. But use 'one' and sate 'some' (119), being frequently used to express 'a certain,' may sometimes be translated by 'a.' Similarly use 'that' (110) may, when referring to persons or things just mentioned, be rendered by 'the';—e.g. user 'the king' (of whom we are speaking).

Number.

- 193. I. Singular collective words are sometimes used at the end of compounds to form a plural;—e.g. स्तीजन strī-jana, m. 'womenfolk'='women.' Such collectives are sometimes themselves used in the plural;—e.g. सोकः or सोकाः 'the world,' 'people.'
- 2. The dual number is in regular use and of strict application, the plural practically never referring to two objects. It is therefore invariably employed with the names of things occurring in pairs, such as parts of the body;—e.g. Edi पादी च 'the hands and the feet.' A masc. dual is sometimes used to express a male and female of the same class;—e.g. चगतः पित्री 'the parents of the universe' (see 186, 3 c, p. 171).
- 3. a. The plural is sometimes applied to others by the speaker or writer as a mark of great respect, यूयम् and भवनः taking the place of स्वम् and भवानः:—e.g. श्रुतं भविद्धः 'has your Majesty heard?' In this sense the plur. पादाः 'feet' is employed instead of the dual (cp. 193, 2);—e.g. एष देवपादान् श्रधिचिपति 'he insults your Majesty('s feet).' Proper names are occasionally used in the same way;—e.g. इति श्रीशंकराचार्याः 'thus (says) the revered teacher Samkara.'
- b. The 1. pers. pl. is sometimes used by the speaker referring to himself (like our editorial 'we') instead of the singular or dual (cp. 193, 2);—e.g. वयमपि किंचित्पृक्शमः 'we (=I) too ask something'; किं कुर्मः सांप्रतम् 'what shall we (= you and I) do now?'
- c. The names of countries are plural, being really the names of the peoples (like 'Sweden' in English and 'Sachsen' in German);—e.g. विद्भेष 'in Vidarbha' (Berar). In the singular the name of the people often denotes the king of the country.

d. Some nouns are used in the plural only:— आप: f. 'water' (96, x); MINI: m. 'life'; Water' f. 'the rains'= 'the rainy season'; III: m. 'wife.'

Concord.

- 194. The rules of concord in case, person, gender, and number are in general the same as in other inflexional languages, but the following special points may be noted:—
- i. The nominative with दति may take the place of a predicative acc. governed by verbs of calling, considering, knowing, &c.;—e.g. त्राद्यस दति मां विदि 'know me to be a Brahmin' (instead of त्राद्यसं मां विदि).
- 2. When a dual or plural verb refers to two or more subjects the first person is preferred to the second or third, and the second person to the third;—e.g. समाई च गच्छावः 'you and I go.'
- 3. a. A dual or plural adjective agreeing with mass, and fem. substantives is put in the mass., but when neuters are associated with masculines and feminines, in the neuter (sometimes singular);—e.g. मृग्याचाराया पानं गहितानि महोमुजाम 'the chase, dice (aketh), and drinking are reprehensible in kings'; प्रविद्याय पूर्वी मुख्य तदः सद्य ज्यहीनं सर्परीष्ट्राद्ध्य 'a bird with clipped wings, a withered tree, a dried-up pond, a toothless serpent and a poor man are of equal account (neut. sing.) in (the eyes of) the world.'
- b. Occasionally an attribute or predicate takes the natural instead of the grammatical gender;—e.g. त्यां चिनायको जिराहाराः कताः भवाः 'thinking (masc.) of thee the subjects (fem.) have been reduced to taking no food.'
- c. As in Greek and Latin, a demonstrative pronoun agrees with its predicate in gender;—e.g. चसी परमी सन्तः 'this (masc.) is the best counsel' (masc.).

A participle used in place of a finite verb, which should agree with the subject, may be attracted in gender by a substantive predicate if in close proximity with it;—e.g. स्वं मे मित्रं जातम् 'thou (masc.) hast become (neut.) my friend' (neut.).

- 4. A singular collective noun is necessarily followed by a singular verb. Two singular subjects require a predicate in the dual, three or more require it in the plural. Occasionally, however, the predicate agrees in number with the nearest subject, being mentally supplied with the rest;—e.g. वासिसती राज्यसिदं सम च जीवितमिप खद्धीगम् 'Kāntimatī, this kingdom, and my very life (are) at your mercy' (sing.).
- a. Similarly, the verb which should agree with a single plural subject may be attracted in number by a noun predicate in its immediate proximity;—e.g. सप्तप्रतयो होताः समसं राज्यमुच्यते 'these seven constituent parts are said (sing.) to form the entire kingdom.'

Pronouns.

- 195. I. Personal. s. Owing to its highly inflexional character Sanskrit uses the nominatives of personal pronouns far less frequently than modern European languages do (cp. 191 a).
- b. The unaccented forms of षहम् and स्वम् (109 a) being enclitic, can be used neither at the beginning of a sentence or metrical line (Pāda), nor after vocatives, nor before the particles स, वा, एव, इ;—e.g. सम सियम 'my friend' (not मे); देवासान् पाहि 'O God, protect us' (श्रसान्, not नः); तस्त्र सम वा गृहम् 'his house or mine.'

atra-bhavān refers to some one present, either the person addressed or some third person—'your Honour here' or 'his Honour here'; त्यस्यान् tatra-bhavān, 'his Honour there,' referring to some one off the stage, can only be used of a third rerson. Both take the verb in the 3. sing.

- 2. Demonstrative. a. Us and sup refer to what is near or present—'this.' The former is the more emphatic of the two. Both are often employed agreeing with a subject in the I. or 3. pers. sing. in the sense of 'here';—e.g. Us avel anatas ya: 'here comes your son.' sur an: 'this person' is frequently used as an equivalent of 'I.'
- 3. Possessive. These pronouns (116) are comparatively little used, as the genitive of the personal pronouns is generally employed. In accordance with the sense of स्वत् (195, 1c), its derivatives स्वदीय bhavad-iya and सावत्क bhavat-ka are used as possessive pronouns of the second person in respectful address.

THE CASES.

Nominative.

- 196. The nominative is far less frequently used in Sanskrit as the subject of a sentence than in other Indo-European languages. Its place is very commonly supplied by the instrumental of the agent with a passive verb;—e.g. केनापि ससर्वकेषिकासे स्थितम् 'a certain field-watcher was standing aside' (lit. 'by a certain field-watcher it was stood aside').
- a. The nominative is used predicatively with verbs meaning 'to be, become, seem, appear,' as well as with the passive of verbs of calling, considering, sending, appointing, making, &c.;—e. g. तैन स्निंग कुद्धरो बाद्यः कतः 'the dog was turned into a tiger by the sage.'
- b. The nominative followed by (a may in certain circumstances take the place of the accusative (see 194, 1).

Accusative.

- 197. Besides its ordinary use of denoting the object of transitive verbs, the accusative is employed to express—
- 1. the goal with verbs of motion;—e.g. स विद्भान चगमत् 'he went to Vidarbha.'
- a. verbs of going, like गम् and या, are very commonly joined with an abstract substantive where either the corresponding adjective with 'to become,' or merely an intransitive verb would be used in English;—e.g. स कीतिं याति 'he becomes famous' (lit. 'goes to fame'); पश्च नक्ति 'he dies' (lit. 'goes to death').
- 2. duration of time and extension of space;—e.g. मासमधीत 'he learns for a month'; योजनं गक्ति 'he goes (the distance of) a Yojana' (nine miles).
- 3. the object of desiderative adjectives in  $\P$  (cp. 169) and of some compound adjectives beginning with prepositions;—e.g.

तितीर्षुर् असि सागर्म 'I am desirous of crossing the ocean'; दमयलीम् अनुत्रतः 'devoted to Damayantī.'

4. the cognate object of intransitive verbs in the case of substantives and the analogous adverbial sense in the case of adjectives;—e.g. कामान सर्वान् वर्षतु 'may he rain (i. e. grant) all desires'; शीशं गच्छाम 'let us go quickly' (originally, 'go a quick gait').

Double Accusative.

- 198. Two accusatives are governed by-
- 1. verbs of calling, considering, knowing, making, appointing, choosing;—e.g. जानामि खां प्रकृतिपुर्वम् 'I know thee (to be) the chief person.'
- 2. verbs of speaking (ब्रू, वस्, सह्), asking (प्रक्), begging (यास्, प्रार्थ्य), instructing (सनु-ग्रास्), fining (द्रण्डय), winning (जि), milking (दुह्);—e.g. सन्तियो वासं व्यावहार नसम् 'the bird addressed a speech to Nala'; सार्थ पृक्टिवृतं दिवान 'he should ask true evidence from the twice-born'; विसं यास्ते वसुधाम 'he asks Bali for the earth'; यदनुगासि माम 'what she commands me'; तान सहसं दण्डयेत 'he should fine them a thousand (paṇas)'; जिला राज्यं नसम् 'having won the kingdom from Nala'; रहानि दुढुकधिरियोम 'they milked (i.e. extracted) gems from the earth.'
- a. क्यर 'tell,' वेद्य 'make known,' and आ-द्ग् 'enjoin,' never take the accusative of the person addressed, but the dative (or gen.).
- 3. verbs of bringing, conveying, leading, dispatching;—e.g. यासम् अवां नयति 'he brings the goat to the village'; गुजनावां पतिकृतं विद्वार्थ 'having sent Sakuntalā away to her husband's house.'

- 4. causative verbs;—e.g. रामं वद्मधापयति 'he causes Rāma to learn the Veda'; if stress is laid on the agent (the direct acc.), it may be put in the instrumental: तां सनिः खाद्येत् 'he should cause her to be devoured by dogs.'
- a. When the causative meaning has faded, the dat. or gen. of the person is used instead of the acc.; this is generally the case with दर्शय 'show' ('cause to see'), and आवय 'tell' ('cause to hear'), and always with वेद्य 'make known,' 'tell' ('cause to know').
- b. In the passive construction the direct acc. (the person or agent) becomes the nom., the indirect acc. (the object or thing) remains;—e.g. राभो वेदम अध्यायते 'Rāma is caused to learn the Veda'; तां सान: खायने 'dogs are caused to devour her'; विशिधायते वसुधाम 'Bali is asked for the earth.'

Instrumental.

- 199. The fundamental notion of the instrumental, which may be rendered by 'by' or 'with,' expresses the agent, the instrument (means), or concomitant by or with which an action is performed;—e. g. तेगासम् 'it was said by him'='he said'; स अपनि व्यापाद्तः 'he was killed with a sword'; यस मिनेण संवापस्ततो नाकोइ पुरवान् 'there is no one happier (201, 2a) in this world than he who has converse with a friend.'
- r. The following are modifications of the instrumental sense expressing—
- a. the reason: 'by,' through,' by reason of,' because of,' on account of';—e.g. सवतो ६ नुपहेबा 'through your favour'; तेजा-पर्धित खां दख्यामि 'I punish you for that fault'; खाञ्चख्या 'by the thought of a tiger'—'because he thought it was a tiger' (op. p. 172, 5); सुविधाक्या 'under the delusion of (the existence of) pleasure.'

- b. accordance: 'by,' 'in conformity with';—e. g. प्रक्रला 'by nature'; जात्या 'by birth'; स सम सतेन वर्तते 'he goes by (acts in accordance with) my opinion.'
- c. the price: ('with,' by means of'=)'for,' at the price of';— e.g. र्पन्मतेन विक्रीयमाणं पुस्तकम् 'a book sold for a hundred rupees'; आत्मानं सततं रहेद् दारिपि धनैरिप 'a man should always save himself even at the cost of his wife or cf his wealth.'
- d. time within which anything is done: ('by the lapse of'=) 'in';—e.g. द्वाद्यभिर् वर्षेर् व्यावरणं श्रूयते 'grammar is learnt in twelve years.'
- e. the way, vehicle or part of the body by which motion is effected;—e.g. कतभेन मागेण प्रनष्टाः काखाः 'in what direction (lit. 'by what road') have the crows disappeared?' वाजिना चरति 'he goes on horseback' (lit. 'by means of a horse'); स सानं स्त्रकोगोवाइ 'he carried (uvāha) the dog on his shoulder.'
- f. 'in respect of': with words implying superiority, inferiority or defectiveness;—e.g. एतान्यां ग्रीयेस हीनः 'inferior to these two (abl.) in valour'; पूर्वान महामान तयातिश्चेष 'O fortunate man, you excel your ancestors in that (devotion)'; सर्गा कायाः 'blind of an eye.'
- g. 'of,' 'with': with words meaning need or use, चर्च:, प्रयोजनम् (used interrogatively or with a negative), or किम् 'what?' (with or without क 'do');—e.g. को मे जीवितेवार्ध: 'what is the use of life to me' (gen.); देवपादानां सेवक्न प्रयोजनम् 'your Majesty's feet have no need of servants'; कि तया किवते धन्वा 'what is to be done with that cow?' कि व एतेव 'what have we (to do) with this?' Similar is the use of कतम् 'done with'= 'away with' and प्रवम 'enough of' (cf. 180): कतमभूत्वावेव 'away with rising'= 'pray do not rise.'

- h. 'with,' 'at': with verbs of rejoicing, laughing, being pleased, satisfied, astonished, ashamed, disgusted;—e.g. বাযুৰ্থ: বেইনামি নুঅনি 'a low person is satisfied even with very little'; বহাম নৈৰ 'he laughed at it.'
- L 'of,' 'by': with verbs of boasting or swearing;—e. g. अर्त-गासना चाहं भूपे 'I swear by Bharata and myself.'
- ! the object (victim) with যেল 'sacrifice';—e.g. ঘসুৰা হাই যেনা 'he sacrifices a bull to Rudra.' Here we have the real inst. sense surviving from the time when যেল meant 'worship' a god (acc.) with (inst.).
- 2. The concomitant or sociative sense is generally supplemented by the prepositional adverbs सह, साकम, सार्धम् and समम 'with,' which are used (like 'with' in English) even when separation or antagonism is implied;—e.g. पुचेण सह पिता गतः 'the father went with his son'; मिनेण सह चित्तविद्धेषः 'disagreement with a friend'; सतेन विद्धे समं युद्धम् 'he engaged in a fight with him.' This sense is also applied—
- a. to express the accompanying circumstances or the manner in which an action is performed;—e.g. ती दंपती महता सेहेन वसतः 'that pair lives in great affection'; महता सुद्धिने 'with great pleasure.'
- h. with the passive of verbs which have the sense of accompanying, joining, endowing, possessing, and the opposite;—e.g. ख्या सहितः 'accompanied by you;' धनेन संपन्नो विहीनो वा 'possessed or destitute of wealth'; प्राधिर वियुक्तः 'bereft of life.'
- c. with adjectives expressive of identity, equality, or likeness: सम, समान, सदृश, तुष्य;—e.g. श्रकेण सम: 'equal to Indra'; सनेव सदृश: 'like him'; स्यं न मे पाद्रजसापि तुष्य: 'he is not even equal to the dust of my feet.' The genitive is also used with these adjectives (cp. 202, 2 d).

Dative.

- 200. The dative case expresses either the indirect object, generally a person, or the purpose of an action.
  - A. The dative of the indirect object is used-
  - 1. with transitive verbs, with or without a direct object :--
- a. of giving (दा, अप्य), telling (चज्, श्रंस, कथ्य, ख्वापय, निवेद्य), promising (प्रति॰ or आ-श्रु, प्रति-जा), showing (द्र्श्य);—e.g. विप्राय गां द्दाति 'he gives a cow to the Brahmin'; कथ्यामि ते भूतार्थम 'I tell you the truth.'
- b. of sending, casting;—e.g. भोजन दूती रघवे विद्यष्ट: 'a messenger was sent by Bhoja to Raghu'; मुसांसिचिपू रामाय 'they cast (47) darts at Rāma.'
- 2. with intransitive verbs meaning to please (र्च), desire (सुम्, सृष्ट्), be angry with (समूय, कुप्, कुध्), injure (द्रृष्ट्);— e.g. रोचते महाम् 'it pleases me'; न राज्याय सृष्ट्ये 'I do not long for the kingdom'; किंकराय कुप्यति 'he is angry with his servant.' (कुध् and द्रृष्ट् when compounded with prepositions govern the acc.)
- 3. with words of salutation;—e.g. गर्गेशाय नमः 'salutation to Ganesa'; कुश्च ते 'health to thee'; रामाय खर्ति 'hail to Rāma'; खागतं देवी 'welcome to her Majesty.'
- B. The dative of purpose expresses the end for which an action is done, and is very often equivalent to an infinitive;—e.g. सुत्राये हरिं भजति 'he worships Hari for (= to obtain) salvation'; फलेग्यो याति 'he goes for (= to obtain) fruit'; ज्ञस्तपुचाणां नीतिशास्त्रोपदेशाय भवनाः प्रमाणम् 'your Honour (has) full authority for the instruction of (= to instruct) my sons in the principles of morality'; युजाय प्रस्थितः 'he started for a fight' (='to fight'); पुनर्श्यनाय 'au revoir.'

This dative is specially taken by verbs meaning-

- 1. 'be fit for,' 'tend or conduce to '(क्रुप्, सं-पट्, प्र-भू);—e.g. भिक्तिशागाय कराते 'piety conduces to knowledge.'
- a. सस् and मू are used in the same way, but are often omitted;—e.g. सघूनामिप संत्रयो रचारी भवति 'the combination even of the weak leads to safety'; आर्तनाणाय वः शस्त्रम् 'your weapon (serves) for the protection of (= to protect) the distressed.'
- 2. 'be able,' 'begin,' 'strive,' 'resolve,' 'order,' 'appoint';—
  e.g. र्यं कथा चित्रसाकर्षणायाम्भवत् 'this story was able to win over (ākarṣaṇāya) the warrior'; मावर्तत म्पथाय 'he began to (take) an oath'; तदन्वेषणाय यतिष्ठे 'I will try to find her'; तेन जीवोत्सर्गाय व्यवसितम् 'he has resolved on abandoning his life'; दुष्ट्तरम् चित्रस्वारायादिश्च 'having charged (ā-diśya) his daughter with the reception of the guests'; रावणाक्तिय देविनयोजित: 'he was appointed by the gods for the destruction of (= to destroy) Rāvaṇa.'
- s. The adverb चलम् 'sufficient' is used in the sense of 'be able to cope with,' 'be a match for';—e.g. देखेभ्यो इरिर्जम् 'Hari (is) a match for the demons.'

Ablative.

- 201. The ablative primarily expresses the starting-point or source from which anything proceeds. It thus answers to the question 'whence?' and may in general be translated by 'from.'
- E.g. षहम स्वाद् वनाद् मनुमिक्शिम 'I wish to depart from this forest'; पापाझाश उज्ञवित 'ruin results from sin' (pāpād); निस्याझ च्याल सः 'he did not swerve from his purpose' (niścayād); स्वजन्थः सुतविनाशं गुत्राव 'he heard of the death of his son from his relations'; तां बन्धनादिमुख्य 'releasing her from her bonds'; विरम कर्मणोऽसात 'desist from this act'; पाहि मां नरकात 'protect me from hell.'

- a. The source of apprehension is put in the ablative with verbs of fearing (सी, उद्दिख ud-vij);—e.g. सुट्यकाद् विमेषि 'you are afraid of the hunter'; संगागाद् श्राह्मणो नित्यसुद्धित 'a Brahmin should always shrink from marks of honour.'
- b. Verbs expressing separation 'from' naturally take the ablative;—e.g. भवशो वियोजित: 'parted from you'; सा पतिलोकास होयते 'and she is deprived of her husband's place' (such words also take the instr.: cp. 199, 2 b). Allied to this use is that of वस्य 'to cheat of' (= so as to separate from);—e.g. वस्यानुं शास्यां कागसात् 'to cheat a Brahmin of his he-goat.'
- c. As the abl. expresses the terminus a quo, it is employed with all words meaning 'far,' or designating the cardinal points;—e.g. दूरं सामात 'far from the village'; सामात पूर्वो गिरिः 'the mountain (is) to the east of the village.'
- d. Similarly the abl. also expresses the time after which anything takes place;—e.g. बहोईष्टं कासात् 'seen after a long time'; सप्ताहात् 'after a week.'

The abl. also expresses the following senses connected with its original meaning:—

- 1. the cause, reason, or motive = 'on account of,' 'because of,' 'through,' 'from';—e.g. सोखाद मांसं मचयति 'he eats the flesh through greed.' This use of the abl. is especially common, in commentaries, with abstract nouns in स tva;—e.g. पर्वती श्विमाण भूमलात 'the mountain is fiery because of its smokiness.' (The instr. is also employed in this sense: 199, 1 a.)
  - 2. comparison:
- a. with comparatives (= 'than') or words with a comparative meaning;—e.g. गोविन्हाद् रामो विद्वत्तरः 'Rāma is more learned than Govinda'; कर्मणो ज्ञागम चतिर्चते 'knowledge is superior to action.' In this sense it is used even with positives (= 'in comparison with');—e.g. मार्था सर्वज्ञोकाद्दि वद्यमा भवति 'a wife is dear even in comparison with (i. e. dearer than) the whole world'; वसादिप कठोराणि मृद्वि कुसुमादिप चेतांसि 'hearts harder even than adamant, more tender even than a flower.'

- b. with words meaning 'other' or 'different' (सन्य, इतर, सपर, भिन्न);—e.g. क्रष्णादन्यों गोविन्दः 'Govinda is different from Kṛṣṇa.'
- c. Allied to the comparative abl. is that used with multiplicative words like 'double,' 'treble,' &c.;—e.g. मूखात पश्राणा दण्डः 'a fine five times (in comparison with) the value.'

Genitive.

- 202. The primary sense of the genitive is quasi-adjectival, since its qualification of another substantive means 'belonging to' or 'connected with.' It may generally be expressed in English by the preposition 'of.' With substantives the gen. is used in a possessive, subjective, objective, or partitive sense;—e.g. ाजः पुराः 'the king's man'; राजस्वाचमञ्जादंगं भवतः 'your concealment of Rākṣasa's wife' (i.e. 'by you'); गुङ्ग्या तस्याः 'by the supposition of her' (i.e. 'supposing it was she'); धूरा धनव-ताम 'the foremost of the wealthy.'
  - I. The gen. is used with a number of verbs:-
- a. in the possessive sense with देण् ार्ड, प्र-भू 'be master of,' have power over,' and with सस्, भू 'be,' विद्यते 'exists';—e.g. मातानः प्रभविधासि 'I shall be master of myself'; सम पुस्तकं विद्यते 'I have a book.'
- b. in the objective sense (concurrently with the acc.) with दय 'have mercy,' स्नु 'remember,' सनु-क्ष 'imitate';—e.g. एते तव दयनाम् 'may these men have mercy on you'; सार्ति ते प्रसादानाम् 'he remembers your favours'; भीमस्मानुकरि-ष्यामि 'I will imitate Bhīma.'

- c. in the objective sense (concurrently with the loc.) with verbs meaning 'do good or harm to' (उप-क्ष, प्र-सद्, भप-क्ष, भप-राध्), 'trust in' (वि-श्वस्), 'forbear with' (जम्);—e.g. मिनासाम उपकृतीण: 'benefiting his friends'; किं मया तस्या भपक्षतम् 'how have I done her an injury?' चमस्व मे 'forbear with me.'
- d. with verbs meaning 'speak of' or 'expect of';—e.g. ममादोषसाधेवं वदति 'he speaks thus of me though I am guiltless'; सर्वमस मूर्खेस संभायते 'anything may be expected of that fool.'
- e. frequently (instead of the dat. of the indirect object) with verbs of giving, telling, promising, showing, sending, bowing, pleasing, being angry;—e. g. मया तसामयं प्रदत्तम् 'I have granted safety to him' (tasya); किं तव रोचत एषः 'does he please you?' ममानतिकुडी मुनिः 'the sage (is) not very angry with me' (mama).
- sometimes (instead of the instr.) with verbs meaning 'be filled or satisfied';—e.g. नामिस्यति काष्टानाम् 'fire is not satisfied with logs.' So also the past part. पूर्ष 'full of' (gen.), or 'filled with' (instr.).
  - 2. The gen. is frequently used with adjectives :-
- a. allied to transitive verbs;—e.g. जरा विनाधिनी रूपस
  'old age is destructive of beauty.'
- b. meaning 'dependent on,' 'belonging or attached to,' 'dear to';—e.g. तवायत्तः स प्रतीकारः 'that remedy depends on you' (tava); यत् त्यास्य सक्तं किंचिंद् गृहीतमस्य तत् समर्पय 'give up whatever you have taken belonging to him' (asya); को नाम राजां प्रियः 'who, pray, is dear to kings?'
- c. meaning 'acquainted with,' 'versed or skilled in,' accustomed to' (concurrently with the loc.: 203 f);—e.g. यसिजः खल्वसि खोकव्यवहाराणाम् 'yon are, indeed, conversant with the ways of the world'; संग्रामाणाम् चकाविदः 'unskilled

- in battle'; उचितो जनः क्षेशानाम् 'people accustomed to hard-ships.'
- d. meaning 'like' or 'equal to' (concurrently with the instr.: 199, 2c);—e.g. राम: क्रण्यस तुष्टा: 'Rāma is equal to Kṛṣṇa.'
  - 3. The gen. expresses the agent with passive participles:-
- a. past participles having a pres. sense, formed from roots meaning 'think,' 'know,' 'worship';—e.g. राज्ञां सतः ('well thought of'=) 'approved of kings'; विदितो भवान् आध्यमसदाम् दृद्धः 'you are known to the hermits to be staying here.'
- b. future participles (which also take the instr.: 199);—e.g. सम (मया) सेव्यो हरि: 'Hari should be worshipped by me.'
- 4. The gen. is used with adverbs of direction in °तस -tas (cp. 177d);—e.g. यामस द्विणतः 'to the south of the village'; sometimes also with those in °एन -ena (concurrently with the acc.);—e.g. उत्तरिणास 'to the north of this' (asya) place.
  - 5. The gen. of time is used in the following ways:-
- a. with multiplicatives (108) or other numerals similarly used it expresses how often anything is repeated within a stated period;—e.g. आइं चिर्द्ध निर्वेपत् 'he should offer the funeral sacrifice three times a year'; संवासरक्षेत्रमपि चर्त क्रक्टं दिवोस्तरः 'a Brahmin should perform at least one severe penance a year.'
- b. Words denoting time are put in the gen. (like the abl.) in the sense of 'after';—e.g. वित्याहस्य (kati-paya shasya), 'after some days'; चिरस्य कासस्य 'after a long time': चिरस्य is also used alone in this sense.
- c. A noun and past part. in the gen., accompanying an expression of time, have the sense of 'since';—e.g. पदा द्यामी मासस् तातस्त्रीपरतस्त्र 'to-day (is) the tenth month since our father died' (uparatasya). This construction is akin to the gen. absolute (205, 2).

6. Two genitives are employed to express an option or a difference between two things;—e.g. व्यसनस्य च मृत्योच व्यसनं कष्टमुच्यते 'of vice and death, the former is called the worse'; एतावानेवायुष्मतः भूतकतोच विभिषः 'this is the only difference between you (the long-lived) and Indra.'

Locative.

203. The locative denotes either the place where an action occurs, or, with verbs of motion, the place whither an action is directed. The former sense may variously be translated by 'in. at, on, among, by, with, near,' the latter by 'into, upon'; corresponding to Lat. in with abl. and acc. respectively.

The following are examples of the ordinary use of the loc. in the sense of 'where?' पिषणसिम दृषे निवसिन 'birds live in that tree'; विद्मेषु 'in Vidarbha'(193,3c); आसानं तव दारि सापादिख्यामि 'I will kill myself at your door'; काम्राम् 'भ Kāsī' (Benares); फलं दृष्टं द्रमेषु 'fruit (is) seen on the trees'; आसिद्रेगेङ्गायाम् 'they encamped on (=close to) the Ganges'; न देवेषु न यशेषु ताद्रगूपवती क्रचिद् मागुषेष्यपि चानेषु दृष्ट्रपूर्वा 'neither among gods, nor Yakṣas, or among men either, had such a beauty anywhere been seen before'; मम पार्चे 'by my side.'

a. When the loc. means 'among' it is often equivalent to a partitive gen. (202);—e.g. सर्वेषु पुरेषु रामो सम प्रियतसः 'among (= of) all the sons Rāma is dearest to me.'

b. The person 'with' whom one dwells or stays is put in the loc.;—e.g. गुरी वसति 'he lives with his teacher.'

c. The loc. with the verbs तिष्ठति 'stands' and वर्तते 'goes om' (= Lat. versatur) expresses 'abides by,' 'complies with';—e.g.
न मे गासने तिष्ठसि 'you do not (stand by=) obey my command';
मातुमीत वर्तस्व 'comply with your mother's desire.'

- d. The loc. is used to express the effect 'of 'a cause;—e.g. देवमेव नृणां वृद्धी चये कार्याम् 'fate alone (is) the cause of the prosperity or decline of men.'
- e. The loc. expresses contact with verbs of seizing by (गई), fastening to (बन्ध्), clinging or adhering to (अग्, सिष्, सञ्ज), leaning on, relying on or trusting to;—e.g. केशेषु गृहीता 'seizing by the hair'; पाणी संगृह्य 'taking by the hand'; वृत्ते पाग्नं बबन्ध 'he fastened a noose to the tree'; व्यसनेष्वसक्तः भूरः 'a hero not addicted to vices'; वृत्तमृत्तेषु संश्रिताः 'reclining on the roots of trees'; विश्वसिति श्रुषु 'he trusts in his enemies'; आग्रंसन्ते सुरा ऋसाधिको धनुषि विजयम 'the gods fix their hopes of victory on his bent bow.'
- t. The loc. is used (concurrently with the gen.: 202, 2 c) with adjectives meaning 'acquainted with,' 'versed or skilled in';—e.g. रामो ( जयूत निपुण: 'Rāma (is) skilled in the game of dice'; नावे द्वा वयम 'we (are) expert in acting.'
- 8. The loc. is used figuratively to express the person or thing in which some quality or state is to be found;—e.g. सर्व संभावयान्य स्थिन 'I look for everything in him' (cp. 202, I d); दृष्टदोषा मृगया स्वामिन 'hunting (is) recognized as sinful in a prince'; आतानामुपदेश न दोष: 'there is no harm in (giving) advice to the afflicted.' Similarly, when the meaning of a word is explained, the loc. expresses 'in the sense of';—e.g. कलापो वहें 'kalāpa (is used) in the sense of peacock's tail.'
- h. The circumstances in which an action takes place are expressed by the loc.;—e.g. आपदि 'in case of distress'; आयेषु 'in fortune'; क्ट्रियनशा बक्रसीमवन्ति ('in the presence of'=) 'there being openings, misfortunes multiply.' 'In the last example the loc. expresses the reason; if it were accompanied by a predicative participle, it would be a loc. absolute (cp. 205, 1 a).

- i. The loc. of time, expressing when an action takes place, is only a special application of the preceding sense;—e.g. वर्षासु 'in the rainy season'; निशायाम 'at night'; दिने दिने 'every day.'
- j. The loc. expresses the distance at which anything takes place;—e.g. হ্রা ব্যরি... সংখ্যারণ নহর্ষি: 'the great sage lives at (a distance of) a yojana and a half from here.'
- 204. The loc answering to the question 'whither?' is always used with verbs of falling and placing; concurrently with the dat., with those of throwing and sending (200 A 1 b); and, concurrently with the acc., with those of going, entering, ascending, striking, bringing, sending;—e.g. भूमी पपात 'he fell on the ground'; तचेव मिचापाचे निधाय 'having put (it) in that same begging bowl'; इसस्रसि इत्वा 'placing his hand on his breast' (क 'do,' is frequently used in the sense of putting); चरी वासान चिपति 'he darts arrows at his enemy'; मत्यो नयां प्रविवेश 'the fish entered the river'; समीपवर्तिन नगरे प्रस्थितः 'he set out for a neighbouring town'; तं शिरस्थताउथत् 'he struck him on the head.'

Secondary applications of this loc. are the following:-

- a. It expresses the person or object towards which an action is directed or to which it refers = 'towards,' 'about,' 'with regard to';—e.g. प्राणिषु द्यां कुर्वन्ति साधवः 'the good show compassion towards animate beings'; भव द्चिणा पर्वने 'be courteous to your attendants'; चैने विवदन्ते 'they are disputing about a field.'
- b. Concurrently with the dat. (and gen.), it expresses the indirect object with verbs of giving, telling, promising, buying, selling (cp. 200 A 1 a; 202, 1e);—e.g. सहसाचे प्रतिचाय 'having promised (it) to Indra'; भ्रीरं विकीय धनवति 'having sold himself to a rich man'; वित्रति गुदः प्राप्ते विद्याम् 'a teacher imparts knowledge to an intelligent pupil.'

- c. Concurrently with the dat. (200 B 1, 2), it may express the aim of an action with words expressive of striving after, resolving on, wishing for, of appointing, choosing, enjoining, permitting, of being able or fit for;—e.g. सर्वसहर्ण यतः भूतः 'an enemy prepared for the appropriation of all property'; कर्मण न्ययुद्ध 'he appointed (him) to a task'; पतित्वे वर्यामास तम 'she chose him for her husband'; असमधी (यसदर्प्रणे (साक्षम 'he is incapable of supplying food for us'; वैखोकासापि प्रभुखं तस्मिन युच्यते 'the sovereignty even of the three worlds is fitting for him.' A predicative loc. alone is capable of expressing fitness ;—e. g. नयसा-गशीर्थसंपन्ने पुरुषे राज्यम 'sovereignty befits a man who is endowed with worldly wisdom, liberality, and heroism.' The loc. is sometimes used with verbs which do not in themselves imply an aim, to express the object gained as the result of an action;e.g. चर्मणि इन्ति द्वीपिनम् 'he kills the panther for the sake of (obtaining) his skin.'
- d. Nouns expressive of desire, devotion, regard, friendship, confidence, compassion, contempt, neglect, are often connected with the loc. (as is also the gen.) of the object to which those sentiments are directed;—e.g. न खबु गुजनबायां ममाभिषाषः 'my love is, indeed, not towards Sakuntalā'; न मे लिय विश्वासः 'I have no faith in you'; न ज्युष्यि कर्तथेष्यगादरः कार्यः 'neglect of duties, however small, should not be indulged in.'
- e. The loc. is similarly used with adjectives or past participles meaning 'fond of,' 'devoted to,' 'intent on,' and their opposites;— e.g. गार्थ: वेवलं स्वसुखे रता: 'women (are) intent on their own pleasure only.'

Locative and Genitive Absolute.

205. r. The locative is the usual absolute case in Sanskrit, and has much the same general application as the Greek genitive and the Lat. ablative absolute;—e.g. गच्छत्सु दिनेषु 'as the days went by'; गोषु दुग्धासु स गतः 'the cows having been milked, he departed'; कर्ण द्दाति मधि भाषमाणे 'she gives ear when I speak.'

- a. The predicate of the absolute loc. is practically always a participle; the only exception being that the part. सत् 'being,' is frequently omitted;—e.g. क्यं धर्मक्रियाविद्यः सतां रचितरि खिंच 'how (can there be any) interference with the good in the performance of their duties, when you (are) their protector?'
- b. The part. सत् 'being' (or its equivalents वर्तमान and स्थित) is often pleonastically added to another absolute part.;—e.g. सूर्योद्धिश्चतां प्राप्तेषुसूकेषु सत्सु 'at sunrise, when the owls had become blind.'
- c. The subject is of course always omitted when a past pass. part. is used impersonally; it is also omitted when the part. is accompanied by indeclinable words like एवम, तथा, इत्यम, इति;—e.g. तेनास्युपगते 'when consent had been given by him'; एवं गते 'this being the case' (lit. 'it having gone thus'); तथा इति स्ति or तथानुष्टिते 'this being done.'
- d. The particle एव and the noun साथ (as latter member of a compound) may be used after an absolute participle to express 'no sooner—than,' 'scarcely—when';—e.g. प्रभातायाभेव रजन्याम् 'scarcely had it dawned, when'; प्रविष्टमाच एव तचमवति 'no sooner had his Honour entered, than.'
- 2. The gen. absolute is much less common than the loc. and more limited in its application. It is restricted to contemporaneous actions, the subject being a person and the predicate a present participle in form or sense. Its meaning may be rendered by 'while,' 'as,' or 'though';—e.g. पश्चता मे परिश्रमण् 'wandering about, though I was looking on'; एवं वद्तवादा स जुटाकी निमृत: स्थित: 'while he was speaking thus, the hunter remained concealed'; इति चिनायतसस्य तच तोयार्थमाययुः स्त्रियः 'while he was thus reflecting women came there to fetch water.'

Participles.

- 206. Participles are constantly used in Sanskrit to qualify the main action, supplying the place of subordinate clauses. They may, as in Latin and Greek, express a relative, temporal, causal, concessive, or hypothetical sense. A final sense is also expressed by the future participle. All these meanings are inherent in the participle, without the aid of particles, except that AQ is usually added when the sense is concessive.
- E.g. खगाल: कोपाविष्टस् तम् उवाच 'the jackal, being filled with anger, said to him'; निषिजस्यं मयानेकशो न मृणोिष 'though you have been frequently dissuaded by me, you do not listen to me'; भजन्यती जानतसे भिरो यास्ति खण्डशः 'if you do not tell, though knowing it, your head will be shattered to pieces'; ताडियसन् मीमं पुनर्भद्रवत् 'he ran again at Bhīma in order to strike him.'
- a. Bahuvrīhi compounds are very frequently employed in a participial sense, the part. सत् being omitted;—e.g. सथ ग्रङ्कितमना व्यचिनयत् then being anxious he reflected.'
- 207. Present Participle. This participle (as well as a past with a present sense) is used with ऋसि or मवति 'is,' आसे 'sits,' तिष्ठति 'stands,' वर्तते 'goes on,' to express continuous action, like the English 'is doing';—e.g. एतदेव वनं यसिसमूम चिर्मेव पुरा वसनाः 'this is the very forest in which we formerly dwelt for a long time'; मचयतासे 'he keeps eating'; सा यतिन रस्मासा तिष्ठति 'she is being carefully guarded'; परिपूर्योऽयं घटः सक्तुमवित्ते 'this pot is filled with porridge.'

- s. The negative of verbs meaning 'to cease' is similarly construed with a present participle;—e.g. सिंहो मृतान वापा-द्यतीपर्गम 'the lion did not cease (=kept) slaying the animals.'
- b. Verbs expressing an emotion such as 'to be ashamed,' to endure,' may be accompanied by a pres. part. indicating the cause of the emotion;—e.g. किं न सन्त्रस एवं बुवास: 'are you not ashamed of speaking thus?'
- c. A predicative present (or past) part. accompanies the acc., or the nom. in the passive construction, with verbs of seeing, hearing, knowing, thinking, wishing (cp. 198, 1);—e.g. प्रविश्वां न मां कश्चिद्पश्चत् 'no one saw me entering'; स मूपति कदा कनापि पद्मानां सोकद्यं गुत्राव 'the king one day heard some one repeating a couple of slokas'; मान्यवेश विवाहेन नहीं राजधिकन्यका: श्रूयन्ते परिशाता: 'many daughters of royal sages are recorded to have been wedded according to the marriage of the Gandharvas.'
  - 208. Past Participles. The passive part in त and its active form (161; 89, n.3) in वत् (but hardly ever the perf. act. part. in वस: 89) are very frequently used as finite verbs (the copula being omitted);—e.g. तेनेदम् उक्तम् 'this was said by him'; स दस्तावान् 'he said this.'
  - a. The passive of intransitive verbs is used impersonally; otherwise its past participle has an active sense;—e.g. अवाच चिरं स्थितम् 'I stood there for a long time'; स बकुं बतः 'he went to the Ganges'; स पणि मृतः 'he died on the way.'
  - b. Some past participles in 7 have both a passive and a transitive active sense;—e.g. MIN 'obtained' and 'having reached'; MIN 'entered (by)' and 'having entered'; WIN 'imbibed' and 'having drunk'; 'and 'forgotten' and 'baving forgotten';

- বিনায় 'divided' and 'having divided'; মধুন 'begotten' and 'having borne' (f.); সাকত 'ridden,' &c., and 'riding,' &c.
- c. The past participles in T never seem to occur with a transitive active meaning.
- 209. Future Participles Passive. These (162) express necessity, obligation, fitness, probability. The construction is the same as with the past pass. part.;—e.g. मरावशं देशालां मनावम् 'I must needs go to another country'; हनावोऽसि न ते राजन 'you must not (= do not) kill me, O king'; ततसीनापि यदः कर्तवः 'then he too will surely make a noise.'
- a. Occasionally the fut. pass. part. has a purely future sense;—e.g. युवयोः पचवित संयापि सुवित गन्तव्यम् 'I too shall go with ease by the strength of your wings.'
- b. भिवतसम् and भासम् (from भू 'be') are used impersonally to express necessity or high probability. The adjective or substantive of the predicate agrees with the subject in the instr.;—e.g. तथा संनिद्दित्या भवितसम् 'she must be (= is most probably) near'; तस्य प्राणिनो बलेन सुमहता भवितसम् 'the strength of that animal must be very great.'
- 210. The Indeclinable Participle (Gerund) nearly always expresses that an action is completed before another begins (rarely that it is simultaneous). Referring to the grammatical or the virtual subject of the main action, it generally agrees with the nom., or, in the passive construction, with the instr., but occasionally with other cases also;—e.g. तं प्रयास्य स गतः 'having bowed down to him, he departed'; सथ तेगातानं तस्रोपरि प्रविध्य प्रावाः परिवातः 'then he throwing himself upon him lost his life' (प्रविध्य agrees with तेग); तस्य दृष्टेच ववृधे कामसां परिवातः 'his love increased as soon as he had seen the sweetly smiling maiden' (दृष्ट्या agrees with तस्य).
  - a. It may frequently be translated by 'in' or 'by' with a verbal noun;—e.g. मां निर्धनं इसा विं समेध्वम् 'what would you gain by killing a poor man like me?' This use represents the original sense of the form as an old instrumental of a verbal noun.

- b. Having the full value of inflected participles, it may express the various logical relations of the latter, and may even be accompanied, like them, by आसी, तिष्ठति, वर्तते to express continuous action;—e.g. सर्वेपोरान् सतीत्व वर्तते 'he is the foremost of all the townsmen.'
- c. A number of gerunds are equivalent in sense to prepositions (179).
- d. The original instr. nature of the gerund is preserved in its employment with किम or अलम or with a general subject expressed by the impersonal passive construction;—e.g. कि तव गोपायिका 'what (gain accrues) to you by concealing?' असं ते वनं गला 'have done with going to the forest'; पशून हला यदि स्वर्ग गस्यते 'if one goes to heaven by killing animals.'

Infinitive.

The infinitive may be used with substantives (e.g. 'time,' 'opportunity'), adjectives ('fit,' 'capable'), as well as verbs (e.g. 'be able,' 'wish,' 'begin');—e.g. नायं कालो विलम्बतुम् 'this is not the time to delay'; सवसरोऽयम् आत्मानं प्रकाशियतुम् 'this is an opportunity to show yourself'; लिखितमपि सवाटे प्रोजियतुं कः समर्थः 'who (is) able to escape from what is written on his forehead (by fate)?' यहं लां प्रष्टम् आगतः 'I have come (in order) to ask you'; कथितुं भक्तोति 'he is able to tell'; रिष सा कर्तुम् 'she wished to make.'

- a. The 2. and 3. sing. ind. of आई 'deserve' are used with an infinitive in the sense of a polite imperative = 'please,' 'deign to'; e.g. भवान सां श्रोतुमईति 'will your Honour please to hear me?'
- b. The infinitive, after dropping its final म, may be formed into a Bahuvrihi compound (189) with काम 'desire,' or मनस् 'mind,' in the sense of wishing or having a mind to do what the verb expresses;—e.g. 天寶爾田: 'desirous of seeing'; ' वि वक्तमना सवान 'what do you intend to say?'
- c. There being no passive form of the infinitive in Sanskrit, verbs governing the infin. are put in the passive in order to give it a passive meaning;—e.g. कर्तृ न युज्यते 'it is not fit to be done'; मया नीतिं याहयितुं ग्रस्का 'they can be taught morality by me'; तेन मस्डप: कार्यितुम् आर्ट्स: 'a hut (was) begun to be erected by him.'
- d. The fut. part. pass. श्रुक्त sak-ya may either agree with the subject or be put in the neut. sing.;—e.g. न श्रुकाकी (दोषाः) समाधातुम 'those (mischiefs) cannot be repaired'; सा न श्रुकाम उपेचितुं कृपिता 'she cannot be ignored (lit. 'she is not a possible thing to ignore') when angry.' युक्त 'fitting' and न्यास्य 'suitable' may be construed in the same way;—e.g. सेयं न्यास्या मचित्रं सवत्तः 'she should rightly be released by me from you.'

TENSES AND MOODS:

Present.

- 212. The use of this tense is much the same as in English. But the following differences should be noted:—
- I. In narration the historical present is more commonly used than in English, especially to express the durative sense (which the Sanskrit imperfect lacks);—e.g. दमनकः पुन्कति कथमेतत् 'Damanaka asked, "How was it?"' हिर्द्धको भोजनं कला विसे स्विपित 'Hiranyaka, having taken his food, used to sleep in his hole.'
- a. पुरा 'formerly,' is sometimes added to this present;—e.g. किसंसिट् वृचे पुराइं वसामि 'I formerly used to live in a certain tree.' The particle सा (which in the older language frequently accompanied पुरा, and thus acquired its meaning when alone) is much more frequently used thus;—e.g. किसंसिट् पशिशने सोमिलको नाम कौलिको वसति सा 'in a certain place a weaver named Somilaka used to live.'
- b. The present is used to express the immediate past;—e.g. स्यम आगक्सि 'here I come,' i.e. 'I have just come.'
- 2. The present also expresses the near future, पुरा 'soon' and यावत 'just' (180) being sometimes added;—e.g. तर्हि मुत्बा धर्गक्यामि 'then leaving the bow, I am off'; तद् यावक्रमुझं प्रवासि 'therefore I will just send Satrughna.'
- a. With interrogatives it implies a doubt as to future action;—e.g. विं करोमि 'what shall I do?'
- b. It may express an exhortation to perform an action at once;—
  e. g. तिई गृहसेव प्रविशास: 'then we (will) enter (= let us enter) the house.'

Past Tenses.

213. All the three past tenses, imperfect, perfect, and aorist, besides the past participles in  $\pi$  to and  $\pi = \pi$  to exact (and the historical present), are used promiscuously to express the historical or remote past, applying equally to facts which happened only once, or were repeated or continuous.

- a. The perfect is properly restricted to the statement of facts of the remote past, not coming within the experience of the speaker. The 1. and 2. sing. are therefore very rare.
- b. The imperfect, in addition to describing the historical past, states past facts of which the speaker himself has been a witness.
- c. The aorist has (along with the participles in त and तवत्) the special sense of the present perfect, being therefore appropriate in dialogues;—e. g. अनुत्रंपाद्तिखादुफको से सनोर्थः 'my desire has obtained sweet fulfilment'; तुशं स्वा राध्यस् अद्धि 'I have bestowed the sovereignty on you'; तं दृष्टवानिश्च 'I have seen him.'
- d. The agrist (very rarely the imperfect) without the augment is used imperatively with  $\overline{AT}$  (215 e and 180).
- e. As there is no pluperfect in Sanskrit, its sense (to be inferred from the context) has to be expressed by the other past tenses or the gerund, or occasionally by a past participle with an auxiliary verb.

Future.

- 214. The simple future is a general tense, referring to any future action, while the periphrastic future, which is much less frequently employed, is restricted to the remote future. Both can therefore often be employed in describing the same action, and they frequently interchange.
- a. The future is sometimes used in an imperative sense, when accompanying an imperative;—e.g. मद्रे यास्यसि मम तावद् सर्वितं त्रुसताम् 'go, my dear, but first hear my request.'

Imperative.

215. Besides the ordinary injunctive or exhortative sense, this mood has some special uses.

- a. The first persons, which are survivals of old subjunctive forms, may be translated by 'will' or 'let';—e.g. दोव्यविखत्रवीद् आता 'his brother said, "Let us play"'; यहं करवाणि 'I will make.'
- b. The 3. sing. pass. is commonly used as a polite imperative instead of the 2. pers. act.;—e.g. देव श्रुयताम् 'Sire, pray listen!' (cp. 211 a).
- c. The imperative may be used, instead of an optative or benedictive, to express a wish or blessing;—e.g. चिरं जीव 'may you live long'; शिवास ते पन्यानः सन्तु 'may your paths be auspicious'= 'Godspeed.'
- d. It may express possibility or doubt, especially with interrogatives;—e.g. विषं भवत सा वासु फटाटोपो भयंकर: 'whether there be poison or not, the swelling of a serpent's hood is terrifying'; प्रतित कसाद भृवि 'who on earth would believe it?' किसधुना कर्वास 'what should we do now?'
- e. The imperative with the prohibitive particle HT is somewhat rare, its place being commonly supplied by the unaugmented aor. (213 d), by the opt. with H, or NEW and EAT with the instr. (180).

Optative or Potential.

- 216. Besides its proper function this mood also expresses the various shades of meaning appropriate to the subjunctive (which has become obsolete in Sanskrit).
- In principal sentences it expresses the following meanings:—
- a. a wish (often with the particle अपि added);—e.g. अपि पञ्चेयमिङ् राघवम् 'O that I could see Rāma here!'
- b. possibility or doubt;—e.g. कदाचिद् गोशब्देन नुधेत 'perhaps he may be awakened by the lowing of the cows'; पश्चेयु: चितिपतयम् चार्क्या 'kings can see through the eye of their

- spies'; एकं इन्यात वा इन्यादिषुर् मुक्तो धनुष्मता 'the arrow shot by an archer may hit an individual, or may not hit him.'
- c. probability, being often equivalent to a future;—e.g. र्यं क्या नाच तिष्ठेत 'this girl (is not likely to =) will not stay here.'
- d. exhortation or precept;—e.g. त्वमेवं कुर्याः 'do you act thus'; आपदर्थे धनं रचत 'one should save wealth against calamity.'
- 2. The optative is used in the following kinds of subordinate clauses:—
- a. in general relative clauses;—e.g. कासातिक्रमणं युत्तेर् यो न कुर्वति मूपति: 'the king who (= every king who) does not neglect the time for the payment of salaries.'
- b. in final clauses ('in order that');—e.g. आदिश मे देशं यच वसेयम् 'indicate to me the place where I am to live' (=that I may live there).
- c. in consequential clauses ('so that');—e.g. स भारो भर्तव्यो यो नरं नावसाद्येत '(only) such a burden should be borne as may not weigh a man down.'
- d. in the protasis (as well as the apodosis) of hypothetical clauses, with the sense of the Lat. present (possible condition) or imperfect (impossible condition) subjunctive (cp. 218);—e.g. यदि न स्थान नर्पतिर् विश्लवेत नौर्व प्रजा 'if there were not a king, the state would founder like a ship.'

Benedictive or Precative.

217. This rare form (150), a kind of aorist optative, is properly restricted to the expression of blessings, or, in the first person, of the speaker's wish;—e.g. बीर्मसदा भूयाः 'mayst thou give birth to a warrior'; इतार्थो भूयासम् 'may I become successful.' The imperative is also employed in this sense (215 c). In a few rare cases the benedictive is indistinguishable in meaning from an imperative or an ordinary optative;—e.g. रहं वची ब्रुवास 'do ye proclaim this speech'; न हि प्रपन्नामि ममापनुवाद यक्किम् 'for I do not perceive what should drive away my sorrow.'

Conditional.

218. The conditional, as its form (an indicative past of the future) well indicates, is properly used to express a past condition, the unreality of which is implied, and is equivalent to the pluperfect (conditional) subjunctive in Latin or English, or the aorist indicative, used conditionally, in Greek. It is employed in both protasis and apodosis;—e.g. सुवृष्टिश्चेदमविषद् दुर्मिषं नामविष्यत 'if there had been abundant rain, there would have been no famine.' If a potential is used in the protasis, a conditional in the apodosis may acquire the sense of a hypothetical present (= imperf. subjunctive) ;—e. g. यदि न प्रसदेद्राचा द्रक मूले मत्यानिवापच्यन् दुर्वलान् वलवन्तराः 'if the king did not inflict punishment, the strong would roast the weak like fish on a spit.'

APPENDIX II

METRE IN CLASSICAL SANSKRIT

The versification of classical Sanskrit differs considerably from that of the Vedic hymns, being more artificial, more subject to strict rules, and showing a far greater number of varieties of metre.

Classical Sanskrit metres are divided into-

- I. those measured by the number of syllables;
- II. those measured by the number of morae they contain.

Nearly all Sanskrit poetry is written in stanzas consisting of four metrical lines or quarter-verses (called pada, foot' = quarter). These stanzas are regularly divided into hemistichs or half-verses.

Quantity is measured as in Latin and Greek. Vowels are long by nature or by position. Two consonants make a preceding short vowel long by position, Anusvāra and Visarga counting as full consonants. A short vowel counts as one mora (mātrā), a long vowel (by nature or position) as two.

Metres measured by Syllables (Aksara-cchandah).

These consist of-

- A. two half-verses identical in structure, while the quarterverses I and 3 differ from 2 and 4.
  - B. four quarter-verses all identical in structure.

A. The Śloka.

The Sloke ('song,' from sru, 'hear'), developed from the Vedic Anustabh, is the Epic verse, and may be considered the Indian verse par excellence, occurring, as it does, far more frequently than any other metre in classical Sanskrit poetry. It consists of two half-verses of sixteen syllables or of four padas of eight syllables.

Dividing the half-verse into four feet of four syllables, we find that only the second and the fourth foot are determined as to quantity. The fourth is necessarily iambic  $(\smile-\smile\_)$ , while the second may assume four different forms. The first and the third foot are undetermined, except that  $\smile-\smile\_$  is always excluded from them. By far the commonest form of the second foot is  $\smile--\smile$  (in Nala 1442 out of 1732 half-verses).

The type of the Sloka may therefore be represented thus—

• • • | U - - \cong | • • • • | U - U \cong |

E.g. Āsīd rājā Nělō nāmā Vīršsēnāsútō bālī upāpannō guņair istai rūpāvān asvākovidāh

It is only when the second foot has  $\smile -- \smile$  that the first feet may assume all its admissible forms. When the second feet has any of the other three forms, the first foot is limited, as shown in the following table:—

In the table a dot indicates an undetermined syllable: a comma marks the caesura.

The end of a pada coincides with the end of a word (sometimes only with the end of a word in a compound), and the whole Sloka contains a complete sentence. The construction does not run on into the next line. Occasionally three half-verses are found combined into a triplet.

B. All Four Padas identical in Form.

1. Of the numerous varieties developed from the Vedic Tristubh (11 syllables to the pāda), the commonest are—

c. Upajāti (a mixture of the above two):

2. The commonest forms of Jagatī (12 syllables to the pāda) are—

3. The commonest variety of Sakvarī (14 syllables to the pāda) is—

4. The commonest form of Atisakvarī (15 syllables to the pāda) is—

5. The commonest varieties of Atyasti (17 syllables to the pads) are—

c. Mandakranta :

6. The commonest form of Atidhrti (19 syllables to the pāda) is--

Sardulavikrīdita :

7. The commonest variety of Prakṛti (21 syllables to the pāda) is—

Sragdharā:

II. Metres measured by Morae.

A. Metres in which the sum total only of the morae is prescribed (Mātrā-chandah).

The Vaitālīya contains 30 morae in the half-verse, 14 in the first pāda, 16 in the second. Each pāda may be divided into three feet, the second always consisting of a choriambus, and the third of two iambics; while the first foot in the first pāda consists of a pyrrhic, in the second pāda of an anapaest. The half-verse thus contains 21 syllables. The following is the scheme of the half-verse:—

B. Metres in which the number of morae in each foot (gana) is specified (Gana-cchandah).

APPENDIX III

CHIEF PECULIARITIES OF VEDIC GRAMMAR

I. As several stages can be distinguished in the development of the Vedic language, some of the following statements are strictly applicable only to the Rig-veda, the oldest and most important monument of Vedic literature.

The Alphabet.

2. The sounds are the same as in Sanskrit, with the exception of two additional letters. Cerebral & d and & dh between vowels regularly become cerebral & l and & lh;—e.g. & letter idé, 'I praise'; Hag milhuse = High midhuse, 'to the bountiful.'

Sandhi.

- 3. A. Vowels. Hiatus is not avoided either within a word, or between the members of a compound, or between the words of a sentence; and, in particular, initial a after e and o (21 a) is only occasionally elided;—e. g. súriasya, 'of the sun'; su-ásviam, wealth in horses'; Váruṇasya Aguéh, 'of Varuṇa (and) Agni'; abhí eti, 'he goes towards'; vípro akṣarat, 'the priest poured out.'
- a. The e of the pronominal forms (dat., loc.) tvé, to or in thee, asmé, to or in us, yuşmé, to or in you, remains unchanged before vowels; as does the final o produced by the coalescence of a with the particle u, as in atho (athau), mó (mau), nó (nau).
- B. Consonants. The final syllables an, in, un, in are treated as if they were amh, imh, umh, imh (cp. 36 B 1, and 45, 1);

- i.e. an becomes am (except in the 3. pl. subjunctive, where it represents an original ant), while in, un, in become um, um, im;—e.g. maham asi, 'thou art great' (but a gacchan uttara yugani, 'later ages will come'): rasmim iva, 'like reins.'
- a. Sometimes rules which in Sanskrit apply internally only, are extended to the initials of words;—e. g. sahó sú nah (cp. 67).

Declension.

4. A. Endings. Singular. s. Instr. ā is sometimes added to stems in a, less commonly to feminines in ā;—e.g. yajñá, m. 'sacrifice,' instr. yajñéna and yajñá; manīṣá, f. 'wisdom,' instr. manīṣáyā and manīṣá. The a of ena is also often lengthened.

Stems in -man sometimes do not syncopate the vowel of the suffix, while when they do, the m or the n is occasionally dropped; —e. g. bhū-manā and bhū-n-á for bhū-mn-ā; drāgh-m-á for drāgh-man-ā.

b. Loc. Stems in i take ā, though less commonly than au;—e. g. agní, m. 'fire,' loc. agnáu and agná.

Stems in -an usually drop the i;—e.g. brahmani and brahman. They never syncopate the a of the suffix;—e.g. rajani only (cp. 90).

- c. Voc. Stems in -mat, -vat, -vas, -yas regularly form their vocative in -as;—e.g. nom. bhānumán: voc. bhānumas; hárivān: hárivas; cakṛvān: cakṛvas; kánīyān: kánīyas.
- Dual. s. The nom. acc. voc. take a more usually than au;—e.g. asvina, 'the two Asvins'; dvara, f. 'the two doors'; nada, 'the two rivers.' Feminines in derivative i remain unchanged;—e.g. devi, 'the two goddesses.'
- b. The personal pronouns of the 1. and 2. pers. distinguish five cases;—e.g. N. yuvám; A. yuvám; I. yuvábhyám or yuvábhyám; Ab. yuvád; L. yuvós.

- Plural. Nom. a. Masculine stems in -a often (feminines in -ā rarely) take āsas beside ās;—e.g. mártyāsaḥ, 'mortals.'
- b. Feminine stems in derivative ī take s only; e.g. devih, 'goddesses.'
- c. Neuters take ā, ī, ū (sometimes shortened to ă, ĭ, ŭ) as well as āni, īni, ūni;—e. g. yugá, 'yokes' (cp. Lat. juga, Gk. ζυγά).

Instr. Stems in -a take ebhis nearly as often as ais;—e. g. devébhih and deváih.

B. Inflexional Type. The main difference in type of declension is in the polysyllabic stems (mostly feminines, with a few masculines) in ī and ū, a considerable number of which are inflected like the monosyllabic stems dhī and bhū (100), excepting the gen. pl., where they take nām. (Stems in derivative ī otherwise for the most part follow nadī and vadhū as in Sanskrit: 100.)

E.g. rathi, m. charioteer'; nadi, f. river'; tanu, f. body.

Sing.	N.	rathí-s	nadí-s	tanű-s
	A.	rathí-am	nadíam	tanúam
	I.	rathíā	nadíā	tanúā
	D.	rathie	nadíe	tanúe
	Ab. G.	rathias	nadías	tanúas .
	L.			tanúi
	v .	ráthi		tánu
Du.	N.A.V.	. rathía	nadíā	tanúä
	I.	rathíbhyām	nadíbhyām	tanűbhyām
	G.L.	rathíos	nadios	tanúos
Pl.	N.A.	rathías	nadías	tanúas
	G.	rathí-n-ām	nadí-n-ām	tanú-n-ām
	L.	rathísu	naqįėn	tanúsu

Conjugation.

- 5. Augment. a. This prefix is in some cases permanently long, in others metrically;—e.g. á-var, 3. sg. aorist of vr, 'he has covered'; á-raik, 3. sg. aorist of ric, 'she has given up.'
- b. The augment can always be dropped without changing the meaning. Unaugmented forms are, however, often used as injunctives: this use has survived in Sanskrit with the prohibitive particle má (128 a).
- 6. Verbal Prefixes. These generally precede, but sometimes follow the verb. They can be separated from it by particles and other words;—e.g. á tvā viśantu, 'let them enter thee'; gámad vájebhir á sá nah, 'may he come to us with riches.'
- 7. Endings. a. The primary termination of the r. pers. pl. active, -masi, is much commoner than -mas;—e.g. i-masi and i-mas, 'we go.'
- b. In the 2. pl. -thans and -tans often occur beside -tha and -ta;—e. g. yā-thá and yā-thána, 'ye go'; yā-tá and yā-tána, 'do ye go.'
- c. The 2. sg. impv. has a not uncommon alternative ending in -tāt (added to the weak stem), which expresses an injunction to be carried out in the future; rákṣa-tāt, 'protect'; brū-tāt, 'say'; dhat-tāt, 'place' (cp. Gk. φερέ-τω, Lat. lege-tōd). It is sometimes used for the 2. du. and pl., or 1. and 3. sg.
- d. The 3. pers. sg. pres. middle (like the perf. middle, 136) is not uncommonly identical with the 1.;—e.g. say-e, 'he lies' (=sete).
- 8. Reduplication. Many roots reduplicate with a long vowel in the perfect;—e.g. dhr, 'support': dādhār-a; vas, 'clothe': vā-vas-e; tu, 'thrive': tū-tāv-a.
- 9. Tenses. a. There is a pluperfect, which does not, however, occur often. It is formed from the perfect stem by prefixing the augment, and adding the secondary terminations;—e.g. from cit, 'appear,' 1. sg. á-ciket-am, 3. á-ciket.

- b. The periphrastic future does not exist; the periphrastic perfect is not known to the Rig-veda.
- noner than the optative. Its meaning is imperative or final; it is also often equivalent to a future indicative. Its stem is formed by adding -a to the tense stem. In the a-conjugation it therefore ends in  $\bar{a}$ ;—e.g. bhávā. In the second conjugation -a is added to the strong stem, which remains throughout;—e.g. from kṛ, 'do': kṛṇáv-a. The endings are partly primary, partly secondary. Thus the subjunctive of bhū, 'be,' and su, 'press out,' are formed as follows:—

Par.	1. bhávā-ni	bhávā-va	bhávā-ma
	2. bhávã-si, bhávā-s	bhávā-thas	bhávā-tha
	3. bhávā-ti, bhávā-t	bhávā-tas	bhávā-n
Ãtm.	r. bháv-ai	bhávā-vahai	bhávű-mahai
	2. bhávã-se	bhav-aithe	bhávā-dhvai
	3. bhávã-te	bhav-aite	(bháv-anta)
Par.	r. sunáv-ā-ni	sunáv-ā-va	sunáv-ã-ma
	2. sunáv-a-s	sunáv-a-thas	sunáv-a-tha
	3. sunáv-a-t	sunáv-a-tas	sunáv-a-n
Ātm.	I. sunáv-si	sunáv-ā-vahai	sunáv-ā-mahai
	2. sunáv-a-se	sunáv-aithe	sunáv-a-dhvai
	3. sunáv-a-te	sunáv-aite	sunáv-anta

b. Not only the present, but the perfect and acrist as well, have all the three moods, subjunctive, optative, and imperative.

E.g. pf. subj. of stu, 'praise': tu-stav-a-t; opt. of vrt, 'turn': va-vrt-yāt; impv. of muc, 'release': mu-mug-dhí; of bhū, 'be': ba-bhū-tu; Ātm. 2. sg. of vrt: va-vrt-sva.

Aor. subj. nī, 'lead': 3. sg. néṣ-a-ti or néṣ-a-t; budh, 'wake': ódhiṣ-a-t; vid, 'find': vid-ā-t; kṛ, 'do': kár-a-ti or kár-a-t. Opt. fvid: vid-ét; aś, 'reach': aś-yát; bhaj, 'share': bhakṣṣṭá. Impv. fav, 'favour': 2. sg. aviḍ-ḍhí, du. aviṣ-ṭám, pl. aviṣ-ṭána; 3. sg. viṣ-ṭu; sad, 'sit down': 3. sg. sada-tu, du. sada-tām, pl. sada-ntu; śru, hear': 2. śru-dhí, śru-tám, śru-tá; 3. śró-tu, śru-tām, śru-antu.

- H. Participles. In addition to those surviving in Sanskrit he Veda has an aorist participle, both active and middle;—e.g. ?ar., from kṛ, 'do': kr-ánt; gam, 'go': gm-ánt; sthā, 'stand': sthānt; Ātm., kṛ: kr-āṇá; budh: budh-āná.
  - a. The part. in -ta-vat is not known to the Rig-veda.
- 12. Gerunds. In addition to the gerund in -tvá, there is a commoner one in -tví, and a very rare one in -tváya. The vowel of the forms used with prefixes, -ya and -tya, is generally lengthened.
- 13. Infinitives. About a dozen kinds of infinitives can be distinguished, having the form of an acc., dat., abl., gea., or loc. The last three cases are rare. The vast majority are dat. infinitives, these being about twelve times as common as the acc.
- a. The acc. inf. is formed either from the root or from a verbal noun in -tu (the latter being very rare in the Rig-voda);—e.g. sam-idh-am, 'to kindle'; prati-dha-m, 'to place upon'; pra-tfr-am, 'to lengthen out'; kar-tu-m, 'to make'; di-tu-m, 'to give.'
- b. The dat. inf. is formed from the root or from verbal norms in -as, -man, -van, -tu, or -dhi;—e. g. drá-é, "to see"; ind-dhí. 'to believe' (cp. eideo-dai); jīv-ás-e, 'to hve'; vid-mán-e (id para), 'to know'; dā-van-e (doîrai from deferm), dá-tav-e, 'to give'; kar-tav-ái (with double accent), 'to do'; gamá-dhyai, 'to ga."
- c. Examples of the other cases are: ava-pad-as, 'to fall down'; dá-tos, 'to give'; neṣ-ṣṇ-i, 'to lead'; dhartar-i, 'to support.'

Prepositions.

- 14. The genuine prepositions are used only with the acc., loc., and abl. (apart from a few isolated instances of the instr.).
- s. With acc. ati, 'beyond'; adhi, 'on to'; anu, 'after'; antar, 'between'; accha, abhi, a, upa, prati, 'towards'; pari, 'round'; tiras, 'across'; puras, 'before.'
- b. With loc. adhi, 'on'; antar, 'within'; api, a, and upa, 'near'; puras, 'before.'
- c. With abl. adhi, 'from upon'; antar, 'from within'; a, 'away from' or 'up to'; pari, 'from (around)'; puras, 'before.'

Accent.

15. The accent is marked in all the texts of the four Vedas, as well as in two Brāhmanas. Of the four different systems of marking it, that of the Rig-veda is the most important. Here the chief accent, the acute (udātta, 'raised'), or rising tone, is not marked at all, probably because it comes midway between the grave or low tone (an-udātta) which precedes, and the svarita, or falling tone, which follows it and marks the transition from an accented to a toneless syllable. The anudātta preceding the acute is marked with a horizontal stroke below, and the svarita following it, with a vertical stroke above;—e.g. util ag-nf-nā. The so-called independent svarita (originally also preceded by an acute, which disappears by removal of hiatus in the written text, but has often to be restored in pronunciation) is marked like the enclitic one;—e.g. kvà (=kúà); the anudātta being also indicated under the preceding syllable;—e.g. aller vīryàm (=vīrfam).

If an independent svarita precedes an udatta it is marked with the numeral 9 (1) when the syllable is short, with 3 (3) when it is long, the figure bearing both the svarita sign and the anudatta which precedes the udatta; The 9 and approximation (==apsú antár); राजी वर्षान: rayò 'vault (mrayô avanit). An accented syllable at the beginning of a line remains unmarked; all grave syllables at the beginning of a sentence preceding an acute must be marked; and all graves following a svarita are left unmarked till the one preceding an acute or svarita;—e.g. जों। पुजानस् namò yujanam; जरिजास kariqyas.

- 16. Enclition. a. The particles u, cid, svid, iva, gha, ha, ca, sma, vā. 5. Certain monosyllabic pers. pronouns, me, te, &c. (109a). c. The demonstrative pron. eus, and im, sim. d. The indefinite pronouns tva, 'another'; sama, 'some.'
- 17. Unaccented Forms. s. The demonstrative pron. s, when unemphatic as replacing a noun;—e.g. asya jdnimini, 'his (Agni's) birthe'; but asyl usdach, 'of that Dawn.'
- b. The woostive loses its arcent, unless it begins the sentence, whatever the length of the vocative expression;—e.g. i rajana maha rasya gopā, 'hither, ye two sovereign guardians of great order.'
- 18. The employment of the accent in decleration and conjugation may be gathered from the paradigms given in the preceding grammar; but the following peculiarities of its use in the sentence should be noted.
- s. The vocative is invariably emphasized on the first syllable only, all the other syllables of a complex expression losing their accents :—e.g. hôter yaviştha sukrato, 'O most youthful wise sacrificer'; firjo napšt sahasāvan (nom.ūrjó nāpšt sahasāvā).
- 5. The finite werb of a principal clause is unaccented, unless it begins the sentence;—e.g. Agnim IJe, 'I praise Agni.' Since a voc. does not count in a sentence, a verb following it is accented;—e.g. žárut-karpa, árudhí hávam, 'O thou of listening ears, hear our call.' A sentence being regarded as capable of having only one verb, all verbs syntactically connected with the same subject as the first are accented as beginning new sentences;—e.g. taránir sj jayati, kséti, púsyati, successsul he conquers, rules, thrives.'

c. In subordinate clauses (introduced by the relative or its derivatives, and the particles hi, 'for,' ca and ced, 'if,' ned, 'lest,' kuvid, 'whether') the verb is always accented;—e. g. yan yajñan paribhúr ási, 'what sacrifice thou protectest.' When two principal clauses are in a relation of antithesis, the first is often treated as subordinate, and its verb accented.

d. In principal clauses the verbal prefix is separated from the verb and secented; in subordinate clauses it is compounded with the verb and loses its accent;—e.g. á gacchati, 'he comes,' but yá agácchati, 'he who comes.'

SANSKRIT INDEX

This index contains all Sanskrit words and affixes occurring in the grammar, except the numerals (104-108), unless declined, and the verbs in Appendix I. The fornier can be found at once owing to their numerical, the latter owing to their alphabetical order. Indifferent words occurring in examples of Sandhi or of Syntax, as well as in Appendix III, are excluded.

The figures refer to paragraphs unless pages are specified.
